Threat To Petaluma River Life

By DAVID DIETZ

The future of the idyllic Petaluma River basin is threatened unless steps are taken to preserve and enhance its open space and rid the river itself of pollutants, a Sonoma County study group has warned.

In a report released this week, a citizens' study arm of the Sonoma County Economic Development Board cautioned that the 24-square-mile basin stands precariously in the path of urban sprawl and that the placid river is in a "state of ever-worsening pollution" from dairy, industrial and residential wastes.

In a broad series of recommendations which will be submitted to governing bodies in the region, the group called for improved treatment of sewage discharges into the river, possibly through an area or bay regional plan; protection of sprawling marshlands and creation of recreational areas, including parks, greenbelts and a lake.

The group, which divided itself into four study committees under the coordination of Keith E. Dwyer of the economic development board, grew out of a request last fall by the City of Petaluma and its chamber of commerce for advice on the future of the river basin.

"The residents of Sonoma County and those within the study area live in a land greatly favored by nature," the report enthused. "Because of this they enjoy a quality of life which has become extinct in many parts of this country and the world."

But the group added, "We can be assured that it will become extinct here, almost before we realize it unless we act to preserve it."

Residential and industrial development should be watched closely for "protection of the area's amenities," the report said. "We do not believe," it added, "that increased population and economic growth, per se, contribute to the enjoyment of life by the residents of an area. On the contrary, uncontrolled and indiscriminate growth . . . is much more likely to lead to debasement of the environment . . ."

The group noted that residential development was now slowed by inadequate water and sewerage facilities, but pointed out that 11,120 acres within the basin had been set aside for planned unit development and the present population of 400 could ultimately grow to a whopping 88,960 persons.

The county and the City of Petaluma, the report urged, should adopt a "firm policy" of attracting only industry "which will enhance the environment and not detract from it. . ." Development of industrial parks should be encouraged, the report said, but industrial zoning on the west side of the river should be reduced.

It was noted that 880 acres southeast of Petaluma along the Lakeville Highway had been zoned for industry and expansion of this area to the vicinity

TRUMPETS SOUND—Arrival of West Germany's Chancellor and Mrs. Willy Brandt at the White House today was greeted with gun salutes and trumpet calls, as President and Mrs. Richard Nixon wait to meet their guests. Brandt and Nixon this morning opened two days of formal talks about U.S.-German relations and other European problems. (AP Wirephoto)

Nixon, German Confer On East-West Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Willy Brandt was given a warm welcome to the White House today by President Nixon as the West German chancellor sought assurance that the United States would continue to keep a large force of GIs in Europe.

Both Brandt and Nixon stressed the close relationship between Bonn and Washington as they participated in elaborate ceremonies on the White House lawn preceding the first of two meetings between the two leaders.

Brandt — and other West German officials before him this week — was stressing the importance of the U. S. military presence in Europe as West Germany sought to negotiate tension-easing agreements with its Communist neighbors and Russia.

Nixon told Brandt he hoped their talks about Europe would "contribute to the kind of freedom without which peace is meaningless and the kind of peace we need to achieve that freedom."

Brandt said his first visit to Washington as chancellor (he has been here many times before in other roles) emphasized "the close partnership between the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany."

The chancellor has continued to insist that the Atlantic Alliance is the key to European security and that U. S. forces — totaling over 250,000 — are the key to the viability of the alliance.

In his speech — which he gave in English — at the White House responding to Nixon's welcome, he said the alliance is the basis on which to reduce tensions and to build a structure of peace.

Nixon said that in his talks with Brandt, the two would "bring into harmony our efforts, which are serious but without illusion, to improve East-West tensions."

Part of the purpose of Brandt's visit was to fill in Nixon on his recent ice-breaking meeting — and another yet to come — with East German Premier Willi Stoph.

Brandt said his visit reflected an "expression of the close cooperation between America and Europe."

He added that it was no exaggeration to say that hardly any unresolved problems existed between the United States and West Germany.

The welcome for Brandt was in line with the impressive ceremonies given other dignitaries recently who came to the White House: a 19-gun salute, and blaring trumpets.

Brandt had spent the night at Blair House , the presidential guest house across Pennsylvania Avenue, after a restful two days of trout fishing and relaxing at Nixon's Camp David, Md., retreat.

Nixon To Bypass South For New Court Nominee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—After two successive defeats, President Nixon has ruled out the old Confederacy in his search for a justice of the Supreme Court. Some senators termed the decision both incredible and political.

In a surprise move, Nixon announced Thursday he has instructed Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to find a nominee outside the South.

"I have reluctantly concluded it is not possible to get confirmation of any man who believes in the strict construction of the constitution, as I do, if they happen to come from the South."

Nixon's reaction to the Senate's rejection of U.S. Circuit Judges Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., of South Carolina and G. Harrold Carswell of Florida drew angry responses from two senators who led the fights against the nominations.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., called Nixon's statement "an insult to the South." He said it was politically motivated and designed to advance Nixon's "Southern strategy."

Bayh said Nixon has "dragged the Supreme Court right down to the bottom echelon of political confrontation" and sought to pit North against South for motives that are "strictly political."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said "I find it incredible that the President would make such a mistaken and unfortunate statement.

"Those who opposed the nomination, including many distinguished members from the South, will gladly confirm a southerner and a strict constructionist who is qualified.

"It would be an act of great injustice to overlook competent nominees from the South on the utterly false assumption that the senate will not confirm them."

Although a lot of things can happen between now and the November election, some observers saw Nixon's statement as a thinly veiled warning that he

STAND-IN ASTRONAUT WINS RIDE TO MOON

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency gave a go-ahead Friday for launch of Apollo 13 to the moon Saturday with novice astronaut John L. Swigert aboard as a last-minute substitute.

NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine made the decision after receiving reports on how well Swigert meshed with astronauts James A. Lovell Jr. and Fred W. Haise Jr. in whirlwind practice sessions.

Swigert takes over in the command module pilot's couch for Thomas K. Mattingly II who was exposed to German measles and is not immune to the disease.

The space agency issued a brief statement which said:

"The countdown for the Apollo 13 mission will proceed with a scheduled lift off April 11 at 2:13 p.m. with backup pilot John Swigert replacing Thomas Mattingly."

Smog Board Election Bill Wins One Round

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., in an attempt to end what he calls an industry-oriented "conspiracy," has won the first round in requiring election of members of the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board.

Brown, D-San Francisco, told the Assembly Local Government Committee Thursday the "nonresponsive nature of the current board" prompted his legislation.

The Air Pollution Control Board administers laws regulating air polluters. It is a 12-member board comprised of a supervisor and city councilman from each of the six counties surrounding San Francisco Bay.

"There has been actually, I suspect, a conspiracy (by the board toward allowing industry to control the decisions that are made," said Brown.

His measure, sent to the Assembly floor on a voice vote, would establish 23 districts each representing an area of about 150,000 to 200,000 population. Voters would elect one board member from each district.

Brown said for three years members of the public asked the present board for a list of the nine worst air polluters in the Bay Area. It finally was delivered.

"It took a long time and a hard uphill fight to get publication of what I call the traitors list," said Brown.

"We are tired of devious means and subtle powers," added Mrs. Katherine Lord of Richmond, a witness in favor of Brown's bill.

The measure was imposed by the board, the County Supervisors Association, the City of San Francisco and the League of California Cities.

Opponents said an elective board would cost more than the present system. They also said elective members would not have as much experience in running local government as the supervisors and councilmen.

A second measure by Brown, also approved on a voice vote and sent to the Assembly floor, would add more positions to the 20-member advisory committee to the board.

One In Feud Given 10 Days In Jail

A feud between two neighboring Tiburon couples must stop "before someone really gets hurt" a Marin Municipal Court judge insisted today in court before handing out a 10-day jail sentence to one of the combatants.

Although there was general agreement in the courtroom with the judge's sentiments, James Lewis Green, who had earlier been found guilty of battery against his neighbor, Nathaniel Marans, emotionally charged that the proceedings were unfair.

Judge Roth had found Green guilty of wielding a fence post against Marans during a scirmish Nov. 9 which climaxed a two year feud over a tiny strip of land which each claimed he owned.

Green lives at 2300 Vista Del Mar Lane and Marans on adjoining property 231 Spanish Trail Road.

The judge found Marans innocent of wounding Green with a pair of garden clippers, but Green today again charged that he had been injured in the battle and that the wrong pair of clippers had been introduced as evidence.

During the six-day trial in January, Judge Roth learned of a long series of events, which included mangled honeysuckle vines, the strategic placing of huge compost heaps and outdoor lights set to shine into windows.

Judge Roth denied Green of probation after a probation officer said he did not think it would be effective.

The judge agreed to allow Green to a 10-day stay of execution on the sentence while his attorney, Ben Davis of San Francisco, decides whether to appeal the case.

Teacher Ethics Code Is Adopted

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Board of Education, acting over the opposition from the California Federation of Teachers, unanimously adopted a two-page code of ethics for teachers today.

The code sets guidelines against unprofessional conduct. Among other things, the code urges teachers to separate private opinions from the position of the school in speaking about educational policy.

It forbids teachers from accepting gifts or favors "that might impair or appear to impair professional judgment."

Jobless Tide: Darkest Quarter In A Decade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's unemployment continued rising in March to make the first quarter of 1970 the sharpest three-month jump in joblessness in 10 years, the government said today.

The unemployment rate rose from 4.2 to 4.4 per cent of the civilian labor force, or about 3.7 million Americans out of work, the Labor Department said.

It was the third straight month of rising unemployment totaling nine-tenths of 1 per cent, largest since a 1.1 per cent rise in the last quarter of 1960.

Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the March increase was due largely to an unusually large flood of people into the labor force seeking jobs.

"It's a little hard to understand why we see labor force growth when there is unemployment and a slowing rate of growth in the demand for labor. Nevertheless, there it is," he said.

Noting that most of the jobless rise last month was among women, Goldstein speculated it could mean many women are looking for jobs because of the continuing rise of living costs at the sharpest rate in 20 years.

The big jump in the labor force, particularly among women, also could possibly be because of unemployed husbands or the fear of some women that their husbands might become unemployed, Goldstein said.

He also said some of the month's total rise of 520,000 in the civilian labor force to a total of 85 million could be because of returning servicemen entering the labor market and perhaps some youths, now less vulnerable to the draft, leaving school to go to work.

"You can spin out various theories," he added. "Normally we get a decline in unemployment in March of 300,000," Goldstein said.

The March rate was the highest since August 1965 when it also was 4.4 per cent.

The actual number of jobless persons declined 61,000 but unemployment generally falls even more sharply in March. The Labor Department therefore figured this as a rise of 230,000 on a seasonal basis to a total of 3.7 million unemployed.

The number of unemployed has risen one million since March 1969, when the jobless figures dropped almost to the post-Korean war low.

Tonkin Gulf Policy Repealer Gaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted today to repeal the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, used by the administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson as the basis for sending more than 500,000 U.S. troops to Vietnam.

A resolution approved unanimously by the committee would also repeal the 1958 Middle East resolution. Both actions, if approved by the House and Senate, would take effect after the current session of Congress ends.

The committee decided to take repeal of the two resolutions from a much broader measure that, among other things, would have also repealed a 1955 Formosa resolution and a 1962 Cuba resolution.

All of the resolutions authorize the executive branch to take necessary action and were passed to meet specific crises at the time.

"We are beginning a process of clearing away the obsolete agreements and resolutions," Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., told reporters. "I hope," he said, "it will cause a re-examination of all of our commitments around the world."

Fulbright called the move a "good faith gesture on the part of the committee."

Opposition arose, Fulbright said, to dealing more specifically with Vietnam, specially from Republican members of the committee who feel that President Nixon's Vietnamization policy is succeeding.

The legal impact of the move is questionable since the Nixon administration has said it does not regard the Tonkin Gulf resolution as the legal basis for U.S. actions in Southeast Asia.

Fulbright said the State Department opposed repeal of the Cuba resolution on the ground that policy is still the same. "We feel it ought to be changed," he said. The matter will be considered again later, Fulbright said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

A Snowball?

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) —That beautiful dot of light in the sky with a luminous tail and known as Bennett's comet probably is just a "large, dirty snowball made largely of water," University of Colorado scientists said Thursday.

The scientists, calling it all a "rare bit of good luck," said an orbiting satellite studying the atmosphere of the earth just happened to be aimed in the right direction to take a reading on the comet.

A photometer on the Orbiting Geophysical Observatory OGO determined that the comet was made up largely of frozen water, somewhat like a space-going snowball.

The scientists who assessed the satellite's reading—Charles Barth, Gary Thomas and Jeff Pearce—said this marked only the second time that a measurement of atomic hydrogen, an element of water, had been taken from a comet.

Order On Clubs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is taking direct control of service clubs away from officer and enlisted committees and putting it squarely in the hands of base commanders.

The action is an outgrowth of Senate and Army investigations that turned up evidence of irregularities in the operation of noncommissioned officer clubs.

One senior noncommissioned officer has been charged with bribery and graft and another veteran sergeant is under investigation by the Army.

A new Army order now being published does away with boards of governors of officers and NCO open messes which formerly ran them.

"Instead, this responsibility is planned directly in the hands of the installation commanders," the Army said.

New Rail Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — An imposed settlement intended to avert a nationwide railroad strike threatened for Saturday has been signed into law by President Nixon.

But leaders of the Sheet Metal Workers Union have said they might not be able to restrain their members from wildcat strikes.

Nixon signed the bill Thursday after it sped through the Senate and House Wednesday. It imposes a wage settlement negotiated last December but rejected by the Sheet Metal Workers, one of the four shopcraft unions involved.

The Sheet Metal Workers objected to rules changes insisted on by the railroads which would permit craftsmen to cross jurisdictional lines for "incidental work."

Transcript Date

BOSTON (AP) — Public release of the secret transcript of the testimony and report by Judge James A. Boyle on the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne is scheduled next Wednesday at Suffolk County Courthouse.

Judge Wilfred J. Paquet, whose Superior Court session has supervision of the papers, directed Wednesday that a state Supreme Court order impounding the documents be lifted at that time.

Paquet acted after the Supreme Court rejected a claim by Sidney R. Lipman, a professional court reporter whose stenographic firm took notes and transcribed the testimony in the January inquest, that he had a proprietary right to sell copies.

Lava Flows

HILO, Hawaii (UPI)—Kilauea volcano sent fountains of lava 25 feet high Thursday, and the flowing lava wiped out a parking lot in Hawaii Volcanos National Park.

The lava, pouring from fissures, filled the Aloi and Alae craters, covered a turn-around area for cars and a river of lava 175 yards wide headed toward the sea on the island of Hawaii.

A ranch, about a mile and a half down the slopes, was not in danger.

Fissures broke into the chain of craters road in the park, and the road was closed to the public.

FLIGHT OF REFUGEES—Increased fighting in Cambodia during the last two days has filled the main road leading into South Vietnam with countless refugees—mostly women and children. So far 500 people—mostly racially Vietnamese—have fled the troubled country.

N. Viet Sappers Overrun Beret Camp

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Vietnamese sappers blasted their way into a Special Forces outpost 10 miles south of Vietnam's demilitarized zone today, while Cambodian planes attacked Viet Cong forces who had assaulted the town of Prasaut.

The sappers inflicted heavy casualties and damage on the Green Beret camp at Mai Loc, and U.S. tanks and planes had to be rushed in to prevent it from being overrun.

Six Americans and 21 Montagnards were killed, 26 of the mountain tribesmen were missing, and 12 Americans and 8 Montagnards were wounded in the attack.

Farther south, along the Laotian border, South Vietnamese artillery and American planes maintained their round-the-clock bombardment of North Vietnamese troops besieging another Special Forces camp at Dak Seang. But a relieving force of 800 troops was still 500 yards from the besieged camp.

Cambodia air force MIG17 jets bombed and strafed Viet Cong positions outside the town of Prasaut, 20 miles west of the Vietnam border on the road to the threatened provincial capital of Svay Rieng. Government troops at Prasaut withstood a six-hour assault on the town by 800 to 1,000 Viet Cong, the Cambodians said.

The jets swept in to pound the Viet Cong, who established a perimeter two miles outside its fringes.

Six of the Cambodian ground troops were wounded, but none killed said the officials, adding that large numbers of Viet Cong were killed.

The South Vietnamese command said today that its planes have made retaliatory raids against Viet Cong units that fired on South Vietnamese forces from inside Cambodia, but it denied that its forces are conducting operations beyond the frontier.

"South Vietnamese forces have orders to always respect the neutrality, territorial integrity and sovereignty of Cambodia and no Republic of Vietnam forces can conduct operations in Cambodia," a statement said.

The declaration was intended to refute news reports of fighting by South Vietnamese ground and air forces inside Cambodia during the past week. The reports came from official sources.

In Saigon, opposition newspapers and politicians are unleashing verbal attacks on President Nguyen Van Thieu, accusing him and his government of incompetence in dealing with deepening national problems.

The criticisms focus on Thieu's failure to stabilize the South Vietnamese economy, his handling of restive students and disabled veterans and his plans to request special executive powers from the National Assembly.

"Nothing is easier and simpler than saying that there is a Communist hand in a popular struggle," charged one newspaper. "We hope the leaders of this country will not sink into the old rut. They should stop taking the easy way out and labeling the present struggles as Communist, for by doing so they unwittingly place the Communists on the side of the people."

In Laos, Premier Souvanna Phouma once again said U.S. bombing of Communist forces in his country will not stop until the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops.

"We are ready to cease the bombing if the North Vietnamese withdraw," he told a group of visiting journalists.

Israeli Planes Hit Village, Killing Six

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli planes strafed a village in the north Jordan Valley today, killing six civilians and wounding 10, a military spokesman in Amman claimed.

Two children were among the victims of the 20-minute machine gun attack on north Shuneh village by two Mystere jets, the spokesman said. He added that two of the wounded civilians were in critical condition.

The Israeli planes also strafed the nearby village of El Sukkar for 10 minutes, the spokesman said, but no casualties were reported.

The Israeli military command announced that its jets attacked Egyptian military targets in the central and southern sectors of the Suez Canal for 50 minutes today and made it home safely.

The Tel Aviv command also claimed that Arab guerrillas in Lebanon and Jordan had loosed Katyusha rockets on five Israeli settlements, but said only one settler was wounded.

Israeli troops and Arab guerrillas traded mortar and bazooka fire across the Jordan frontier throughout the night, the Israelis said. No damage or casualties were reported.

The rocket attacks shattered a three-month undeclared cease-fire on heavy weapons exchanges across the Jordan River, scene of numerous clashes last year.

The two top commanders of the Soviet fleet in the Black Sea arrived in Cairo without previous announcement and were reported to have met Thursday night with President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Egypt's official Middle East News Agency said the Russians were Adm. Susilov and his deputy, Adm. Ridimirov.

Court Upholds Gun Carrying

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A San Francisco requirement that police officers carry guns at all times, even when off duty, was upheld Thursday by the State District Court of Appeals.

The three-man court unanimously rejected the contention of William J. Stribling and a group of Negro plaintiffs that the practice is dangerous and should be forbidden.

"There is nothing on the face of the regulation which shows that it is intended for anything but the protection of the public, including possible victims of whatever race, and of the officers, too," said the decision written by Justice Preston Devine.

Stribling had cited incidents in which off-duty officers allegedly used their guns to threaten others and, in one case, accidentally wounded a neighbor.

Marin Science Students Vie In Bay Event

Six Marin County students are among 300 youngsters entered in the 17th annual San Francisco Bay Area Science Fair beginning Saturday at the California Academy of Science building in San Francisco.

Marin County exhibits in the high school competition are "What is the effect of 1.4 Gs on pea and tomato plants?" by Linda Palmer, of 8 Blossom Drive, a 17-year-old senior at San Rafael High School; and "Are tears able to inhibit the growth of bacteria?" by Nina Kottenstette, of 57 Maplewood Drive, a 15-year-old sophomore at San Rafael High.

Entrants in the junior high school contest are Pamela McMurry, 14, of 50 Shady Lane, an eighth grader at Ross Elementary School, "Measuring the metabolism of small animals"; Roger Pitcairn, 13, an eighth grader at Ross, "Can a flip-flop count?"; Edwin Gilardi, 12, of Point Reyes Station, a student at West Marin School, "Tooth research"; and Lawrence Zulch, 13, of 36 Allen Avenue, Ross, an eighth grader at Ross, "Does gravity vary on the surface of the earth?"

The science fair which runs from Saturday to next Wednesday from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. features original exhibits by seventh through 12th graders. Entrants previously won honors at qualifying science fairs in the nine Bay Area counties.

Kirk Is Adamant In School Role

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)—Gov. Claude Kirk resumed command of the Manatee County school system with a guard of 80 state troopers today and awaited the federal government's next move to force implementation of a desegregation plan he is ignoring.

Kirk visited his wife and newborn son in Tallahassee early this morning, then flew to Bradenton. At dawn, he marched into the county school administration building and went to the second-floor superintendent's office.

Near Kirk's office was an 80-seat auditorium filled with plainclothes officers—most of them Florida Highway Patrolmen. There were no weapons in sight.

Kirk has defied a federal court order to desegregate Manatee's schools with a cross-busing plan that would force some students to attend school 12 miles from their homes.

Kirk is trying to force the issue before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kirk told newsmen this morning he was "busy, busy, busy," but added "Everything is moving smoothly. "We're just educating the children like a school system is supposed to."

Kirk insisted he wasn't going to submit to arrest.

"There ain't nobody better put a hand on ol' Claude Jr.," said the millionaire Republican governor. "Whoever wants to arrest the governor must rassle the governor."

A Kirk aide termed as "absolutely ridiculous, ludicrous," a report that federal marshals "will be fired upon" if they try to make arrests at the schools.

Despite pleas from the Nixon administration to "please stop this," Kirk aggressively pushed for a showdown with the federal courts on the issue of forced busing to achieve classroom integration. He took over the Manatee County school system for a second time Wednesday and then he and his aides personally manned the administration building Thursday.

U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman ordered Kirk to appear at a hearing in Tampa today to show cause why he shouldn't be cited for contempt for defying Krentzman's desegregation order, which requires the busing of students.

Kirk challenged Krentzman's authority to "order the sovereign head of a sovereign state to appear personally," and said he would send former Gov. Millard Caldwell, an ex-state supreme court justice, in his stead.

Kirk's actions have caused frustration among Manatee County school authorities and "confusion" among children, who are uncertain over which school to report to. But much of the citizenry appears to be behind the governor.

"If Claude Kirk tells the voters of Manatee County tomorrow he is running for God, he would get 95 per cent of the vote," said one man.

When Kirk's aides took over the schools Thursday morning, U.S. marshals ordered them under arrest. The aides locked themselves in a room in the administration building where they remained Thursday night. Marshals declared them arrested.

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, assistant Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard and other high administration officials have talked to the governor repeatedly, "imploring him to stop this."

U.S. attorney John Briggs, acting as a friend of the court, said an emissary from Kirk met with him to try to work out a truce. He said the unidentified man called the Bradenton school office where Kirk's men had set up headquarters behind locked doors.

"He was white faced when he turned away from the telephone," Briggs said. The man told Briggs federal marshals "will be fired upon" if they try to make arrests.

Dooley Hoffman, a Kirk aide in Bradenton, said he did not even want to "dignify the charge with a reply. It's absolutely ridiculous, ludicrous."

Briggs said he did not know who made the statement to the emissary.

RIVER

of Browns Lane was recommended.

Much of the report's 40 pages dealt with preservation of the basin's pastoral environment and encouraged recreational development as the best financial investment.

Revenue could be gained, the group said, through construction of additional boat-launching facilities. And by controlling pollution through improved sewage treatment and monitoring, more fishermen would be encouraged to use the river, substantially increasing the estimated sum of $100,000 spent by anglers on their sport each year.

The group also said a development such as Brannan Island State Park in the San Joaquin Delta, which drew 190,000 visitors in 1967 and whose use continues to grow at a rate of about 10 per cent each year, would be a boon to the business community.

Through use of easements and special purchase plans, the group urged acquisition of Neil's Island as a park with limited boating (as recommended in the Sonoma County Recreational Plan); acquisition of greenbelts adjacent to residential developments; acquisition and development of a park, possibly with a restaurant, riding stables and swimming pool, on the east side of the river from Lakeville area south to Hog Island; creation of a lake, supplied by water from Adobe Creek and other sources, for recreational use; provision for bicycle and hiking trails throughout the area, and preservation of main marsh areas, vital to the area's diverse wildlife.

The report also endorsed development of marinas near the mouth of the river and at large residential developments.

River dredging, pending a plan for disposition of spoils, should be minimized for ecological reasons, the report indicated. It noted that the river had long been used for shipment of commerce, largely by petroleum firms, but added that poor channel depth and width had retarded the growth of such activity. Businesses along the river banks now lean more heavily on truck transit, the report said.

Brother Was Indicted

An article in Thursday's Independent-Journal erred in saying Edward Jones of 81 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera, had been indicted by a federal grand jury for refusing to step forward for the oath of induction to the Army. It was Edward's brother, Leland H. Jones who had refused, the boy's father reported yesterday.

NIXON

will take his case to the people —especially in those states where senators who voted against the nominations are up for reelection.

Nineteen Democrats who voted against Carswell will be running. Three of them — Albert Gore of Tennessee, Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas and Quentin N. Burdick of North Dakota —are from states with conservative constituencies.

Southern senators, most of whom fought hard for Haynsworth and Carswell, took Nixon's announcement calmly.

"It's all right with me as long as he gets a good man," said Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La. "I don't give a damn where he comes from."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said it was more important to get a strict constructionist and balance the court than whether the nominee is from the South.

Two southerners, Sens. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., disagreed with Nixon's conclusion a southerner cannot pass Senate muster or that regionalism led to the twin defeats.

"I think regional aspects were of no importance," Fulbright said. "I could suggest some southerners I am quite sure would pass with little difficulty."

Spong said today on NBC-TV's Today Show that "perhaps there is some southern bias —I hope not —but I believe very firmly" that Carswell would have been confirmed if his qualifications had been comparable to those of Haynsworth. He said he did not believe the Senate would reject a new nominee simply because he was a southern conservative.

Like Fulbright, Spong voted against Carswell —the only southerners besides Gore to do so. Spong conceded that "my mail has been pretty bad" as a result of his action.

Gore said there are "many eminent southern judges, lawyers and legal scholars" who could gain confirmation to the court —such as federal judges William E. Miller of Tennessee and J. P. Coleman of Mississippi.

The other Tennessee senator, Republican freshman Howard H. Baker Jr., sided with Nixon, saying he was convinced there was "some bias" against the South in the Senate and that it probably was sufficient in the close vote on Carswell to make the difference.

Nixon, in a personally-delivered statement with Mitchell at his side, said Haynsworth and Carswell were subjected to "vicious and unwarranted" attacks.

When all the hypocrisy is stripped away, Nixon said, "It is their philosophy and the accident of their birth" that caused their rejection by the Senate.

"The people of the South deserve to be represented," Nixon said and noted that although 25 per cent of the people live in the South only one southerner, Hugo Black, is on the high court.

1859 Blaze Mark Given To Museum

An imprint of an old blaze mark, first carved into a redwood tree in Novato in 1859, was turned over to the Marin County Historical Society this morning by Donald Thomas of the Marin County Department of Public Works.

Thomas, assistant civil engineer, said he carved into a redwood tree on a ridge above Stafford Lake to find the blazed boundary mark, one of the corners of the Old Rancho Corte Madera de Novato, which was surveyed in July 1859. The location of the tree was identified by George Grossi, who owns a large ranch around Stafford Lake.

The bark had grown over the blaze mark about six inches thick since the last time surveyors exposed the mark in 1930.

The slab of bark, with a reverse imprint of the letters "CN-18" was turned over to the historical society for safe keeping.

The county department of public works is surveying the area because the county has purchased 64 acres from Grossi for Stafford Lake Park and has an option to buy 65 more acres.

Woman Reports Attack Attempt

A 36-year-old Mill Valley woman told sheriff's deputies yesterday that a man followed her car across Golden Gate Bridge, twice tried to force her off Highway 101 and finally made her stop on Shoreline Highway and then threatened her at gunpoint.

The woman said that the man waved a gun at her and said he wanted to take her to Mount Tamalpais and rape her.

The woman flagged down a newspaper delivery truck driver who accompanied her to where he had seen two deputy sheriff's cars. The deputies were unable, however, to locate the man who was described as about 25 years old with sandy hair and driving a 1966 Simca.

Teamster Strike Hits Novato's Phone Books

Distribution of Western California Telephone Co.'s directories in Novato has been delayed because of the Teamster strike, according to manager Gordon L. Lee.

The directories are tied up in a warehouse in Santa Monica and the company is trying for a court order to get them out, Lee said. They were scheduled to start distribution yesterday, but the directories did not arrive, he said.

Sewage Plant To Open Doors For Ecology Week

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board last night decided to open the district's treatment plant to the public April 26 as part of National Environmental Teach-in Week, Lelia C. Sayers, district secretary reported today.

The plant will be open from noon to 4:30 p.m. to give the public an explanation of sewage treatment and water pollution.

The board last night also discussed plans for the construction of two force mains this summer and directed J. Warren Nute, district engineer, to prepare plans and specifications so that bids can be called for in June.

Sewer line plans for Roundtree Unit 1, a condominium development in Marinwood, were reviewed, and the board determined that they met district standards.

The board adjourned until 7:30 p.m. April 23.

No Contest To Shooting Count

After her trial had started in Marin Superior Court, a 55-year-old Novato woman yesterday decided to plead no contest to a charge of shooting her husband during a quarrel last July.

Judge Thomas F. Keating set sentencing for Constance Abercrombie for May 25 on the felony charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

She was accused of shooting her husband, Robert, a retired Army major, in the back.

Mrs. Abercrombie was treated for an overdose of pills after the shooting, and her husband was hospitalized with a bullet wound.

COBINA WRIGHT

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Cobina Wright, a society columnist who began her career with the exclusive American coverage of Queen Elizabeth's marriage, died Thursday at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Miss Wright was hospitalized Easter Sunday following a stroke. Funeral arrangements were pending.

Born Elaine Cobb on an Oregon ranch, she was often described as being "of undetermined age and very determined character."

Miss Wright was a columnist with the Hearst-owned Los Angeles Herald-Examiner.

Her daughter Cobina Jr.'s highly-publicized teen-age romance with Prince Philip led to a close friendship between the two families. She later became the only private American citizen to be invited to his marriage to Queen Elizabeth II, and she received her first bylines for Hearst publications from her coverage of the event.

She first married children's book author Owen Johnson, and after a divorce was wed to millionaire socialite William May Wright. Her fame as a hostess grew in the 1920s as the Wright's entertained friends from "The 400" of society and politics."

Their last great party came on the night of the stock market crash in 1929, which they gave only hours before learning they had lost $4 million.

Liz, Richard Deny Any Split

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and husband Richard Burton arrived in this small resort town Thursday night aboard a private jet and denied rumors of a possible divorce.

"Stories about a divorce are completely false," Miss Taylor said. "The rumors were invented by the press."

The Burtons made the flight from Hollywood where they had attended the Oscar ceremonies.

They were accompanied by actor Richard Bruck, actress Elizabeth Williams and a friend identified as Jim Benton aboard the craft owned by Frank Sinatra.

Miss Taylor said she and Burtion, "Sons of the Sierras" and here before starting a new picture to be filmed in the area.

Humanities Dean Resigns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — James R. Wilson has resigned as dean of the School of Humanities at San Francisco State College, saying President S. I. Hayakawa asked him to quit.

Hayakawa said, "I did not ask Dean Wilson's resignation. I did suggest last January that, in view of the troubles at the school of humanities the last four years, he consider stepping aside to allow someone else to assume the burden."

Wilson said Thursday he plans to return to teaching duties on campus Sept. 1.

Joaquin Miller's Daughter Dies

OAKLAND (AP) — Juanita Miller, 90, daughter of poet Joaquin Miller, died Thursday night at the Miller family residence.

Miss Miller, who was married twice, was an early feminist and was known in the 1920s for her Bohemian ways.

Miller, who died in 1913, wrote the poem "Columbus, a collection "Sons of the Sierras" and other works.

New Marathon Race Pitch Before Tiburon

The race director of the Golden Gate Marathon, which backers hope will become known as the West Coast's annual answer to the Boston Marathon, will go before the Tiburon City Council Monday to ask it to reverse itself and grant permission for the race to pass through the Peninsula city

The Memorial Day foot race had been slated to begin at Paradise Beach County Park, wind through Tiburon, Strawberry, Mill Valley, Sausalito and cross the Golden Gate Bridge to the finish line in San Francisco's marina district. The distance must exceed 26 miles and 385 yards to qualify the race as a marathon.

Richard W. Perry said yesterday that plans for the race, sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Union and Runners World Magazine, have been adjusted to answer objections raised at the March 23 city council meeting.

These included traffic and spectator congestion and the length of time the expected 300 to 500 runners would be passing through Tiburon.

Perry said the starting time had been advanced an hour to 8:30 a.m. and the runners should be through the city 45 minutes later.

"We sent a letter Tuesday asking the council to reconsider in view of the fact that the city manager, his assistant and the chief of police have approved the route," Perry said.

The letter also reminded the council that the Marin County Board of Supervisors and all other cities on the route have approved the race. "Belevedere was very enthusiastic about it," Perry said, "and even asked us to notify its schools so the children could watch the runners."

This would not be possible if Perry takes the Tiburon council's suggestion and reroutes the race along Trestle Glen Boulevard to avoid the city.

"We originally were turned down by Sausalito, which was worried about the traffic congestion," Perry said, "but we worked things out with them. I feel we can do the same in Tiburon."

Wayne Finally Reaches Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon had a hard time congratulating John Wayne on winning an Oscar as best actor for his role in "True Grit."

A White House spokesman said the President placed a call to Wayne Wednesday but couldn't reach him. Then Wayne tried to return the White House call but couldn't reach the president.

Nixon was cruising the Potomac aboard a Navy yacht with Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

When the president returned to the White House he returned Wayne's call. That time the two connected.

The White House spokesman said Wayne was the only Oscar winner the President called, because of Wayne's "long reign in Hollywood in Western and adventure pictures."

The accident occurred at 10:44 a.m. at Fourth and Union streets, according to police.

McCartney's Beatle Split Is Official

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney announced today that he's split from the Beatles but said he may be back.

This first open rift in the world's top pop group was announced from Apple, the company which manages Beatle affairs.

Paul, 27-year-old song writer, lead guitar and singer, blamed the break on "personal differences, business differences, musical differences—but most of all because I have a better time with my family."

McCartney is married to an American, Linda Eastman. They have a 7-month-old daughter, Mary, and Linda has another daughter, Heather, by an earlier marriage.

McCartney's statement, issued alongside his first solo album, said he does not know whether the rift is permanent or temporary.

The Beatles as a group have one more LP in the can for release next month. It is doubtful whether they will ever record together again.

Officials at Apple have long resisted any suggestion that Beatledom had reached its end. Then Mavis Smith, the company's spokesman, admitted today that it has been months since McCartney saw John Lennon, his song-writing partner, and the other Beatles, Ringo Starr and George Harrison.

Sonoma State Thaws Funds For Paper; Editor On Pan

By BONNIE BARD

Sonoma State college president Ambros R. Nichols Jr. yesterday thawed the freeze on funds for the controversial student newspaper, Cossack Steppes, as the communications commission put heat on the editor.

After receiving word that Nichols had freed the publication funds, the commission met to hear grievances against editor Stan De Witt, but stopped short of firing him. A motion to do so failed in a 4-4 vote, with one student joining three faculty advisers in favor of firing and four students opposed.

A half-hour before the scheduled meeting, Nichols agreed to release the funds so that the commission could resume responsibility for the newspaper he considered offensive, and could exercise its authority over it.

Students presented petitions with 200 names and repeated grievances aired Tuesday that the militant newspaper did not represent them.

Jeff Teather of Tiburon said the newspaper had violated the college communications code as well as the broader cannons of journalism ethics.

He said he objected to the slogan "smash the state" used under the masthead and said letters criticizing editorial policy had been cut to alter their meaning.

Student Otto Good said he wanted to see a newspaper that would unify the campus rather than polarize it. He said that news from all segments of the college should be included and not just a small portion.

Dr. Mildred Dikeman, commission member, accused De Witt of violating the provisions under which he was appointed by the commission. She said she felt he had deliberately tried to antagonize the State College Board of Trustees with inflammatory columns and obscene language.

De Witt defended his editorial policies and said the slogan "smash the state" was only a figure of speech and likened it to the "bloodbath" statement made by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"Are you concerned that you're provoking them (the trustees)?" Dr. Dikeman asked.

"Im concerned that they're oppressing people," De Witt responded, saying that tuition would be designed to keep black and brown people out of college.

Unsatisfied with De Witt's justification, Dr. Dikeman made a motion to fire the editor and to open the job for applicants.

Joining her in voting to oust De Witt were Terry Sovel, Student Senate Representative; Robert S. Lipman, public information; and Jann Kalbaugh, director of student activities.

The other half of the commission voting to retain De Witt were students T. Jeffrey Hughes, Tony Joyce, Julio Valenzuelo and student body president James Gillette.

After defeating the motion, the commission considered ways of keeping closer control of each edition, but could not agree on a method and adjourned.

Earlier in the day, before funds were released, the board of directors of the associated students considered a lawsuit to force the release.

Gillette said later he still felt the student would have a case in court and could seek an order restraining any college president and the trustees from withdrawing student funds from students.

While most board members voted for an investigation of a lawsuit, there was a split opinion on the value of spending already low student funds in a court battle where success was questionable.

Pioneering Heart Surgery Saves Santa Rosa Builder

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — During a patient's heart attack, doctors say they have performed a bypass operation — the insertion of a transplanted vein as a detour for a blocked coronary artery.

A team of surgeons at Presbyterian Hospital said Charles Smith, 47, a Santa Rosa land developer, most likely would've died without the operation Tuesday. He was in fair condition today and physicians said his prospect is "for a normal, active life."

A cardiologist, Dr. William T. Armstrong Jr., said bypass operations are used commonly on patients who are recovering safely from attacks. He said this was the first case he knew of during a seizure.

Smith was transferred from Santa Rosa last week because of his ailing heart. Two of the three arteries to his heart were blocked and the third was narrowing fast Tuesday when he and his wife agreed to the operation. Doctors told them the risk would be tremendous.

Before such an operation, an X-ray photograph discovers the location of fatty material and clots of blood blocking arteries near the heart.

If an operation is needed, the surgeon removes a short length of vein from the patient's leg and sews it in place at the site of the coronary artery to carry blood to nourish the heart muscle.

Doctors on the team were Dr. J. Donald Hill, a surgeon, and Dr. Charles M. Kelly, an internist from Warreck Hospital in Santa Rosa and Dr. William T. Armstrong Jr., a cardiologist.

ANGRY SEAS CLAIM A VICTIM

A towboat struggles to close with the sinking British freighter London Valour off Genoa, Italy. Ten persons aboard, including the captain and his wife, lost their lives when the ship was swept onto the port's breakwater; 40 of the 57 aboard were hospitalized. Seven are missing. The ship, loaded with ore, had been battling high winds for two days, trying to unload cargo. The docks were jammed with 10,000 spectators watching the sinking. (AP Wirephoto)

Beard Files For Sausalito Recall

Brian W. Beard, Marin City Black Panther, filed his petition of candidacy papers yesterday for the Sausalito School District board's June 2 recall election.

Beard, 25, of 27 Buckelew Street, filed an hour and 40 minutes before the 5 p.m. deadline.

He seeks the board position from which the election proposes recall of David E. Freedheim.

Jerry L. Whitcomb filed earlier for the same position, and Delta Christ has filed for the seat held by Martha Freebairn-Smith, also a recall target.

Beard, who listed his occupation on the papers as a community affairs consultant, could not be reached today for comment on his candidacy.

He is a lifelong resident of Marin County, a graduate of Sausalito schools and Tamalpais High School and attended the College of Marin.

The candidate is a member of the Community Concerns Committee, a group established last year to assure the smooth functioning of Sausalito's Martin Luther King School and was one of the organizers of the Panther's breakfast program for children in the district.

Fires On Bolinas Ridge Ire Chief

An Oregon timber company, which is logging on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge, left several fires burning unattended this week, County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported today.

Bloom said he sent a letter yesterday to C. W. Fairbank, deputy state forester in Santa Rosa, complaining of violations by the firm of Mathews, Humbert and Walker. Both the county fire permit and the air pollution permit expired on April 1, said Bloom.

Bloom said he had to send in county bulldozers and county firemen to the Rghetti Ranch both Tuesday and Wednesday to put out fires that were smoldering on Bolinas Ridge.

On Tuesday, the chief found an open fire spreading toward a grove of redwood trees near the top of Bolinas Ridge. There was no one in attendance, and no fire break to check the flames.

"This fire was definitely started from the controlled burning which the logging company conducted about two or three weeks earlier," said Bloom.

He said he tried several telephone numbers but could not contact the loggers. He sent a bulldozer and two men to confine the fire to a two-acre area.

On Wednesday, he and Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest found several more fires near the top of Bolinas Ridge. A bulldozer, a tank truck, and four county firemen were dispatched to douse the fires.

"The area is extremely dry, and any uncontrolled fires could spread to Marin Municipal Water District lands or private lands adjacent to the Righetti property," said Bloom. He plans to send a bill to the logging firm or to the Righetti estate for the cost of putting out the fires.

Bloom said the cost of fire suppression may run from $750 to $1,000. He asked the county counsel to ask supervisors next Tuesday for approval to bill the loggers and to report on the violations.

Motorcycle Stolen

A red 1970 Yamaha motorcycle with license 984107 was stolen between Sunday and Wednesday from the garage of the owner, Donald D. Graessle at 15 G Street, San Rafael police reported today.

'Builders Park' Survives Neighborhood Complaints

The Terra Linda Recreation and Park District board last night decided to continue operating its experimental "builders park" at Munson Park, despite some protests.

Several of the park's neighbors described it as a "shanty town" and complained of the noise.

Other citizens spoke in favor of the park, bounded by Las Pavadas and Las Gallinas avenues, Manuel T. Freitas Parkway and Hickory Lane, Zonwice Mulhaupt, district general manager, reported.

Donated lumber at the park is used by children to construct forts and other impromptu creations.

The board last night also hired Frances Traina of 68 Duran Drive, Terra Linda, as recreation director at $650 a month. She will start working half-time April 15, three-quarters time May 1, and full-time June 1.

Discussion of the legality of a merger of the district with the Terra Linda Community Services District was postponed until 8 p.m. April 21.

The board also approved continuation of the district's senior citizens program for 1970-71.

Chairman Picked For Foundation

David Price Jones, president of the Novato Civic Foundatiion, last night was elected general chairman of the Citizens Park Bond Committee, according to Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director.

The committee worked on the argument for the June 2 ballot favoring the $2.9 million park bond issue. Jones and Adams will complete the argument and file it Monday with the county clerk, Adams said. That is the last date for filing arguments for or against a measure on the primary election.

The committee decided to create subcommittees, but did not name members. These committees will be finance, publicity, special events, brochure, youth coordination and telephone, Adams said.

Seminary Will Join In National

The library at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry Point, will participate in National Library Week next week with open house, a tea and special exhibits.

The library, located on the second floor of the administration building, will have open house Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., except for Wednesday when it will close at 5 p.m.

The tea in the conference room of the administration building will be from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

There will be an art exhibit in the library including work of pre-school children from the Seminary nursery school, and an exhibit of rare stones, a collection from around the world by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burdett of Vacaville.

Sign Problem Blocks Store Remodeling In Fairfax

The Fairfax Design Review Board rejected last night a proposed new store front for Fairfax Hardware, 1824 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The board felt the whole store front would be used for a sign and would violate a proposed city sign ordinance, according to board secretary Marie Whissell.

The proposed ordinance bans signs over 100 square feet in area or more than one square foot for each four linear feet of store front. The proposal was judged by this standard in case the ordinance is passed. If it fails, the decisian may be appealed.

The board also approved a sign for a Standard Oil of California gas station at 2001 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and decided to meet with the town parks and recreation commission to discuss the proposed city park plan. No date was set for the meeting.

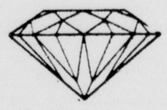
Bid Opening Is Set On Projects

The Gallinas Village Community Services District board last night approved bid specifications for plumbing and irrigation systems for the district's new Adrian Rosal Park.

According to Marguerite F. Clark, board secretary, the board hopes to complete grading and plumbing of the park before summer so it may be used as a playground.

Bids for the plumbing and irrigation work, which is estimated at $3,000, will be opened at an adjourned meeting April 30 at the Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church, she said.

TANZANITE



... an exciting story in the romance of beautiful gems.

TANZANITE was discovered at the foot of Mt. Kilimanjaro, Tanzania, in 1967 by an amateur prospector named Manuel d'Sousa. Harrassed by smugglers, until his death in 1969, the output has been diverted and limited. Now the Tanzanian government has stepped into the matter and the future supply of this gem is unpredictable. Masai tribesmen living in Tanzania used to pick up the stones because they liked the rich blue color that gave off sparkles of red and purple. TANZANITE is the first natural gem discovery in fifty years and is shown in very few stores in this country.

Ross Employees Get 7.5 Pct. Cost-Of-Living Pay Increase

Ross Town Council last night granted town employees a belated 7.5 per cent cost-of-living pay raise.

The pay hike, effective April 1, was the raise for the 1969-70 fiscal year, not the coming fiscal year, explained Councilman Roy Farrington Jones.

When the council adopted its budget last August there was no cost-of-living pay increase, but at that time Mayor Frederick S. Allen felt the matter should be reviewed in January.

Last night the mayor proposed the raises saying "we're way overdue," and the cost for the remainder of the fiscal year would be $1,464.

Jones contended that cost-of-living pay raises should be granted at the start of the fiscal year "for the sake of morale."

The pay boost came after a preliminary review of tentative police and fire department budgets for the 1970-71 fiscal year, which included cost of living pay raises.

The proposed police budget carried a 7.5 per cent hike and Fire Chief Charles Pinza asked for a 10 per cent hike for firemen.

Councilman Ralph C. Walker, chairman of the council's finance committee, said in view of the 7.5 per cent hike granted last night, department heads should reconsider their pay requests for the coming fiscal year.

Jones warned of bills before the state legislature which would cause cities financial problems, particularly one setting mandatory retirement for public safety employees at 50.

"We've got to watch Sacramento," said Mayor Allen.

Jones said there also was a bill to take away from cities their share of fines and forfeitures, "which would impose another burden on municipal taxpayers."

The Ross Town Council Also:

UNDERGROUND DISTRICT—Established an underground utility distict along Laurel Grove Avenue from Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to Walters Road, with the Marin Art and Garden Fair the only property owner affected and the work scheduled to be completed by June 1.

LAFC POST—Nominated Roy Farrington Jones for appointment by the Marin Council of Mayors and Councilmen to fill a vacancy on the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission, created by the resignation of Sausalito Councilman Jan Paul Dyk.

COMMENDATION—Passed a resolution commending former Councilman Natalie G. Lewis for her efforts including work on the council's flood control advisory board and service as town clerk before she joined the council in 1965.

SUMMER RECREATION—Agreed to underwrite the summer recreation program at Ross School, up to $550, if other funding falls short, but continued until May 14 at 8 p.m. consideration of a request to allocate $900 for an after-school program.

ALARMS—Held over until May 14 action on a proposed ordinance regulating the installation of burglar and fire alarms in private homes.

DELINQUENCY STUDY—Supported a study on juvenile delinquency by the Marin County Juvenile Delinquency Commission and authorized interviews with city staff members for the study. The request was made by Mrs. Lewis, a member of the commission.

VARIANCE—By a 3-2 vote granted Mr. and Mrs. Eugene F. Lynch a variance to construct a partial second floor on a nonconforming house at 2 Sylvan Lane. Councilmen Ralph C. Walker and Jones dissented.

TWO DRIVEWAYS—Denied a request by Dr. and Mrs. Harold Zlot to modify a lot split on the Webster Otis property on Glenwood Avenue to permit two driveways off Glenwood Avenue.

INTERSECTION PLANS—Approved a change in plans for improvements at Lagunitas Road and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard to provide more landscaping in a walkway area near Town Hall, but postponed action on plans for the nearby traffic island until 8 p.m. April 21, with hopes that there could be some landscaping at the island.

OLD RECORDS—Authorized the destruction of cancelled warrants more than 7 years old.

DETACHMENT—Approved a request from Mario Ancona of 81 Rock Road to detach a portion of his lot, which is divided by the town line from the town.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM—Heard a request from two residents for controls to halt speeding along Poplar Avenue in the vicinity of Ross Common, and agreed to seek a recommendation from Town Engineer Philip B. Lygren on the matter.

NEXT MEETING—Adjourned until 8 p.m. April 21 at town hall to canvass the results of next Tuesday's municipal election, and to hear a report from the town's flood control advisory board if it is ready.

Behr Condemns Campus Violence

I-J Special Report

NAPA — Peter H. Behr, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, last night called for immediate expulsion and trial of students "proven guilty" of campus violence.

Behr, speaking at an open house at his Napa campaign headquarters, denounced campus violence as a "festering sore on the face of America."

"By committing themselves to the destruction of property, campus revolutionaires have abused their right to dissent," Behr said.

"California cannot stand wave after wave of militancy; we cannot permit a small band of campus radicals to take over and destroy our educational institutions," he declared.

"Campus militants — if proven guilty — should be expelled from our colleges and brought immediately to trial," Behr said.

San Rafael Fire Budget Hiked To Hire More Men

A fire department operating budget of $874,469 for the 1970-71 fiscal year has been recommended by the San Rafael Fire Commission.

The budget request, submitted by Fire Chief Vance Trivett, represents about a $120,000 increase over the current operating budget.

According to James C. McCown, San Rafael city manager, the additional revenues are proposed for the hiring of two more firemen in July and six more in January.

A breakdown of the proposed budget indicated $797,476 in salaries, $77,533 in materials and supplies, $29,420 in holiday pay and $3,220 for replacement of fire hoses.

The commission also refused Wednesday to support a recommendation to the city council from the firemen's association that the firemen's work week be cut from 63 hours to 60 hours.

A towboat struggles to close with the sinking British freighter London Valour off Genoa, Italy. Ten persons aboard, including the captain and his wife, lost their lives when the ship was swept onto the port's breakwater; 40 of the 57 aboard were hospitalized. Seven are missing. The ship, loaded with ore, had been battling high winds for two days, trying to unload cargo. The docks were jammed with 10,000 spectators watching the sinking. (AP Wirephoto)

Beard Files For Sausalito Recall

Brian W. Beard, Marin City Black Panther, filed his petition of candidacy papers yesterday for the Sausalito School District board's June 2 recall election.

Beard, 25, of 27 Buckelew Street, filed an hour and 40 minutes before the 5 p.m. deadline.

He seeks the board position from which the election proposes recall of David E. Freedheim.

Jerry L. Whitcomb filed earlier for the same position, and Delta Christ has filed for the seat held by Martha Freebairn-Smith, also a recall target.

Beard, who listed his occupation on the papers as a community affairs consultant, could not be reached today for comment on his candidacy.

He is a lifelong resident of Marin County, a graduate of Sausalito schools and Tamalpais High School and attended the College of Marin.

The candidate is a member of the Community Concerns Committee, a group established last year to assure the smooth functioning of Sausalito's Martin Luther King School and was one of the organizers of the Panther's breakfast program for children in the district.

Fires On Bolinas Ridge Ire Chief

An Oregon timber company, which is logging on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge, left several fires burning unattended this week, County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported today.

Bloom said he sent a letter yesterday to C. W. Fairbank, deputy state forester in Santa Rosa, complaining of violations by the firm of Mathews, Humbert and Walker. Both the county fire permit and the air pollution permit expired on April 1, said Bloom.

Bloom said he had to send in county bulldozers and county firemen to the Rghetti Ranch both Tuesday and Wednesday to put out fires that were smoldering on Bolinas Ridge.

On Tuesday, the chief found an open fire spreading toward a grove of redwood trees near the top of Bolinas Ridge. There was no one in attendance, and no fire break to check the flames.

"This fire was definitely started from the controlled burning which the logging company conducted about two or three weeks earlier," said Bloom.

He said he tried several telephone numbers but could not contact the loggers. He sent a bulldozer and two men to confine the fire to a two-acre area.

On Wednesday, he and Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest found several more fires near the top of Bolinas Ridge. A bulldozer, a tank truck, and four county firemen were dispatched to douse the fires.

"The area is extremely dry, and any uncontrolled fires could spread to Marin Municipal Water District lands or private lands adjacent to the Righetti property," said Bloom. He plans to send a bill to the logging firm or to the Righetti estate for the cost of putting out the fires.

Bloom said the cost of fire suppression may run from $750 to $1,000. He asked the county counsel to ask supervisors next Tuesday for approval to bill the loggers and to report on the violations.

Motorcycle Stolen

A red 1970 Yamaha motorcycle with license 984107 was stolen between Sunday and Wednesday from the garage of the owner, Donald D. Graessle at 15 G Street, San Rafael police reported today.

'Builders Park' Survives Neighborhood Complaints

The Terra Linda Recreation and Park District board last night decided to continue operating its experimental "builders park" at Munson Park, despite some protests.

Several of the park's neighbors described it as a "shanty town" and complained of the noise.

Other citizens spoke in favor of the park, bounded by Las Pavadas and Las Gallinas avenues, Manuel T. Freitas Parkway and Hickory Lane, Zonwice Mulhaupt, district general manager, reported.

Donated lumber at the park is used by children to construct forts and other impromptu creations.

The board last night also hired Frances Traina of 68 Duran Drive, Terra Linda, as recreation director at $650 a month. She will start working half-time April 15, three-quarters time May 1, and full-time June 1.

Discussion of the legality of a merger of the district with the Terra Linda Community Services District was postponed until 8 p.m. April 21.

The board also approved continuation of the district's senior citizens program for 1970-71.

Chairman Picked For Foundation

David Price Jones, president of the Novato Civic Foundatiion, last night was elected general chairman of the Citizens Park Bond Committee, according to Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director.

The committee worked on the argument for the June 2 ballot favoring the $2.9 million park bond issue. Jones and Adams will complete the argument and file it Monday with the county clerk, Adams said. That is the last date for filing arguments for or against a measure on the primary election.

The committee decided to create subcommittees, but did not name members. These committees will be finance, publicity, special events, brochure, youth coordination and telephone, Adams said.

Seminary Will Join In National

The library at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry Point, will participate in National Library Week next week with open house, a tea and special exhibits.

The library, located on the second floor of the administration building, will have open house Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., except for Wednesday when it will close at 5 p.m.

The tea in the conference room of the administration building will be from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

There will be an art exhibit in the library including work of pre-school children from the Seminary nursery school, and an exhibit of rare stones, a collection from around the world by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burdett of Vacaville.

Sign Problem Blocks Store Remodeling In Fairfax

The Fairfax Design Review Board rejected last night a proposed new store front for Fairfax Hardware, 1824 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The board felt the whole store front would be used for a sign and would violate a proposed city sign ordinance, according to board secretary Marie Whissell.

The proposed ordinance bans signs over 100 square feet in area or more than one square foot for each four linear feet of store front. The proposal was judged by this standard in case the ordinance is passed. If it fails, the decisian may be appealed.

The board also approved a sign for a Standard Oil of California gas station at 2001 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and decided to meet with the town parks and recreation commission to discuss the proposed city park plan. No date was set for the meeting.

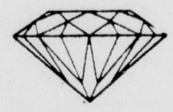
Bid Opening Is Set On Projects

The Gallinas Village Community Services District board last night approved bid specifications for plumbing and irrigation systems for the district's new Adrian Rosal Park.

According to Marguerite F. Clark, board secretary, the board hopes to complete grading and plumbing of the park before summer so it may be used as a playground.

Bids for the plumbing and irrigation work, which is estimated at $3,000, will be opened at an adjourned meeting April 30 at the Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church, she said.

TANZANITE



... an exciting story in the romance of beautiful gems.

TANZANITE was discovered at the foot of Mt. Kilimanjaro, Tanzania, in 1967 by an amateur prospector named Manuel d'Sousa. Harrassed by smugglers, until his death in 1969, the output has been diverted and limited. Now the Tanzanian government has stepped into the matter and the future supply of this gem is unpredictable. Masai tribesmen living in Tanzania used to pick up the stones because they liked the rich blue color that gave off sparkles of red and purple. TANZANITE is the first natural gem discovery in fifty years and is shown in very few stores in this country.

Ross Employees Get 7.5 Pct. Cost-Of-Living Pay Increase

Ross Town Council last night granted town employees a belated 7.5 per cent cost-of-living pay raise.

The pay hike, effective April 1, was the raise for the 1969-70 fiscal year, not the coming fiscal year, explained Councilman Roy Farrington Jones.

When the council adopted its budget last August there was no cost-of-living pay increase, but at that time Mayor Frederick S. Allen felt the matter should be reviewed in January.

Last night the mayor proposed the raises saying "we're way overdue," and the cost for the remainder of the fiscal year would be $1,464.

Jones contended that cost-of-living pay raises should be granted at the start of the fiscal year "for the sake of morale."

The pay boost came after a preliminary review of tentative police and fire department budgets for the 1970-71 fiscal year, which included cost of living pay raises.

The proposed police budget carried a 7.5 per cent hike and Fire Chief Charles Pinza asked for a 10 per cent hike for firemen.

Councilman Ralph C. Walker, chairman of the council's finance committee, said in view of the 7.5 per cent hike granted last night, department heads should reconsider their pay requests for the coming fiscal year.

Jones warned of bills before the state legislature which would cause cities financial problems, particularly one setting mandatory retirement for public safety employees at 50.

"We've got to watch Sacramento," said Mayor Allen.

Jones said there also was a bill to take away from cities their share of fines and forfeitures, "which would impose another burden on municipal taxpayers."

The Ross Town Council Also:

Teachers Enter The Strike Scene

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Continuing strikes by truckers have resulted in a Chicago lockout, layoffs in several Midwestern cities and brought scattered instances of violence.

In other fields there was a teachers' strike in Minneapolis and threats of similar walkouts in three other cities, and a continuing "sick out" by some air traffic controllers.

Five Chicago trucking associations ordered 32,000 drivers locked out today after a sixth carriers' group signed a contract providing pay hikes 50 per cent higher than a tentative national settlement.

Other truckers dissatisfied with the national agreement struck several major Midwestern industrial centers. These combined with other continuing wildcat strikes to force layoffs of 32,000 workers in Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis.

Violence connected with the strikes broke out in scattered sections of the nation.

Six employes of a Cleveland trucking firm were arrested in Painesville, Ohio, after a bullet struck a rented truck driven by management trainees of a rubber firm transporting tires. In Huron County, four rear tires on a moving truck were shot out, and police investigated reports of tire punctures on rigs parked at a truck stop.

In Gary, Ind., a night watchman was beaten at a freight terminal. Teamsters in the city were picketing the city's three big steel mills. Police said they were puzzled because the terminal was not bucking the picket line.

A Teamsters local at Kansas City ordered pickets removed from several truck terminals but only one terminal was planning to resume operations. Spokesmen for other terminals said that because of tie-ups in other cities, it was not feasible to put the trucks back on the road.

In Washington, D. C., Teamsters Union and trucking industry officials said they were standing by the tentative contract they worked out. It provides a $1.10 an hour wage increase over three years.

In the newest labor development, 3,400 striking Minneapolis school teachers crippled the city's 99-school system and teachers prepared to strike or walk out in Los Angeles, Muskogee, Okla., and Butte, Mont.

In the 653-000-pupil Los Angeles district, the nation's second largest, teachers voted yesterday overwhelmingly to strike Monday over demands for a six per cent wage hike. It would be the district's first major strike. The board of education has offered a five per cent hike.

Meanwhile in Santa Maria, Calif., high school teachers called a walkout to discuss ways to boost the educational quality and their salaries in view of a financial crisis. The faculty association, however, said the move was not a strike, but a "professional day" to air the problems with the public at an all-day meeting.

The Minneapolis teachers struck in defiance of state law and a court order. They demanded increased pay and smaller classes.

Issues in the other prospective teacher strikes ranged from salary demands to desegregation policies.

The 17-day-old air traffic controllers strike has led to layoffs of 1,700 employes of Trans World and United airlines.

The controllers said they are absent due to "sickness" caused by inadequate manpower and obsolete equipment. Their absence continued to cause delays, cancellations and airline loses reported at over $5 million a day.

Postal workers, who ended a strike when they were promised a 14 per cent pay increase, were among the federal employes covered by a 6 per cent raise Congress is expected to pass.

However, some militants in the New York postal union locals have expressed unhappiness at government plans to tie the second 8 per cent segment of their raise to postal reform. They threatened to renew their strike if the entire raise isn't enacted by April 30.

In New York newspaper negotiations, 2 of the 10 unions have issued strike threats, one of them setting this weekend as the strike deadline.

The unions represent 13,000 employes at the city's four major daily newspapers. They have rejected an offer from publishers of a 16.5 per cent raise.

The only labor dispute which appeared to be diminishing was a railroad controversy.

President Nixon signed a bill designed to prevent a nationwide railroad shutdown Saturday when a congressional strike ban ends.

However, in Louisville, Ky., some railroad workers picketed to protest the legislation which imposes a settlement for the remainder of the year. The settlement was worked out by the parties last December, but rejected by one small union.

Auto Stolen

John P. Cordova of 318 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, reported his blue 1963 Cadillac coupe with license 25A529 was stolen yesterday between 8:30 and 11:15 p.m. from the north side of the Taberna restaurant, 1 Vivian Way, according to San Rafael police.

Ride Pooling Campaign To Open Monday

In an effort to cut down congestion and pollution, a campaign will be launched Monday to urge commuters to form car pools to travel across the Golden Gate Bridge.

The car pool drive, supported by the Golden Gate Bridge District, Pacific Commuters Association in Berkeley and Marin County Consolidated Plan, part of the Marin Ecology Center, will run Monday through Thursday, the latter designated as "Car Pool Day."

The car pooling, according to J. Patrick Goggins, of the ecology center's transportation committee, would be an effective measure to reduce traffic congestion and pollution until long range transit solutions can be implemented.

CO-ED TO HELP

The drive will open at 6 a.m. Monday, Goggins said, with co-eds from the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority House on the Berkeley campus of the University of California passing out questionnaires asking commuters their thoughts on the idea.

The forms will be passed out during morning rush hours through Wednesday, Goggins said. On Thursday, designed "Car Pool Day" it is hoped no one will drive alone across the bridge, he added.

RIDE FINDERS

Stands will be set up Thursday at five Marin shopping centers starting at 6 am.. to help drivers find riders to take into San Francisco, Goggins said. The stands will be at the Northgate, Montecito, Strawberry and Corte Madera shopping centers with another to be at a location to be announced, according to Goggins.

The Marin Ecology Center will award a scroll to the first car pool to be formed as a result of the campaign, Goggins said.

Tiburon Hearing On Downtown Plan

The Tiburon City Council will hold a public hearing on the general plan for downtown Tiburon when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. in the music room of Del Mar School.

The plan calls for a new harbor, an open waterfront area, an executive office park and a lodge conference center, among other recommendations. It suggests de-emphasis of visitors from outside the city.

Also on the agenda is a request by Richard W. Perry that the council grant permission for the first Golden Gate Marathon to pass through Tiburon May 30.

Street Number Drive Opens In Tam Valley

A program to provide visible street numbers in front of homes of Tamalpais Valley residents was given the go-ahead last night by the Tamalpais Volunteer Firemen's Association board, according to secretary David J. Gealey.

Gealey said the program which will begin next week, was initiated by the volunteer firemen because many home numbers are difficult to see, making them hard to locate in case of fire.

Gealey said residents will be able to purchase the reflective numbers at both Tamalpais fire stations at a discount rate and the signs will be installed free by volunteers.

The board agreed to contact all Tamalpais Valley residents to inform them of the program.

The Tamalpais Valley Volunteer Firemen's association board also:

INSURANCE—Asked Bernard Lenhart, a Tamalpais Fire Protection District commissioner to investigate the possibility of insurance for volunteer firemen.

SECOND DRILL—Voted to establish a second weekly drill on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. for members who cannot attend the department's Saturday drills.

INCORPORATION—Heard a report on incorporation procedures by Robert Quinn. Gealey said the association is considering incorporation and seeking tax exempt status.

Zanzibar recently levied a $7,200 tax on anyone who marries an island woman and tries to take her away. The measure is designed to prevent women from leaving, as the island's last census showed more men than women.

College Moving Sewer Sludge After Complaints

A 50-ton pile of treated sewage residue behind Adeline Kent School, which has drawn odor complaints, is being moved away from the school, a College of Marin official said today.

Don Thwaites, supervisor of plant facilities at the college said the pile would be completely moved by Monday.

Kent School officials had complained of the odor and flies attracted by the pile, Thwaites said.

He said the pile, and another by the college's football field, were obtained free from the Ross Valley Sanitary District for use as fertilizer.

The college saves $4,000 to $5,000 a year by using the sludge instead of commercial fertilizer, and has been doing so for the last five or six years, he said.

Thwaites said the sanitary district also saves the cost of having the sludge hauled away.

When it dries out, he said, the odor is less offensive than that of commercial fertilizer.

Student's Faculty Put Panel On Grill Over Nursing Chief's Role

In a ladylike way, students and instructors of College of Marin's registered nursing program held the college trustees' feet to the fire last night.

But the Marin Junior College District board hastily pulled its digits from the heat and moved onto cooler topics.

Both students and faculty submitted letters to the board asking that the new head of the program be classified as an administrator, not a faculty member.

If a faculty salary is offered, "it is very unlikely" a qualified person can be found, the faculty wrote. The faculty recommended the position be assigned the rank of assistant dean and that five health occupation programs be combined.

The salary and rank question led directly to the resignation March 19 of Shirley Conklin, head of the registered nursing program since 1964. Miss Conklin resigned saying her salary had been frozen for two years and her status left in limbo somewhere between administration and faculty, although she was hired as an administrator.

She was hired to head a health services department like that now proposed by the faculty.

The board started to move past the agenda item with no discussion, but a nursing student spoke up, explaining that Miss Conklin had worked with no contract this year, and asking that the students' letter be read.

"Do we want to discuss it?" asked trustee Charles W. Gray in an undertone.

"We should assure the students of our regard for Miss Conklin," said acting chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy. "There is no reason to feel any lessening of support for our registered nursing program."

"I'm just mystified" by questions about the position, Gray said. "Will there be discussion at the appropriate time?"

"I'm sure there will," Mrs. Deedy said.

In its letter, the nursing faculty proposed combining registered nursing, vocational nursing, dental assisting, nurse aide and home health aide programs.

The students letter said that Miss Conklin's position has remained undefined for two and a half years although requests have been sent to administrators and committees for a decision.

"Miss Conklin has created a program in nursing education that remains a model for other associate degree programs throughout the country," the students wrote.

The faculty reaffirmed its "unequivocal support of an individual whom we view as a pioneer in associate degree nursing education" who has brought great prestige to the college, and recommended criteria for hiring a new coordinator.

Neither of the letters was read aloud, and the board moved on without taking action.

The board discussed a study now under way by two consultants from the state community colleges system on regional planning for Sonoma and Marin junior college districts.

A preliminary report is to be ready for the April 23 meeting, Supt.-President John A. Grasham said, and a final report may be ready May 7.

The Marin Junior College Board Also:

EMPLOYEES—Accepted the resignation of Dolores Lackie as principal clerk in the financial aids office and hired Kathryn Y. Campbell to replace her for $567 a month.

EQUIPMENT — Authorized applying for $62,260 in federal matching funds for classroom equipment under the National Defense Education Act.

POLICY—Added a paragraph to district philosophy in the policies and procedures handbook, stating "A recognition of the special role of the community college in providing educational programs, services, and opportunities for disadvantaged and minority groups within the community."

BIDS—Authorized seeking bids for relocating creekside utilities so phase 3A-1 of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project can proceed.

NORTH CAMPUS—Agreed reluctantly to seek bids for a tenant on the north campus site to improve security on the property. The board had wanted to pick someone to live on the property and guard it, but legal advisers indicated that would be illegal. Hiring a full-time guard would be too costly.

DROPOUTS — Received a study showing 7 per cent of regular students dropped out during fall semester last year, 16 per cent of special day students and 12 per cent of special night students. Dropouts were fewer than 1968 in the latter two categories. Tests showed 84 per cent of the regular students withdrawing normally could have been expected to get C grades or better had they stayed. Work and financial demands led 43 per cent of the dropouts from regular school to leave.

AIR CONDITIONER—Accepted a gift of an auto air conditioner from Grasham, to be installed in the car provided him by the district. An auto shop class has asked to install the air conditioner as a class project, Grasham said.

OCCUPATIONAL EDUCATION—Went on record opposing Assembly Bill 570, which would allow use of money now distributed evenly for local vocational programs to be diverted to regional occupational education centers or programs. The bill would not affect the proposed regional program in Marin, which is to be financed by an area-wide property tax.

TESTS—Agreed to charge $5 for administering the general educational developmental test.

Error Delays Approval Of Postal Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Final congressional approval of a pay raise for postal workers and other government workers, retroactive to New Year's week, has been delayed beyond the weekend by a typographical error.

The hangup came when the bill — containing the 6 per cent boost — negotiated with the government after an eight-day strike of several thousand postal workers — was passed by the House Thursday and sent to the Senate with an error that would have deleted increases for aides to members of Congress.

The bill would give postal workers an average increase of about $8.50 a week. Congressional employes would get up to $38 a week extra — all the increases dating back some 15 weeks, to Dec. 27.

The typo in the House-passed bill was corrected by the Senate but by then the House had adjourned for the weekend and will not be able to concur in the Senate correction until Monday.

MRS. MARTHA MITCHELL
'Crucify' Remark

Mrs. Mitchell Hires A Press Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Martha Mitchell, wife of the attorney general, has hired a press aide in the midst of her latest controversy, generated by her 2 a.m. telephone call to a homestate newspaper.

She created a major stir Thursday when she telephoned the Arkansas Gazette and urged it to "crucify" Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., for his vote against the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell.

Mrs. Kay Woestendieck, former women's editor of the Houston Post, arrived at the Justice Department Thursday for a briefing from Attorney General John N. Mitchell and to look "at the correspondence file." She went on Mitchell's private payroll today, starting work in their elegant Watergate apartment on the Potomac at 9 a.m.

Blonde—like her bombastic new boss—Mrs. Woestendieck told a reporter, "I want to help her but I'm not clanging a bunch of gates shut. She's not going to quit seeing the press."

But her first unofficial action Thursday was to say Mrs. Mitchell did not wish to discuss the Carswell matter further.

16 Candidates File For Job Held By Leake

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sixteen candidates have filed for the state Board of Equalization Third District seat being vacated by longtime incumbent Paul R. Leake of Yolo County, the secretary of state's office reported today.

Seven of the candidates' filings for the $25,000-a-year job were disclosed for the first time in the state report. They are Harry F. Sublett, West Sacramento businessman, Democrat; Teresa E. Mortara, Placerville housewife, American Independent, and five Republicans.

The GOP candidates are Charles N. Hamilton, Weaverville public accountant; Robert E. Mihalisin, West Sacramento businessman; George R. O'Connor, Red Bluff assessor; E. Paul Rogers, Fairfield public accountant, and Robert H. Smith Sr., Vallejo certified public accountant.

Sabbatical Fuss At College Finally Over

The College of Marin faculty offered last night to pay for next year's sabbatical leaves out of its own pocket, and the Marin Junior College District board agreed.

The board voted 4-1 to approve six proposed sabbaticals, ending a months-long deadlock which has caused at least one instructor to cancel part of his sabbatical plans.

The vote came after Thomas C. Place, president of the Academic Senate, presented results of a faculty referendum in which instructors voted that sabbaticals should be given higher priority in the coming budget than faculty salary step raises.

Sabbaticals would thus be given priority immediately below that of keeping the present faculty level.

The faculty voted by about 60-40 in favor of the plan, Place said, and the senate was unanimously in favor in a vote March 2.

Supt.-President John A. Grasham supported the sabbatical request, as he did at earlier meetings when the board split on whether to approve them.

Acting chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy cast the only vote against the sabbaticals, with Theodore C. Wellman, Harry J. Moore, Charles W. Gray and Donald K. Felt voting for them.

The sabbaticals had been scheduled for discussion again next month, but the five trustees agreed to reconsider last night after Place's presentation.

Gray and Felt were critical of an editorial in the senate's newsletter recommending a faculty strike in favor of sabbaticals, but Place said "I didn't come forward in this spirit. . .you're not under the threat of a strike in this meeting."

"It's their nickel," Felt said, and if the faculty wants to change priorities the board should go ahead.

Mrs. Deedy said her negative vote was only because of fiscal concern, not lack of support for sabbaticals. She questioned whether the board legally could freeze step increases since contracts for next year have to be changed by March 15 if changes are planned.

Gray voted for the leaves, but repeated his earlier objection that the instructors' proposed programs were not spelled out in enough detail to warrant the sabbaticals.

According to the College of Marin Times, James D. Donlon Jr., a business education instructor, had to cancel a planned six-week tour of the Soviet Union because approval of sabbaticals was delayed.

Cornerstone Club Formed By Museum

The Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael is organizing a Cornerstone Club to provide financial support for the museum.

Membership is by contribution of $110, reported Robert Minor, chairman.

A membership contribution will allow a couple to attend a candlelight dinner at 8 p.m. May 16 at Steinhart Aquarium in Golden Gate Park and tour the aquarium afterward.

There will be a cocktail hour in front of the dolphin tanks starting at 6:30 p.m. and members will have a private viewing of feeding time of the dolphins.

Members of the Cornerstone Club will have their name or name of their organization, displayed on a plaque at the museum, and will receive a picture of "George" the owl for home or office, Minor reported.

Residents interested in joining the club can get further information by telephoning the museum.

Materials Stolen

De Martini and Smith Construction Co. of Novato told Petaluma police yesterday that $81 in building materials had been stolen from homes under construction in the Monarch Manor subdivision.

Belrose Troupe Offers Steinbeck

Opening night for the Artists Repertory Company's production of John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men," has been set for April 24 at the Belrose Theater, San Rafael, the company has announced.

Seats for the opening night, which includes dinner at 7 p.m. at the theater, must be reserved as there will be only 100 available, according to Gregory Norgaard, director of the group.

Reservations may be through the theater or the director, Norgaard said.

The play will also run April 25 and the first two Fridays and Saturdays of May.

Wisteria Flowers And Patrons Return To La Petite Auberge

An old wisteria vine now in bloom, spread above tables well filled with excellent food and wine and happy patrons, and surrounded by quaint brick walls—this is the nightly scene at La Petite Auberge, the little San Rafael French restaurant which has never dropped one degree in popularity since it first opened.

Somehow it seems to continue holding on to that fortunate quality which all restaurants strive for—a sort of independence from any great need to make periodic bids for customers. Consequently it is able to devote its time and energies to pleasing those it has, and keeping them. The magic is that still more customers find their way here and are added to the list of loyal supporters.

The list of dishes served at La Petite Auberge has not varied appreciably over the last few years. But there are enough of them to keep anyone going once a week for more than six months before having to repeat an order. Some of its classic offerings, to my thinking, are the quenelle de sole, the canard l'Orange, the chicken casserole a la Normande, the tournedos Perigourdine, grenadin of filet of beef Bordelais, paupiettes of veal and the noisette of lamb saute Bergere. And if you check these out you will not find all of them at the top of the price list.

Someone once made a statement which I think describes the situation here to a "T"—"If you have a formula for success and it works—don't change it."

Not all—but much of that formula has been in effect here for 11 years. That 11th anniversary, by the way, was just celebrated yesterday.

I'M TOLD that on weekends you should definitely make advance reservations for dinner at the Green Mill in Cotati. It seems that Jules and Tony Fisher have been keeping this place humming ever since their return last September.

FORMER CORTE MADERA RESTAURATEUR Gregory Seubert will get his new place, Noyo River Inn, at Fort Bragg, open next weekend.

I think of it as Gregory's place, but actually there are nine other shareholders in this venture, for it's a big venture—too big for one man to handle. But he's the manager, in addition to being one of the owners.

Grand opening is set for Friday and Saturday nights, April 17 and 18. Look for many of the dishes that made his Gregory's Restaurant in Corte Madera so popular—and others besides. Fort Bragg is known for its sport fishing—so it would be absolute heresy not to have a representative selection of seafood.

There will be an orchestra and dancing both nights. Dinner will be served from 5:30 p.m. The following week Noyo River Inn will also start serving lunches from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays. Sunday dinners will probably be served from 4 p.m. The restaurant is on a seven-days-a-week schedule.

Directions: Highway 20 from Willits meets Coast Highway 1 just south of Fort Bragg. Noyo River Inn is on South Harbor Drive off Highway 20, about one-quarter of a mile from Highway 1. The restaurant overlooks the Noyo Mooring Basin (I previously named this as Noyo River Yacht Harbor).

It's a beautiful trip. The rhododendrons are starting to bloom—and there are plenty of motels around Fort Bragg.

THE GROTTO in San Rafael has discontinued lunches except on Fridays—but there are some benefits from this.

Dinner hours are now from 4 to 11 p.m.—an hour later. On Fridays the restaurant is open straight through from lunch to 11 p.m. And the new arrangement gives Ursula Valan a chance now to visit the wharf in San Francisco during the day and personally pick out the best fish that is available.

Marin Dining And Wining

MUSEE D'ART INTERNATIONAL at Dominic's in San Rafael has made a good "catch" in acquiring both the paintings and person of Mme Renee Theobald, who is considered one of the most important contemporary French painters. She has a powerful and virile style you'd hardly expect from such a dainty and pretty woman.

She was last in the Bay Area in 1963 during a one-man show at the DeYoung Museum in San Francisco. She will be in Marin County Sunday to attend a preview of her show at Musee d'Art from 4 to 7 p.m. and will remain in San Rafael until the opening of her exhibit at the San Francisco Musee d'Art at 531 Sutter Street next Thursday.

I'M TOLD that you'll now find Yolanda Apostoli (sorry—I don't remember her new married name), who was well known in Marin restaurant (and golf) circles a few years ago, at Scoma's. Not Scoma's Glad Hand in Sausalito, but at the Fisherman's Wharf restaurant in San Francisco. And she's doing fine.

STARTING NEXT WEDNESDAY, Pier 15 in San Rafael will introduce its "Happy Hour and a Half" from 5 to 6:30 p.m. with drinks "from the well" at 50 cents—and hors d'oeuvres.

Patio deck on the canal side is nice these days at Pier 15 for lunches and dinners. It can be had by groups for meetings or dinner parties for the price of food and drinks alone, with no extra charge for use of the room. It will accommodate 50 to 75 persons.

DID YOU KNOW that a wine barrel led to the business of the doctor tapping your chest?

Cellarmen traditionally thumped a barrel to find out, by the sound, how much wine it held.

In the 18th Century, one Dr. Leopole Auebbrugger applied the technique to humans—not to determine how much of the grape they had stowed away, but how much liquid the lungs held.

INCIDENTALLY, if you're interested in knowing more about wines, California is a wine state and we have some of the best vintages in the world. Free courses with material provided by the Wine Advisory Board are available from the Wine Institute, 717 Market Street, San Francisco for the asking.

Special courses are also available for hotel, restaurant and retail wine trade personnel, and some 428,000 such members have enrolled for them since their inception in 1943.

I'M HAPPY TO REPORT that the Marin Banjo Band which plays at Cal's Steak House, San Rafael on Wednesday nights, has been going places. The group was filmed last Wednesday night and will be shown on Ed Hart's Bay Region Report tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. on KRON Channel 4.

If you haven't seen the band at Cal's—now's your chance. This is the group made up mostly of Marin County businessmen I mentioned on March 20.

Public Opening Is Sunday For Bahia Development

Bahia, the $100 million planned community in Novato on the Petaluma River, will have its formal opening to the public on Sunday.

A development of the Hofmann Co., Bahia comprises a total land area of 900 acres, of which 84 acres will be devoted to a primary system of parks and interconnecting greenbelts. In all, 2,250 townhouses and conventional single-family homes are planned for construction over the next seven years. Homes are being designed by C. Lister and Payne.

The project also includes docks, slips, launching facilities and protected waterways, with separate areas for sailing, fishing, water skiing and for large boats. Other proposed facilities include schools, commercial sites and a large clubhouse.

Bahia, located on Bahia Drive, is reached from Atherton avenue and Bugeia Lane in No-

Status Of Bayside Schools Due Review

An accreditation team from the Western Association of Schools and Colleges will visit San Quentin Prison next week to review the accreditation of Bayview schools.

The elementary, high and vocational schools are conducted within the prison by the Marin County superintendent of schools office. They are the only accredited schools within a prison in California.

The association first accredited Bayview schools in 1965 for three years. Accreditation was renewed in 1968 for two years. This time, the county office is hoping for full five-year accreditation, according to Daryl A. Hopkins, Bayview schools principal.

The six-member team is chaired by Lindley S. Allen, director of adult education in Mountain View and Los Altos. It will visit the prison schools Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, giving a report at a meeting in the prison administration building at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Primary reasons for limiting accreditation to two years in 1968 revolved around inadequacy of instructional facilities. The county superintendent's office has no control over these as they are provided by the state Department of Corrections, Hopkins noted.

Ross Seeking Second Fireman

Asst. Chief Thomas Casson is scheduled to become chief when Pinza retires.

The deadline for applications for the job is May 1, and the starting salary will be $660 a month, the mayor reported.

Today is Friday, April 10, the 100th day of 1970 with 265 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and last quarter. The morning star is Jupiter. The evening stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1849 Walter Hunt of New York City received a patent for the safety pin.

In 1944 the Russian Black Sea port of Odessa was retaken by Soviet troops. It had been held by the Germans since 1941.

In 1945 Buchenwald concentration camp near Weimar, Ger., was liberated by the U.S. 80th division.

In 1968 President Lyndon Johnson named Gen. Creidhgton Abrams commander of U.S. forces in Vietnam.

A thought for the day: German philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer said, "Intellect is invisible to the man who has none."

Church Youth Plan Car Wash Saturday

The Alliance Youth Fellowship of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Church of Petaluma will hold a car wash Saturday at 9:30 a.m. at Acorne's Union station, Petaluma Boulevard South and D Street.

President Debbie Wallmark said proceeds will finance church camp scholarships.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes The Most Simple Of Hands Has A Disastrous End

Some of the most difficult bridge hands to play are so simple that you don't bother to think about htem. In today's hand, for example, South played the first seven tricks without pausisg for breath. Then he slowed down, and the end of the story was quite sad—for hom.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

A SAFE RUFF

South took the first trick with the ace of diamonds and saw that he could safely ruff one spade in dummy and discard one spade on the king of diamonds. There was no need to think, so South led a spade.

East took the ace of spades and returned a trump. South won, cashed the king of spades, discarded a spade on the king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond to reach his hand, and then ruffed his last spade with dummy's high trump.

But now dummy's last six cards were all clubs. Declarer had to lead the ace and then the king of clubs. West ruffed the second club, and South shook his head dolefully. Life can be very sad.

PLAN AHEAD

If South plans ahead he can see that he will land in dummy with nothing but clubs. A much safer plan is to set up the clubs instead of trying to ruff a spade.

At the second trick South should lead a club to the king and then should discard a club on the king of diamonds. This enables declarer to ruff the second round of clubs without risking a ruff by an opponent.

RUFFS CLUB

South leads a heart to the ten, ruffs another low club and draws trumps. Finally declarer leads a spade and is sure of getting to dummy with a high spade to cash the rest of the good clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 10 8 7 3
♥ - 7 6 3
♦ Q J 10 9 4
♣ - 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER, Bid tow spades.

You count three points in high cards and three points for the singleton (accompanied by four or more trumps). This is enough for a simple raise of partner's suit.

Collegians Prepare For Peace March

Activity against the Vietnam war will resume on the College of Marin campus with a peace march starting on the campus Wednesday to rpoceed to the Selective Service office in San Rafael.

The Executive Council of the associated students voted Tuesday to recognize the march on Wednesday to proceed to the rium Day. The marchers will be addressed outside the draft office by moratorium speakers.

Plans for campus activities on April 22, billed as Earth Day or National Ecology Teach-In Day, also were discussed. Speakers from environmental study groups will discuss population control, pollution and conservation of San Francisco Bay. Organic foods will be displayed by a Larkspur communal family, the Messiah World Crusade.

A cooperative crafts festival was also proposed for the first week in May.

The council approved a request by the Black Students Union for recognition as an official campus organization after presentation of a petition by 30 BSU members.

The council heard a plea by James Heig, faculty adviser to the Mariner, college literary magazine, for support from student funds, but took no action until hearing a precise financial statement on the magazine's needs. Heig said $400 to $500 is needed.

Thomas C. Place, president of the Academic Senate, told the council that 50 or more student memberships on student-faculty committees have been unfilled for three or four years, and attributed lack of participation to misinformation about the positions available.

The council appointed Lucy Ospina as sophomore women's representative.

San Rafael police said no details of the accident were available today.

By PAT BALMES

Marin Child Development Center's teaching of preschoolers, who have learning and behavior difficulties that lead to trouble when they start school, will be explained to professional groups who work with children at a series of luncheons.

Beginning with the pediatricians' luncheon last Friday hosted by Drs. Lee Smith and Hulda Thelander, MCDC's new auxiliary is cooking successive Friday luncheons with a program and tour of the center for psychologists, psychiatrists, social workers, nursery school directors, lawyers and heads of social service clubs.

FOUNDERS OF the new auxiliary are Mrs. Richard E. Hyde Jr. of Belvedere, president; Mrs. Hank Bruce of Belvedere, secretary; and Mrs. Carlisle Becker of Tiburon, treasurer.

MCDC meets four afternoons a week in the building of the Tiburon Peninsula Nursery School in Strawberry. Sitting in its sunny play yard among children on swings and in the sandbox, principal Anne Hicks explained their purpose "to develop behavior which will make it possible for these young children to achieve learning skills and acceptable social attitudes and increase their ability to tolerate frustrating situations."

Children are accepted only through referral by a physician, although initial application may originate through a school, social agency or professional person, according to the principal.

The 30 pre-schoolers, from three to seven years old, have various problems of early development including those related to minimal neurological disfunction. Her pupils run the spectrum from a few very seriously disturbed children, through the children who may be hyper-active, distractable, those with short-attention spans, the impulsive, those having speech, language or perceptual problems, poor coordination, poor ability to relate to parents or other adults.

"Our interest is also in helping those with marginal learning, speech or behavioral problems because, without the early help, they could become much more severe as they enter public school," says the principal, who holds a master's degree in education of exceptional children.

Thirty-one of the 37 graduates now attend conventional public or private schools; 20 in regular classes and 11 in classes for educationally handicapped.

MRS. RICHARD HYDE

"OUR STAFF works to give the child a feeling of his own worth at this time in his life. Some think they're failures; not what their parents or others expect them to be. We plan experience that will teach them how to play with spontaneous pleasure, to enjoy success and to relate to adults and other children with affect and warmth. Our concern is to get them to accept themselves. We build in successes. When they feel accepted, their self-esteem goes up," says the principal.

Before the establishment of MCDC in 1964 Marin had no facility to deal with early problems in learning and behavior, according to Mrs. Hicks. "Very valuable time would have been wasted if these problems were not dealt with before they enter school."

Beverly Bastian is executive director and founder. James Donovan, M.D., a psychiatrist, is medical director. Anne Hicks is principal. Carol Walker is vice principal and teacher-therapist. Other teacher-therapists are Viola Bajor, Janet Daijogo, Georgianna Anerson. All have graduate study in special education. Grace Almon is speech and language therapist. Mary Vezie is occupational therapist. Audrey Dreyfus is psychiatric-social worker. There is also a staff of paid teacher-aids and volunteers who assist in the many small classes bringing the teacher-pupil ratio to about 1 to 3.

"WE HAVE respect for the child's dignity," says Mrs. Hicks. "We are very conscious of the need to encourage children to express their feelings in a positive way. And the staff is very honest with the children. We need to express our feelings, too. We want to build a child-teacher relationship where the child feels, 'I know I can count on her'," says Mrs. Hicks.

Courtship Of Stalin's Daughter

By JEAN SHARLEY TAYLOR

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva was married on an Arizona afternoon whose fragrances of blooming orange trees and roses reminded her, she said, of the Black Sea summers of her yesterdays.

She had never seen a desert like ours, nor a more beguiling sun. Since coming on March 18, sitting daily by the Taliesin West swimming pool in the foothills of the McDowell Mountains, northeast of Phoenix, she has become tanned and relaxed, in the manner of a contented winter visitor.

At the time of our talk, she wore her long, reddish-brown hair in the current, status pony; white earrings; a silk gray-brown abstract-print shirtwaist; mid-heel pumps.

A week earlier, on Easter Day, Mrs. Frank Lloyd Wright invited 150 friends, as she annually does, to share a terrace breakfast of Russian Easter bread and pascha cheese and to sit in her glass-and-stone-walled living room to hear festal music sung and played by the members of the Taliesin staff.

Svetlana Alliluyeva sat on a window seat two feet to the side of John Amarantides, who directed the musicians, and no one, gazing at the chorister faces and the visitor on the right, recognized her.

At breakfast, she ate strawberries and broke colored Easter eggs in peaceful anonymity, encircled by Wright family friends who protected her identity.

Marin Women

THE DECISION that she and William Wesley Peters would marry was made at Eastertime, she said, and once decided, neither cared about details. Mr. Peters is the brother of Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley.

Svetlana Alliluyeva wanted a simple religious service and beyond that "it would be pleasant to have whatever Wes wants." During the flurry about blood tests, the mariage license, the service and ring, she smiled radiantly and said, "It really doesn't matter."

One thing did matter to her: The number 7.

In "Only One Year," printed in 1969 by Harper & Row, she wrote about her anguished, impulse decision in New Delhi, India, to seek refuge in the American Embassy rather than to return to Moscow the next day.

She asked the doorman for the taxi company's telephone number. "It was 75-777," she said in Phoenix, "and I flew with a U.S. embassy official from New Delhi to Rome on March 7, 1967."

She is not a superstitious woman, but the importance of these two events—her escape from Russia and her marriage Tuesday — are linked. And sevens, she said, have been good through her life.

So she would be married only on the 7th, 17th, or 27th. Her first choice was April 17. The shift to April 7 was made only last Friday. And the marriage license was picked up, by special arrangement, at 7 p.m. Monday.

"It's a good thing I'm still 57," said Peters, laughing.

"I feel 17," said Svetlana.

THE INVITATION from Mrs. Wright's daughter, Iovanna, to visit Taliesin was timely and carried no burdens. The two had corresponded for several months and Svetlana Alliluyeva was impressed with the two books written by Mrs. Wright which Iovanna sent.

An immediate bond was the name Svetlana. That also was the name of Mrs. Wright's elder daughter and Peters' first wife, killed with their son, 2, in a 1946 car crash. But there was, as well, an imponderable spiritual tie, the feeling that all of them should be together.

So Svetlana Alliluyeva came in March and found both Peters, who had remained a widower for 24 years, and a family.

"It is a miracle," she said, "and it was supposed to be."

Look For Fabric Information

NEW YORK (UPI)—When buying a dress, do you just look for something in the latest style that fits well? If you do, you're out of date. Fashion and fit are important, of course, but you can—and should—expect much more in buying any garment.

Who manufactured the garment? What is the fiber content of the fabric? What fabric finishes have been used? How should you care for the garment? The answers to these questions are the key to what you can expect from the garment, according to consumer experts at an appliance company. The answers should be on tags on the garment.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Bringing Husbands Back In Line Won't Win Back Their Love

DEAR HELEN:

"Disgusted Wife's" idea of a national march to bring husbands back into line is much too impersonal. If a wronged wife wants to picket the house of her husband's girl friend with a sign "This woman is breaking up a marriage" okay, but this too only gets even. It doesn't get back the man.

Love between a man and woman is a personal thing. You don't demand it. You don't say, "You owe me your loyalty." You win it and keep it by, first, choosing the right mate and, second, showing him you know he's right.

I goofed up on the second several years ago. I became a housewife and mother first, a wife only when I had the time, and a real woman almost never. So my husband strayed, helped along by a sweet young thing who turned his head.

I didn't picket or march. I took stock. I faced myself squarely and saw that, had I been in his shoes, I might have looked elsewhere for companionship.

We talked it out. It isn't easy, putting aside the hurt, but when you know that your man is basically good, just human, you can.

Now our marriage is stronger than ever. Unlike the woman who described her fears and miseries every time the door bell rings or the mail comes thinking it will be news of a new infidelity, I'm now secure in my love and — SURE OF MY MAN

DEAR HELEN:

I am 43, my husband is 46. Lately I've noticed a lady, who is married and has teen-aged children, passing by our house in her car and looking at the window. My husband has taken to standing by this window. I get a strange feeling that there is something between these two.

He takes me out and treats me well, but I have this trouble with being jealous. I get vibrations that they are having an affair. Does this sound dumb? — R.C.

DEAR R.:

Yes!

Check those vibrations down to an over-active imagination and try a little trust. Also some common sense. If a woman was having an affair with a married man, she wouldn't need to drive past his house; in fact, that's the last place you'd find her.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

We were happy until two months ago. Then my grandmother became very ill. I went down to Virginia to see her and, after I returned home, I called every day to see how she was.

That month our phone bill came to $104. My husband hit the ceiling. Before that he was very pleased that I was pregnant, and now he says we can't afford the baby.

We both work. I'm going to pay the bill with the money I make. Up until now he has been a perfect husband. Does this show a hidden side of him I should worry about? — SHOCKED AND HURT

DEAR S AND H:

Even a perfect husband has a right to blow up at a $104 phone bill. He'll simmer down — and someday you'll even laugh about this — but meanwhile lay in a stock of stationery and stamps. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

French Painter, Theobold To Be Honored At Reception

By MOLLY MARIN

A champagne reception Sunday afternoon at Musee d'Art International in San Rafael will honor the French painter, Renee Theobald.

Madame Theobald will be staying at the San Rafael home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crocker until the opening of her one-woman-show at the San Francisco Musee d'Art on Thursday.

Considered one of the most important contemporary French painters, Theobald has had exhibits in Brussels, New York, Houston, Paris, Palm Beach, Dallas and at the de-Young Museum in San Francisco in 1963, at which time she made many friends in the Bay Area.

She lives in Paris with her mathematician husband and five daughters, combining a housewife-mother life with the schedule of a full-time artist.

VICKI EVANS, who will become the bride of Dr. William Crutcher on June 20 in Ross, is being honored Saturday at a luncheon and shower to be given by Mrs. Howard Maibach at her Kent Woodlands home.

The future bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans of Kentfield, will also be honored at a shower next Friday evening, being given by her aunt, Mrs. William P. Murray of San Rafael, and on April 18 Mrs. Russell Westover Jr. of San Rafael will honor Vicki at a luncheon and shower at the Meadow Club.

THREE MARIN Country Club Estates families in Novato were among those attending the opening day baseball game at Candlestick Park. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dinsmore invited the Gordon Walkers and the A. G. Lindauers to be their guests at the game. Mrs. Walker fried chickens for their lunch, and Selina Lindauer furnished snacks. Following the game, they all returned to the Dinsmore home after stopping at Fisherman's Wharf to pick up cracked crab and French bread, which they all enjoyed while watching the Academy Awards presentation on television.

Steve Castellucci of San Rafael served as best man, and guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brother, Richard Totten of Sunnyvale, and Ron Giomi, Bob Cretti and Ken Giomi, all of San Rafael.

A graduate of Ukiah High School Karen is employed by Pacific Telephone Company in San Francisco.

David was graduated from Terra Linda High School and attended College of Marin. He is employed by Star Fish and Poultry in San Francisco. Mrs. Jennie Raffi of Kentfield and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Giomi of San Rafael are his grandparents.

The couple are living in San Francisco.

SALLY JEAN CARPENTER

Couple Plan Sept. 5 Rite

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore M. Carpenter of San Francisco have announced the engagement of their daughter Sally Jean Carpenter to Thomas A. McCarthy of Kentfield.

He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Theodore McCarthy.

Thomas is the brother of Edward and Bruce McCarthy and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. McCarthy of Berkeley. He is a graduate of Redwood High School and is a senior at Stanford planning to enter the University of California Medical Center at Los Angeles in the fall.

A Sept. 5 wedding is planned.

ON BEING BLACK

Child Hides Her Home In Shame

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"This is OK," said 8-year-old Kelly as she started to open the car door. "You can just let me out here on the corner."

"Oh no," I assured her. "It's almost dark. I'd feel better if I took you all the way home."

"But it's really all right," she objected. "I just have to go a few houses down the block. I'll run."

"No, Kelly. I'll take you home. Which is your house?"

Reluctantly she directed me to her house. I watched as she slowly climbed the back stairs of their apartment above a grocery store.

After taking the rest of the girls home (we had gone hiking) and tucking my own children into bed, I thought about Kelly and saw myself as a little girl:

"It's OK," I had said to my friend's mother, who had driven us to and from an after-school activity. "You can let me off here at the corner." I was ashamed to have them drive down the street lined with long gray barracks which was the housing project we lived in.

People who have always lived in comfortable houses think little of what it means. For them, it is just a part of their being that is taken for granted. But for many other Americans, especially black Americans, to live in a real house, your own house, is a big thing.

My earliest recollection of a house was that we had none. That is, we lived with relatives. When we did move out on our own, it was into a kitchenette apartment of a converted house. We kids called it the "mouse house" for obvious reasons.

Next we moved into a three-room apartment in a housing project. This was more to our liking than the mouse house, but, alas, it had only one door!

Luck must have been going our way, for shortly our name reached the top of the waiting list, and we were able to move into a two-bedroom apartment in the same housing development. And it had a bonus — two doors, front and back!

Conditions caused us to move again, this time across town to a three-bedroom apartment in the barracks of still another housing project. Long lines of gray barracks; building A, B, and C and so on. How I hated housing projects!

When the government ordered the demolition of our colony of barracks, we were on the move again. We somehow stumbled across a raggedy old house that the owner was anxious to get rid of. We purchased it for three times its value: we had little choice, and the realtor was slick.

Anyway, we liked it. It was a real house, with two doors and a yard. The termites had almost completed their stay on the property, but there were no wall-to-wall people to go through to get to the front door. Yes, we liked it. It was a house, and it was ours.

That was years ago, and we children have grown up and moved on. But I think of those days as I think of little Kelly. I feel pain for her because I know the kind of things that are important to children at different times in their lives.

Hang in there Kelly and grow. One day your priorities will change and your ability to affect your environment will increase. Things have got to change.

Hang on.

ART REVIEW

Marin Society Annual Is Heavy With Restraint; Some Flashes

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Sometimes the biggest is the best. At least in the Marin Society of Artists' crafts, graphics and sculpture show through April 26, Carol Herschleb's big ceramic three letter word is not only the largest but also the most arresting piece in the room.

"MOM," as this award winner states its title to be, is also the farthest out of anything in this graceful, but definitely conservative show. But if there is nothing to get emotional about at the Ross Art and Garden Center gallery, there is still a great deal to enjoy, including other ceramics' award winning items by Helen Peeke and Chris Wagener.

The most satisfying section belongs to ceramics. With the exception of Miss Herschleb and a few others, most artists work in ways which are quite staid. Even so, they vary interestingly, the basic geometry found within the traditional pot form. Rectangles, circles, cylinders and cones are bent, roughened, smoothed and thinned with surfaces that might be ornately decorated or plain, and with finishes which might be raw or elegantly glazed.

There is a healthy variety of jewelry and metalwork as well, including rings, pins and award pieces such as Frieda Burkhart's gold and quartz pendant and Lida Dear's wrought and cast silver box.

Kamma Zethraus was another winner with a brown, black, grey and natural striped rug. And while weaving usually gives a show of this sort its zest and color the quiet hues in her rug are the only ones used in any of the several weavings shown.

The graphics have the same sort of reserve. Most are as subdued as Anne Jenkins's sensitive drypoint and aquatint of a child riding piggyback or Barbara Evans's grim etching of death. Only a few such as Betty Cleaveland's silkscreen and collage design have much emphasis on color.

Of other crafts such as furniture and carved wood, there is a disappointing lack and what happened to the sculptors is something else. Sculpture does include Farhad Moezzi's sleek metal work but to call it bare bone is monumental understatement.

Overall, this is a strangely limited and lopsided show but one that has a great deal of dignity. It might be said that when it is good it approaches elegance. When it is not—the work just isn't there.

Capital Voter Drive Slated

Petitions calling for a constitutional amendment granting congressional representation to residents of Washington, D. C., will be circulated by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin during the week of April 16-22.

League members will gather signatures on April 18 at the Northgate Mall in San Rafael and the Cooperative Shopping Center in Corte Madera.

Petitions collected throughout the country will be presented to Congress during the league's national convention in Washington in May.

Such an amendment would require approval by two thirds of both houses and ratification by three fourths of the states.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents' Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY:

"Goodbye, Mr. Chips" — Beautifully stages musical version of James Hilton's novel about a lonely schoolmaster who falls in love with a music hall star, and her influence on the students and the professor.

"In Search of the Castaways" — Reissue of Disneys' fantasy, adapted from a Jules Verne novel about a round-the-world search for a missing sea captain, by his children. Excellent cast.

ADULTS AND TEENS:

"Anne of the 1000 Days" — Magnificently staged and cast, historical drama of lust and political intrigue which encompasses the 1,000 days of the courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn. An elegant pageant presented with new perspective.

"Cactus Flower" — Middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated situation with his current mistress.

"House of Cards" — Confused plot about French Colonials, exiled from Algeria, planning to conquer France and regain Algeria.

"Sons of Kate Elder" — Better than average western with an element of mystery and suspense and much humor in dialogue and characterizations.

"Tell Them Willie Boy is Hers" — A profound allegory of white-Indian history can be found in this deceptively simple story of an Indian, chased and killed by a posse in California, 1909. Unnecessary nudity inserted. Beautiful photography.

"Alice's Restaurant" — Thought provoking, true story. Folksinger Arlo Guthrie describes a commune that welcomes the wandering hippies who sing, dance, make love and smoke pot in an uncommitted life that is both sad and funny. Some of the language and actions are in poor taste.

"Magic Christian" — Rarely funny satire on an old theme, that all men can be corrupted by money. Almost all episodes are distasteful.

"They Shoot Horses Don't They" — Dance marathons of depression years are vividly recreated in this powerful, unusual drama in a study of humanity that is symbolic of life's struggles. Ending is macabre and shocking.

ADULTS ONLY

"Bedazzled" — Sophisticated, pungent English satire based on Faust legend leaves few present day situations unscathed. Sequences vary from farcical fun to biting irony, with lines that are funny and often boldly irreverent.

"Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" — An irreverent social satire, slick in its trimmings, has a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage and morals. After a week-end of "confrontation therapy" one couple convince their best friends to swap mates. Comedy will seem funny to some, jaundiced to others.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Offbeat, hardhitting story of a male prostitute and a crippled hustler who meet in New York. Sordidness is tempered by skill and compassion, told in an uncompromising way.

"Putney Swope" — Devastating satire about ad agency taken over by militant blacks led by Putney Swope. After promising opening, humor sinks to tasteless level as foul language and nudity are substituted for wit.

"Three Into Two Won't Go" — Heartaches of a middle-aged couple's childless marriage are explored in this drama when one of the husbands' pick-up dates goes to his home and tells the wife she is pregnant. Nudity and explicit sex.

"Zabriskie Point" — Director of this film makes a vague, confused statement on what is bugging our youth on American culture. Story filled with symbolic metaphors, especially during a sexual encounter in the barren, dusty desert.

KRON's Role On Coverage Of Dominos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If the Chronicle Publishing Co. sought to manage news policies of its television station KRON-TV, it was not very good at it.

At least that was the testimony Thursday of Herbert P. Buell, the newspaper's editorial promotion manager.

He said during the 1968 newspaper strike in San Francisco he suggested KRON cover the domino tourney annually sponsored by the San Francisco Chronicle for charity.

Buell said the suggestion was made personally to Harold P. See, president of KRON television, and to KRON newsmen.

"But nobody showed up" at the tournaments' 9 a.m. opening, Buell said. "I called every half hour." Buell said he became "out of sorts and angry" and told the KRON newsroom: "Don't you know this is Mr. Charles Hhieriot's domino tournament?" Thieriot is publisher of the Chronicle.

He said a cameraman arrived shortly before noon and explained he had overslept. This led to a "heated" conversation with the KRON newsroom, he said, but he denied he threatened anyone's job.

Buell said KRON-TV ran several one-minute spots about the tournament before it started and one three-minute feature and a 30-second news report on the late news show the day of the event.

School Looted

Three tricycles worth a total of $67 were stolen between 8 a.m. Tuesday and 4 p.m. Wednesday from the rear yard of Alpha Schools, 333 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael police reported today. Numerous acts of unspecified vandalism in recent weeks at the school were also reported, police said.

LITTLE DINOSAUR OR A LOT OF SOUP BONES?

They're too dry for soup and no self-respecting mongrel would bury them for a rainy day, but these old bones are the biggest thing to hit Twelveoak Hill Drive in Terra Linda since the housing development. The ungainly creature being fitted for a pelvic bone by Kevin Manley (left), 13, is a rare post-Darwinian herbivore now extinct on the Lucas Valley hillside where the bones were found. It's a cow that (left to right) Ben Cruz, 13, Roger Manley, 14, and Michael Brown, 14, are helping Kevin wire together on the ping pong table in Brown's garage.

SUPERINTENDENT CANDIDATES

Tenure, Text Books Highlight Forum

Differences regarding teacher tenure, textbook selection and busing highlighted a state superintendent of public instruction candidates' forum last night at Tamalpais High School.

The 200 persons attending the event heard from seven of the nine candidates for state superintendent — five in person and two in written statements.

Present were Dwayne T. Canon, Mrs. Olive Fallon, Willard Harper, Harvey Hurtt, and Wilson C. Riles. Incumbent Max Rafferty and Julian Nava sent statements responding to questions to which the candidates were asked to speak. There was no response from Saxon Elliot and Sylvia Tucker, also aspirants for the state superintendency.

The tenure question was raised from the floor. Responses varied widely.

Hurtt, whose platform calls for free abortions, sex and consumer education in the schools, and "an end to censorship," declared that tenure should be automatic when a teacher is hired. When National Education Association and American Federation of Teachers merge, he said, "there won't be any problem."

Riles contended the tenure laws should be revised to provide a means for determining whether a teacher is effective. "The payoff is in what the children learn," he said. "If teachers are not doing their job, get rid of 'em." He said he had heard of teachers being fired for failure to discipline, for their political views, "or even for being a little overweight — but I have not heard of many teachers being dismissed because they were incompetent."

Canon said tenure should be replaced by due process in the dismissal of teachers. The present tenure system "stifles the innovation and creativity of teachers," he contended.

Mrs. Fallon, on the other hand, said, "Tenure is the only professional thing the teacher has" and should be retained.

The textbook question, also raised from the floor, brought an outburst from Harper about the American government text adopted by the state. He read extracts from it to show that it presents only the "hawk" view of the Vietnam war. "This is brainwashing, the way this book is written," he declared. "We should rewrite our history and sociology texts to present both sides."

Riles said the present textbook selection process is too cumbersome, but suggested it "is partly the fault of you people" if unsatisfactory texts are adopted, because they are placed in libraries throughout the state for examination before being selected.

Canon suggested that parent advisory councils in each school district should have a voice in selection of texts. He urged replacing the single text adoption with multiple adoption, and using paperbooks.

"The teacher is supposedly the expert," said Hurtt. "The community should trust him to pick his own textbooks."

Busing came up in response to one of the prepared questions : "What would you do to improve minority education."

Nava, in his written statement, said that "unlike Wilson Riles, I believe we must end de facto segregation" by busing. He also urged offering incentives to teachers in depressed areas.

Rafferty's statement said: "Minority education in California has improved almost beyond recognition in the last decade." He has spoken frequently against compulsory busing.

"You can't improve minority education unless you have integration, and you can't have integration unless you have busing," contended Hurtt.

Riles said the important thing for the children of minority groups is not where they attend school, but that they have "Teachers who believe that they can learn."

Mrs. Fallon did not feel busing for a racial mix is necessary. "Create grade level tests of knowledge," she urged. "Children always respond to a challenoge."

Harper said the important thing "is to put 20 children in a first grade classroom, not 30 or 40 children." The billions spent "to kill, maim and assassinate little yellow people in Vietnam" should be used to improve the schools, "buy buses, bus the children and have integration," he declared.

On financing schools, all agreed that there is too much load on the local property taxpayer. Nava, in his statement, said that "unlike Mr. Riles, I do not support Governor Reagan's tax program." He urged more taxes on oil and insurance.

Rafferty's statement urged shifting the load to "the much broader components of statewide taxpayers."

Canon said part of the problem is misallocation of state tax funds voted for education.

Riles said the state superintendent, school leaders, parents, taxpayer associations, chambers of commerce should get together to draw up a program of what is needed for financing the schools, then "lay it before the legislature and the governor." A bigger share must come from the state, he said.

Mrs. Fallon also agreed the state should pay a greater share, but added: "We need to audit our schools."

Harper agreed quite closely with Nava.

Hurtt said, "We aren't going to solve any problems on a state level." Schools must be financed by the federal government, he held.

The candidates' forum was sponsored by the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association Council and Mill Valley Branch, American Association of University Women. John K. Robinson, a Mill Valley School District trustee, served as moderator.

Of the nine candidates for the office, Rafferty is the incumbent and a former district superintendent; Canon, Elliott, and Dr. Tucker, college professors; Mrs. Fallon, Harper, and Hurtt, teachers; Nava, a Los Angeles Board of Education member and former teacher, and Riles, deputy state superintendent now on leave.

Water Safety Course Offered

A water safety instructor course for persons 17 or older and sponsored by the Marin Chapter of the American Red Cross will be given April 20 to May 21.

The classes will be held on Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Novato High School swimming pool.

Persons eligible to take the course must have a senior life saving certificate issued during the past three years. Information on registration may be obtained at the Red Cross office at 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

Traffic Jam Cause

The car fire that backed up traffic on the Highway 101 viaduct above Fourth Street in San Rafael at 10 a.m. yesterday was caused by a blow out, according to Fire Chief Vance Trivett. The fire destroyed the auto of Laura Rutledge of Eureka, Humboldt County.

Annexation Of Creek Is Allowed

Bel Marin Keys Community Services District will be allowed to annex Novato Creek so that the district can dredge and maintain the creek.

The annexation request won unanimous approval of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night at Civic Center.

Novato Creek forms the northern boundary of the services district, but the boundary now stops at the south bank. The annexation will extend the district to the north bank, adding a total of about 125 acres.

The Marin Local Agency Formation Commission also:

GALLINAS SANITARY—Approved annexation of 1.4-acre parcel owned by Margaret Judson at 189 Los Ranchitos Road to the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

PLEASANT VALLEY—Approved annexation of 16.5 acres of open land behind Pleasant Valley on Center Road to the City of Novato.

WILSON AVENUE—Rejected by 3-to-2 vote a request by the City of Novato for annexation of 3.7 acres of land at the corner of Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road. Chairman Hugh G. Marchant, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Jan Paul Dyk voted to reject, suggesting that the city include adjoining property and apply for a larger annexation. Louis H. Baar and Neil R. Brixon favored accepting the annexation as requested.

FAIRHILLS—Approved the annexation to the San Rafael Sanitation District of a two-acre parcel owned by Charles Grandi at the end of Glenside Way in the Fairhills area of San Rafael.

COMMENDATION — Expressed appreciation to Dyk of Sausalito, who will leave the commission because he is stepping off the Sausalito City Council. Dyk has been a member of LAFC since it was first established in 1963.

Riles Detours Mainstream Tour For Students Session

A candidate for state office did an unusual thing yesterday. He appeared voluntarily to field difficult questions from a group that didn't have a vote in it.

Wilson C. Riles, running for state superintendent of public instruction, spoke for 40 minutes with Redwood High School students before moving on to two evening appearances in Marin. Popping the questions was a panel of five students and an audience of approximately 100 more.

It started inauspiciously when student Joe Enzensperger called school "about the only place you can discuss things" and therefore the place that revolution will have to start.

"We aren't agreed today on what we should be doing" with the schools, Riles said. "If the people agree the schools are the place for revolution, then we're together."

"You mean please all the people all the time?" asked Kathy Congreve.

"You can't do that," Riles said.

What do you do with the opposition, Miss Congreve asked.

"You're assuming that taxpayers are the enemy," Riles said.

"They're different—they pay the taxes and we don't," she answered.

"We're all agreed that education is important," Riles said. He said each generation must undersatnd the other's experience in "honest give and take."

He said there is confusion over the schools' role today, but said education's first purpose should be to "teach young people how to think for themselves" to give them "options and choices to know what to do with their lives."

Education should make people flexible, he said. "I don't want a rigid system that puts you in a box."

He said the community will have to accept the kind of teachers who can impart that sort of learning.

"They don't," objected Nick Suntzeff, citing the cases of Herbert Marcuse and Angela Davis. "The community hates them," he said.

Riles said he agreed with the law which barred firing Miss Davis because of her admitted Communist beliefs and said teachers should be judged by their classroom behavior. "I don't think teachers should be allowed to indoctrinate either way," he said. He said parents fear the Angela Davises "because they don't think you can think for yourselves."

Riles said he would have voted against tuition in the state university system, but now that tuition is here we must make sure no student is denied entrance because his parents lack money to send him to college.

Asked about getting children from inferior schools into college, Riles said he would try to see that every child in the state got "quality education" and said the state should carry most of the load, instead of local taxpayers.

By plugging present tax loopholes such support might not raise taxes at all, he said.

One girl objected this might mean sending "our money" to Richmond or elsewhere with no say over how it was spent.

"Let's say the Southern Pacific runs through your district," Riles said, paying taxes on its property. "Is that 'our money'? That's the money I'm talking about."

He said busing is one way to achieve integration, and said people must be convinced that integration is good for all children, not just black or other minority group children. Instead of getting black children into superior white schools, he suggested getting minorities "to learn how to get good schools for themselves."

Riles, deputy to Max Rafferty, said he came up through civil service ranks, starting four years before Rafferty came into office. When he became deputy and had to work directly with Rafferty, he said, "I found he wasn't interested in education . . . but in politics and running for office.

"So I ran because I know first hand what an ineffective person he is . . . I was there before Max Rafferty came and I expect to be there when he leaves in January."

Oil Slick In From Pacific?

While the origin of yesterday's thin coat of oil that slicked San Francisco Bay remains a mystery, there was a report today that it may have traveled down the coast before entering the bay.

Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., told the Independent-Journal that he saw what appeared to be a mass of muddy water Tuesday morning near Stinson Beach.

He noticed the muddy mass near Rocky Point, just as he was driving along Highway 1.

"That must have been the oil slick," he said. "It was headed toward the Golden Gate."

"If so," he added, "the oil originated outside the Golden Gate, and not within the bay."

The Coast Guard, however, reported the slick may have come from sludge at the bottom of Richardson Bay that had been stilled up by a low tide.

Because of wind and tide conditions, the Coast Guard ruled out the possibility of it coming from a tanker or other ship in the bay.

The slick was noticed yesterday at 8 a.m. by a radio station's traffic helicopter, which said the slick stretched from the Golden Gate Bridge to downtown Sausalito.

HST Portrait Finally Finished

WASHINGTON (AP) — A portrait of Harry S. Truman which took two decades to finish has been unveiled at the National Portrait Gallery in the presence of many of his onetime Cabinet members and former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The life portrait was started by Greta Epton of New York while Truman was in the White House and was intended for display there. She stopped work when she learned its size, 30 by 38 inches, would be too small for the White House gallery of presidents.

John W. Snyder, Truman's secretary of the treasury, learned of the unfinished portrait recently and Miss Epton was persuaded by 60 former Truman associates in government to apply the finishing touches.

Sammy Davis In New Venture

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. and Berry Gordy Jr., head of Detroit's Motown Record Corp., have announced the formation of a new music firm.

Davis said Thursday the project will include an enterprise to be called Ecology Records, for which he will record exclusively.

He added that the company hopes eventually to produce movies and TV shows.

Novato School Tax Rate Not High By Comparison

Novatans pay a Novato Unified School District tax rate of $5.345 per $100 assessed valuation.

That sounds like a high rate for a school district.

It is not, however, high in comparison with other districts in Marin — although none of them assesses a rate approaching $5.345.

THIS SEEMING ANOMALY arises from the fact that Novato has a unifed school district, meaning that one tax rate supports both elementary and high schools. Most Marinites pay two rates — one for elementary school district and one for high school district.

With the two rates added together, taxpayers in Dixie School District pay $6.29 per $100 assessed valuation; in Reed, $6.025; in Lagunitas, $5.785; in Larkspur, $5.74; in San Anselmo, $5.70; in Ross, $5.695; in Sausalito, $5.645; in Kentfield, $5.62; in San Rafael, $5.57; in Mill Valley, $5.39 — all higher than the Novato rate.

NEXT TUESDAY, Novatans will vote on whether to give the district board authority to increase the general purpose rate (that part which is limited by vote) by up to 85 cents, for a four-year period.

This could mean that sometime within the next four years the total tax rate for Novato Unified School District would rise to about $6.20 — almost as much as the total rate now being paid in Dixie district.

Novato's situation is somewhat similar to Dixie's in that both have low assessed valuation behind each child in school. Thus, a dollar on the tax rate raises less money per child than in most districts.

Novato's situation is further complicated by its heavy dependence on federal funds because of the large number of students from Hamilton Air Force Base and its satellite housing.

Such funds, under Public Law 874, put $922,000 into the district's coffers for this year. But the compromise education aid bill that followed President Nixon's veto of the initial bill for the new fiscal year carries less money. The Novato district stands to lose slightly more than $200,000 in such funds for fiscal 1971, according to Asst. Supt. Ralph Giovaniello.

For this year, the district dipped deeply into its reserve fund. With the loss of federal revenue for next year, that cannot be repeated. Increase in assessed valuation is not expected to make up the difference.

APPROVAL OF the increase in the general purpose tax ceiling will not mean an immediate 85-cent hike in the rate. Trustees of the district hope to boost the rate by no more than 25 cents for next fiscal year. The 85-cent increase may be needed within four years, however, they figure.

Nobody likes to vote to tax himself more. But, as in the Dixie district, there is not much choice for the Novato voter. If the rate is held at the present level, cuts in the school operations appear impossible to avoid.

Novato School District's economy record is good. There seems little reason to doubt that the board will refrain from levying any more of the authorized 85-cent increase than it feels is necessary.

Approval of the increase, while unpalatable, appears wise.

Mill Valley, The Sounding Board

Mill Valley seems to have constituted itself a "sounding board community."

In its municipal election two years ago, along with choosing city councilmen, it ran a referendum on whether the United States should get out of the Vietnam war. (Mill Valley voters said it should, by 1,863 to 1,433).

Next Tuesday, along with electing city councilmen, it will run a referendum on whether the voting age should be lowered to 18 years.

Such "straw votes" have no legal effect. But they are interesting — and far more accurate readings of the public pulse than the polls of which so many Americans are so fond.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Move To Oust Schrade Dies; Now Maybe Senate Can Work

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — While there continues to be an undercurrent of dissatisfaction in the state Senate over the leadership of Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, it appears to be diminishing as time goes by and indications are that the 1970 session will complete itself without further change.

This is despite the efforts of Sen. Clark M. Bradley, R-Santa Clara, to upset the applecart again and either restore Sen. Howard M. Way, R-Tulare, or place some other Republican in the leadership post of president pro tempore of the Senate.

Senators who are in a position to know indicate that Bradley finally has reached the end as far as mustering up votes to oust Schrade is concerned.

FIRST BRADLEY announced he would nominate every Republican senator in the upper house to succeed Schrade.

When he found that some of his Republican colleagues would not appreciate such a nomination, he pulled in his horns.

Schrade is not perturbed over the threat to unseat him. In fact, he is pleased to have the matter settled. He indicated he would welcome a showdown to get the senate back on its job of legislation.

The upper house has been in session more than three months, and so far, has not taken up any measure.

BRADLEY STARTED the counter-revolution movement when the Sacramento County Grand Jury investigated Schrade, and found no legal ground to return any indictment for receipt of certain campaign expenses.

He felt the Senate's prestige was endangered. However, the Bradley opposition does not have the votes to act and never did have, so Schrade will stay in office for the rest of the 1970 session.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Trustee's Remark Angers Parent

As a Reed School parent and former teacher from Wisconsin I feel morally obligated to comment on the article in the Independent-Journal of April 1, page 25, referring to grading by letters in the Reed District of Public Schools.

Mr. (Kenneth G.) Wells' smug comment about now having what most "taxpaying" parents want; i.e.: letter grades, makes me feel that we've really stepped back 50 years in Education. Does the fact that you pay taxes entitle you to be a judge of the trend of Education, Mr. Wells? Are we going to let the taxpaying parents run our schools or the educators? We might as well go back to outdoor plumbing and forget all the scientific progress we've made.

Perhaps Mr. Wells is insecure because he never had a college education — or if he did, was it the Class of 1890?

Letter grades are meaningless and as obsolete as the horse and buggy. They encourage children not to learn and develope (sic) at their own potential, but to compete with the other guy — or is that what all you parents had in mind?

Not Anti-Planning; Against One Plan

It is unfortunate that the headline of April 2 referred to our slate (Woodrow V. Capurro, Arthur W. Smith, Sarah Nome) as being "against planning." We are not against planning per se; unfortunately, planning as practiced in San Anselmo has seen the following results to name only a few:

1. A park was planned, thousands of dollars spent, a fountain inserted — and the whole torn down in favor of another plan.

2. A row of apartments passed by our planning commission fell down the hillside for one of the county's major disasters.

3. When Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was widened the difference in grade was not planned for. . .

4. The Hub (planned and built for a quarter of a million dollars) had to have one bulkhead moved back at extra expense after it was installed. . .

San Anselmo has a shelf full of plans (including an excellent one for storm drainage) all paid for and never used. Our slate feels that spending $114,000 is far too much for a plan calling for (among other things) a "land use survey" to identify "blighted" areas in San Anselmo. . .We feel this plan is Procrustean; that is, the bed is built and the arms and legs of the citizens are cut off to fit it! A darn uncomfortable plan!

Hub Improvement Won By Split Vote

Many thanks for the fine editorial entitled "The Hub Untangled At Last" which appeared in the April 4 issue of the Independent-Journal. I think that the signalization of the Hub intersection is a resounding success and should prove to the critics of the Hub realignment just how wrong they were. For the benefit of the uninformed, the realignment and signalization of the Hub intersection was approved by a 3-2 vote of the San Anselmo City Council and I think we all owe a vote of thanks to Councilmen Reed, Anderson and Ragan for having the courage and foresight to vote for the Hub improvement project.

Violence Will Right No Wrong

Two things appearing in your issue of 3 April deserve very special commendation and a wide readership — your excellent and timely editorial, "U. S. Supreme Court Acts To Save Judicial Order," and Prof. Ross K. Toole's righteously indignant letter to his brother, "Since When Have Children Ruled This Country?" I thank you for both!

It is hight time for both of these pronunciamentoes; that is, if we want to save this country and its essential institutions from destruction. . .

Fortunately, the attorneys and defendants who have sought to overthrow the judicial order are so small in number that the task of adequately fettering them presents no great problem. . .

Not so, however, this band of arrogantly destructive youth. For although constituting only a tiny few compared to all youth, it is sufficiently numerous and organized to wreak great havoc, as the mounting record of its malefactions and their consequences abundantly shows . . .

Why have they done these things? The answer is short and simple: because we have let them! Under the absurdly silly and puerile ideology that this segement of modern youth knows more than its elders, we collectively — parents, teachers, professors, university and college presidents, judges and other law officials, preachers, TV and radio broadcasters, newspaper and magazine editors and publishers, and government officials from those high in Washington on down to community levels, all have abdicated their authority and shirked their responsibility. . . Nay more. Some of us, in some instances — by either acts of commission or ommission — have actually encouraged them in their vicious and criminal conduct. . .

Burning down a bank because capitalism has made mistakes will not rectify those mistakes or bring a better order. Smashing windows, planting bombs, destroying property created by hard labor, occupying buildings and disrupting orderly processes of education or legislation, will not right a single wrong, erase a single injustice, extirpate a single prejudice or deprivation.

THE DRUMMONDS

It's Time For Liberals To Call Halt To Left-Wing Fascism

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—The violent war against American society, by those who say the system must be destroyed before anything can be made better, is escalating.

The number of bombings of government buildings and city skyscrapers, risking the lives of thousands, has gone up sharply.

The real peril to the nation is not that this monstrous violence will fail to be brought under control. It will be.

The greater peril is that it will become sufficiently widespread to provoke a massive backlash from the majority of Americans who will say, in effect: "If this is what comes from all we're doing about poverty and racial justice, it's time to stop."

THAT WOULD BE the greatest mistake of all. That would be playing right into the hands of the bomb-planters. That is exactly what they want. They want to intimidate and infuriate and frustrate the great majority of people who want to use peaceful means to achieve social progress. This is what the violent seek most—to immobilize the American system so that they can then say to the injured and the aggrieved: "See, it doesn't work; join us and we'll tear it down."

The violent-prone comprise only a small, reckless, heedless, misguided minority. In the view of Michael Harrington, a socialist dedicated to the democratic process, this resort to terror reflects the "impatient outrage of a young person who has had it easy and got his own way in family matters and now is going to impose his will upon the whole society."

The only way they can succeed is by causing the country and the Congress to react with such hostility to their violence as to stop the promising social and economic reforms now in the making.

Those who may be tempted to react that way will unwittingly be making common cause with the violence.

WE DO NOT minimize the need to put the full force of the law against terror and violence. It must be done, but while it is being done, nothing can do more to further the goal of such violence than to immobilize the good work in which the President and Congress are now engaged as it affects poverty, schools, race, equal rights and pollution of the environment.

It would help immeasurably if the political liberals in the media and in politics could come to see how important it is for them to speak out against violence on the left.

It is equally important that the political moderates in both parties show that the tactic of violence will not halt social reform. It is more needed now than ever.

NO ONE has spoken out more clearly against the tendency of political liberals to condone or remain silent with respect to violence on the left—though they would never tolerate such violence on the right—than ABC's Howard K. Smith. He says to his fellow liberals:

"I wonder if the Chicago Seven, with no changes in behavior, were members of the American Nazi Party, there would be so much sympathy for them. . ."

"I wonder if the Panthers disrupting the New York court were white right-wingers instead of black left-wingers there would not be summary actions against their disruptions."

And, he asked, if at the Chicago Democratic convention young people had taken down the American flag and put up the Nazi flag instead of the Viet Cong flag, "Would the journalist then have sympathized with them and called them our children?"

All should ponder Howard Smith's final question: "I wonder if we writers over the past few years had condemned left-wing fascism as sternly as I think we would condemn right-wing fascism. . . I wonder if we would be plagued with the present epidemic of senseless bombings."

It is not too late for the liberals to repair their mistake.

GOP Turns Attention To Building Organization

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Republican national party organization is asking its corps of campaign workers to follow advice attributed to Abraham Lincoln in 1840:

"Make a perfect list of all the voters and ascertain with certainty for whom they will vote."

The GOP is not asking for perfection. It is asking county chairmen and precinct captains to classify 80 per cent of the voting age residents by name and party preference, then getting at least 80 per cent of the probable Republican voters registered.

LINCOLN'S ADVICE and much more is contained in 6,000 campaign manuals being prepared and circulated by the national party organization to county chairmen and vice chairmen in all 50 states. A separate manual goes to party leaders in the precincts.

This "Mission 70's" project indicates that attention to the nuts and bolts of campaign organization did not vanish from the GOP national headquarters with the retirement a year ago of Chairman Ray C. Bliss.

His successor, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland, serves as a spokeman for the Nixon administration. But he also budgeted $250,000 this year for building the party organization at the local and state level.

Richard Richards, Utah Republican chairman and director of the party's campaign division, and William Low, director of the party development division, are running the program. With four field agents, they are carrying it to statewide and smaller meetings of county chairmen. State GOP leaders also attend.

THE OPERATIONS plan will be presentey to state and county chairmen of 27 states by the end of April and of all 50 states by about July 1. One objective is to enable county chairmen with limited political experience to get an early start.

A county chairman who follows the book will set up a candidate recruitment committee to check qualifications of candidates and answer such questions as: "Is the prospect of high moral character, including no criminal or major traffic convictions?"

He will set priorities for target offices and submit a progress report and final report on candidates to the Republican state headquarters.

The chairmen will see that all precincts have chairmen, too, and calculate the requirements for volunteers — who man telephones, canvass voters, drive cars, babysit and do other work in registration drives and getting out the vote. More reports go to state headquarters.

VOTE GOALS are set for precincts and counties, with special attention reserved for those with Republican strength above the average.

A state chairman may reply that some of the counties must reach higher goals to insure victory for a statewide candidate.

Other sections of the manual deal with such political organization problems as budgets, fund raising, publicity and absentee voting.

"The average U. S. precinct had 221 unregistered voters in 1968," the manual says. "The President carried the average, precinct by three votes.

"The correct way to tap this source of political power is an organized, selective registraiton drive that concentrates on Republicans, not a random, door-to-door drive that registers as many Democrats as Republicans."

Republican leaders do not expect to create a new, modernized political structure this year. But they are hoping to build one in this decade.

Nude Prosecutions Hit Roadblock; Lawyers Lose Some Business

A case against three nude sunbathers was dismissed this week in Marin Municipal Court when the principal witness, Mrs. Eleanor Borden, who lives above a private beach next to Muir Beach, said she couldn't remember the arrest incident.

It had been reported earlier that Mrs. Borden, who has been the star witness in almost all the nudie cases, had lost her appetite for going to court. Now the district attorney's office is stuck with asking her about each case as it comes up for trial.

This particular case sounded like a fun one, too. The attorney for one of the defendants claimed last week in court that he should be tried separately from the other two, since he "was a mile down the beach from them."

Furthermore, the attorney said, his client would not reveive a fair trial if teamed with the others, since they are both officers of the Sexual Freedom League.

MARIN ATTORNEYS who specialize in divorce cases are discovering with horror that more and more people are going to court to obtain dissolution of their marriages without enlisting the services of lawyers.

If a couple has no dispute over property or child custody, it is a simple matter to fill out the form required under the new California divorce law. Since even some attorneys check the wrong boxes on the form, a lay person can probably do just as well.

The dissolutions if not contested are granted in court in often less than five minutes after brief testimony by one partner that "irreconcilable differences" exist in the marriage.

Upon learning that many persons are acting as their own attorneys in divorce actions, a prominent lawyer said, "Are they filling their own teeth, too? If they can be lawyers, why not dentists?"

Such logic probably will not prevail, however, and the trend toward skipping legal fees in divorces probably will grow.

THE RUNNING BATTLE at the Civic Center against marijuana plants continues. After it was discovered that some pot was growing lushly in a planter box outside the district attorney's office, the gardening crew was alerted to keep a sharp eye out for illegal plants among the proper ones.

Since the gardeners were not too sure what marijuana looks like, a drug abuse bureau agent met with them recently to inform them how to recognize it. The gardeners were still not sure they could tell grass from tomato plants, but they were told, "We don't want any tomato plants, either. Pull up anything that looks like that."

Pot smokers apparently have been dropping marijuana seeds into the planter boxes, where frequent watering, fertilization and the dome skylights make the ideal growing conditions.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

While County Fiddles, Buses Roll, Thanks To Others' Efforts

Fusselman

On Sept. 12 this column's heading: "Realities Vs. Expensive Dreaming In Two Approaches To Transit". In the preceding Wednesday's I-J Paul Peterzell had written a full and comprehensive account of the proposal made by Golden Gate Bridge Dist. Mgr. Dale W. Luehrnig to the district directors. This column went on:

"He proposed launching by mid-1970 a fleet of air-conditioned buses to serve the North Bay counties — 152 the first year running to Novato, and expanding to 186 the following year, to run to Santa Rosa."

It was a down-to-earth report on specifics—financing and whatever. He didn't build toy models of Marin's hills and dales to decide just where people would be permitted to live.

HE IS CONDUCTING a live operation not a phantom or nebulous one such as both Planning Director Paul Zucker and Marin Transit Mgr. Seymour Kashin have been playing around with.

Zucker's model, he said, was to be used to examine the transporation system and the land use system.

He also told the group of city and county officials before whom he was appearing that what he was developing was a working tool, not an answer they can make decisions on. Of course as long as the long green is forthcoming he will be making tools not giving answers.

Observe: In addition to his regular budget (a fat one) for advanced planning, he received for "balanced transportation", in 1968-69 $32,173 and in '69-70 $58,331. Then there was to come from the state $24,400 — a total of $111,904 to play around with.

In addition to this $111,904, the Marin Transit District has taxed you to the tune of $262,545. This looks very much like a total for fiddling around with the transit problem of $374,449.

WELL, WHAT DO you have for this? The wind of oratory is long since gone. The manager of the MCTD is just about to disappear over the horizon. The planning director has put behind him all planning and is trying to get even with the chairman and the board by running aginst the chairman. Still there is nothing operated by the county for the folks to ride on—neither inter-county nor intra-county.

In contrast the Golden Gate Bridge District's manager is going ahead with long haul and a ferry service, while a group of alert young men have organized and are operating the Marin Transit Systems, with their office in Marin City.

My friends, I tell you they should have the support and co-operation or the public and public officials. When they ask for endorsement by the county on an application for federal funds to carry on with, they most certainly are entitled to that endorsement, notwithstanding Alan Bruce, who incidentally has no legal place in the transit district and should not be advising the district directors in any way, shape or form. He is still at it with that "I'm going to run this county and don't you ever forget it". What a pain!

The fellows from Marin City have the buses rolling, with even a new Mercedes-Benz deluxe job. . . They are for endorsement by the county on an application for federal funds to carry on with, they most certainly are entitled to co-operation of the public and public officals. When they ask should have the support and formed both as to the potential and the finance phase. They have done this by their own efforts.s.s. This is a reas service and should be supported.

I have known Ted Barron, the president, and his family for quite some years. They are all right, good citizens with plenty on the ball.

Aerospace Rescue Veterans Honored

Four men assigned to the 41st and 42nd Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadrons at Hamilton Air Force Base have been awarded the Air Force Commendation Medal.

They are Lt. Col. Noble L. Webster Jr., of 280 Las Lomas Drive; Capt. Thomas H. Turey of 153 Westover Circle; Sgt. Robert W. Henderson and T/Sgt. Robert A. Bradley of 495 Bolling Drive, all on the base.

House Moves Afoot Seek Douglas Ouster

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., said Thursday legislation probably would be introduced next week calling for a bipartisan investigation of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Such a move could lead to impeachment proceedings.

A final decision has not been made, said Wyman. He is drafting a plan for creation of a special congressional committee to investigate the jurist's published views on youth and revolution, obscenity and former association with a foundation which had Las Vegas gambling ties.

Such a committee, Wyman said, would be required to report its findings within 90 days and could result in the first move toward impeachment proceedings.

Wyman is trying to enlist the active support of House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., whose staff has been investigating the possibility of impeachment since last November. Wyman also is seeking cosponsors.

Wyman, Rep. William L. Scott, R-Va., who also said he wants an impeachment effort, met with Ford Thursday to discuss the effort. Further meetings will be held over the weekend, Wyman said, since several parliamentary problems must be worked out.

BIAS ON BENCH?

All parties disclaim anything personal against the 71-year-old jurist. Wyman claims a central issue is whether Douglas' private liberal views affect his objectivity as a sitting justice.

Recent opposition to Douglas started during debate on the ill-fated Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. Wyman and others say that connection is coincidental. Also, all deny any relationship between the Douglas investigation and Wednesday's Senate rejection of Judge G. Harrold Carswell's nomination to the high bench.

The creation of a select investigating committee would be an effective way to bypass the House Judiciary Committee which ordinarily would schedule hearings on an impeachment resolution. The move's sponsors believe that Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., would be instrumental in burying Douglas impeachment plan set to the judiciary group.

DEMO PLANS

At least one Democrat, Rep. John R. Rarick, D-La., is threatening an impeachment effort. Under the constitution, the House votes an indictment and the Senate conducts an impeachment trial.

The Senate, which has heard 10 impeachment cases in history, has removed three officials from office—all U. S. District Court justice. No Supreme Court justice has been brought to trial.

Douglas survived a 1953 impeachment attempt brought by former Rep. W. M. (Don) Wheeler, D-Ga., who was angered at Douglas' temporary stay of execution of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The judiciary committee buried the impeachment resolution after one hearing.

New Telephone Directories Due

Delivery of Marin's 123,500 1970 telephone directories will begin tomorrow and end Wednesday, a spokesman for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has announced.

In the new directory, Novato listings will be in a separate section.

This year's book which has a photograph of Mission San Rafael on the cover, also has a map of Marin on the back cover.

An additional ton of paper was used this year in the printing of the directory, the telephone spokesman said.

Nuclear Power Plant On Santa Cruz Coast?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Pacific Gas & Electric Co. announced Thursday it hopes to build a nuclear power plant on the coast 12 miles north of Santa Cruz.

PG&E said it has a purchase option on 7,000 acres of land now owned by the Coast Dairies & Land Co. It said engineering, geological and ecological studies were being undertaken.

The company said it would begin consultations with the various government units involved.

The site is west of Highway 1 and north of the town of Davenport. No timetable has been set for construction.

PG&E said that it will employ environmental experts to "insure spaces and other uses" at the site."

PG&E already has a nuclear plant under construction on the coast in San Luis Obispo County and has acquired sites in Solano County, Mendocino County and Monterey County for proposed plants.

Michael McCloskey, executive director of the Sierra Club, said his organization would oppose any nuclear plant proposed for the Santa Cruz area. "The coastline is too precious a resource to be gobbled up by these proliferating plants," he said.

Bars Halt Burglar

A burglar who broke a third floor window in an attempt to break into Schwartz Inc. at 925 Fourth Street between Saturday and Tuesday failed to gain entry because of iron bars on the inside of the window, San Rafael police reported yesterday.

Health Guidelines Voted For Schools

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Board of Education today urged California schools to begin a comprehensive program of health education including such topics as drugs, mental health, environment and consumer health.

The advisory "Framework for Health Instruction in California Public Schools" was adopted Thursday by the board despite objections by some parents to a section on family life.

Althea McFadyen, representing a group called "Sacramento County Families United," labeled the sections "a thinly disguised rehash" of sex education.

"Problems of contraception and sex drives are inappropriate for adolescents," Mrs. McFadyen told the board.

Drawn up by educators at San Fernando Valley State College at the request of the board, the guidelines can be used by local districts setting up curricula on health instruction for elementary and high schools.

Board members agreed they might amend the guidelines at their May meeting.

Two changes were made in the guidelines. A section defining health partly as "social well-being" was deleted in favor of the phrase "moral well-being." The board also added a section defining "moral improvement" as a main purpose of the public school.

The guidelines were adopted on a motion by The Rev. Donn Moomaw, Gov. Ronald Reagan's personal minister. Moomaw called the proposal a "most forward-looking document."

Board member Eugene Ragle, a Roseville broadcaster, favored postponing consideration of the guidelines for a month.

In response to criticisms from James A. Gilbert, national chairman of a group called "Concerned Citizens for Better Government," Ragle called for deletion of a section on safety in "firearms regulations."

Gilbert called the section part of "a continual effort to disarm the citizens of the United States."

Rafferty also agreed that the section should be deleted:

"Firearms have little to do with health," he said.

But the board left the section intact.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Barbiturates A Mixed Blessing; Overdoses Cause Many Troubles

Barbiturates are a mixed blessing. These drugs that quiet and put to sleep millions every night must be used properly.

But, the tiny, "so easy to take" sleep-producers have toxic, habituating, and even addictive properties when they are abused.

Estimates show that, annually, 15,000 suicidal individuals are hospitalized for acute barbiturate intoxication and 1,000 die from barbiturate poisoning.

THE BARBITURATES are classified according to chemical structure and duration of action. Barbital and phenobarbital are long-acting (6 or more hours). Amytal and Nembutal are examples of those of intermediate duration (3 to 6 hours). Seconal (secobarbital) lasts less than 3 hours and is classified as short-acting.

All of these products are taken orally or rectally. A fourth type, thiopental, is given intravenously as an anesthetic and is ultrashort-acting.

SHORT-ACTING compounds are destroyed by the liver whereas the long-acting products are metabolized so slowly by this organ that they are eliminated mainly via the kidneys. This is an important consideration when treating a person who tries to commit suicide with sleeping pills.

Methods that increase the urinary output are of value in treating poisoning due to long-acting barbiturates.

Diuretics and alkaline fluids are given intravenously to stimulate the kidneys.

THE ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY also is used to remove barbiturates from the blood. It is, however, an expensive method and the equipment is not always available.

Vigorous supportive therapy and good nursing care remain the best remedies for barbiturate poisoning. Overdosage usually is followed by coma, loss of reflexes, insensitivity to pain, and a depression of respiration and circulation.

The throat and windpipe are kept open to provide an airway to the lungs. The patient is watched carefully and each complication is treated as it develops. He is turned every two hours to avoid pneumonia.

THE ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT used in coronary care units also helps to keep the heart going.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by amil if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CHICKEN BREASTED

A reader writes: What is meant by chicken breast? I have a friend who was told that she has this defect and no one seems to be able to explain what it is.

REPLY

Chicken breast is an abnormality in which the breastbone (sternum) protrudes like the keel on a ship. No treatment is necessary unless the defect is interfering with the workings of the heart or lungs.

CHOKING IN SLEEP

S. P. writes: What would cause a person to choke in his sleep?

REPLY

There are several possibilities, varying from a plug of mucus in the bronchi to heart trouble. In some persons, the sensation occurs because they dream they are choking; in others, the pulse slows, leading to irregularities of the heartbeat.

EYELID TWITCHES

W. H. writes: What is blepharospasm?

REPLY

Spasm or twitching of the eyelids. The symptom may stem from a local disturbance such as inflammation, poor vision, or muscle imbalance. It also develops in persons who are fatigued or toxic from too much coffee, tea, or tobacco. The most common cause is irritation from a speck of dirt.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

Shoreline Staff Voted Raise But Not Teachers

Classified employees have been given a 4 per cent wage increase while teachers have been offered contracts at present salaries pending outcome of current negotiations, Supt. Charles E. McCully of Shoreline Unified School District, reported yesterday.

The five-step wage scale of the 34 classified employees will rise next school year from the present range of $458—$555 to $497—$577. This will cost the district approximately $7,000 next year, McCully said.

After a closed meeting Wednesday night to discuss salary negotiations, the board voted to offer all existing teachers a contract on the present pay scale, McCully said. However, negotiations are still going on and this is subject to change, he said.

The board discussed finances for next fiscal year. There will probably be very little change from the current $1,121,393 budget, McCully said.

Health Guidelines Voted For Schools

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Board of Education today urged California schools to begin a comprehensive program of health education including such topics as drugs, mental health, environment and consumer health.

The advisory "Framework for Health Instruction in California Public Schools" was adopted Thursday by the board despite objections by some parents to a section on family life.

Althea McFadyen, representing a group called "Sacramento County Families United," labeled the sections "a thinly disguised rehash" of sex education.

"Problems of contraception and sex drives are inappropriate for adolescents," Mrs. McFadyen told the board.

Drawn up by educators at San Fernando Valley State College at the request of the board, the guidelines can be used by local districts setting up curricula on health instruction for elementary and high schools.

Board members agreed they might amend the guidelines at their May meeting.

Two changes were made in the guidelines. A section defining health partly as "social well-being" was deleted in favor of the phrase "moral well-being." The board also added a section defining "moral improvement" as a main purpose of the public school.

The guidelines were adopted on a motion by The Rev. Donn Moomaw, Gov. Ronald Reagan's personal minister. Moomaw called the proposal a "most forward-looking document."

Board member Eugene Ragle, a Roseville broadcaster, favored postponing consideration of the guidelines for a month.

In response to criticisms from James A. Gilbert, national chairman of a group called "Concerned Citizens for Better Government," Ragle called for deletion of a section on safety in "firearms regulations."

Gilbert called the section part of "a continual effort to disarm the citizens of the United States."

Rafferty also agreed that the section should be deleted:

"Firearms have little to do with health," he said.

But the board left the section intact.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Barbiturates A Mixed Blessing; Overdoses Cause Many Troubles

Barbiturates are a mixed blessing. These drugs that quiet and put to sleep millions every night must be used properly.

But, the tiny, "so easy to take" sleep-producers have toxic, habituating, and even addictive properties when they are abused.

Estimates show that, annually, 15,000 suicidal individuals are hospitalized for acute barbiturate intoxication and 1,000 die from barbiturate poisoning.

THE BARBITURATES are classified according to chemical structure and duration of action. Barbital and phenobarbital are long-acting (6 or more hours). Amytal and Nembutal are examples of those of intermediate duration (3 to 6 hours). Seconal (secobarbital) lasts less than 3 hours and is classified as short-acting.

All of these products are taken orally or rectally. A fourth type, thiopental, is given intravenously as an anesthetic and is ultrashort-acting.

SHORT-ACTING compounds are destroyed by the liver whereas the long-acting products are metabolized so slowly by this organ that they are eliminated mainly via the kidneys. This is an important consideration when treating a person who tries to commit suicide with sleeping pills.

Methods that increase the urinary output are of value in treating poisoning due to long-acting barbiturates.

Diuretics and alkaline fluids are given intravenously to stimulate the kidneys.

THE ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY also is used to remove barbiturates from the blood. It is, however, an expensive method and the equipment is not always available.

Vigorous supportive therapy and good nursing care remain the best remedies for barbiturate poisoning. Overdosage usually is followed by coma, loss of reflexes, insensitivity to pain, and a depression of respiration and circulation.

The throat and windpipe are kept open to provide an airway to the lungs. The patient is watched carefully and each complication is treated as it develops. He is turned every two hours to avoid pneumonia.

THE ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT used in coronary care units also helps to keep the heart going.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by amil if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CHICKEN BREASTED

A reader writes: What is meant by chicken breast? I have a friend who was told that she has this defect and no one seems to be able to explain what it is.

REPLY

Chicken breast is an abnormality in which the breastbone (sternum) protrudes like the keel on a ship. No treatment is necessary unless the defect is interfering with the workings of the heart or lungs.

CHOKING IN SLEEP

S. P. writes: What would cause a person to choke in his sleep?

REPLY

There are several possibilities, varying from a plug of mucus in the bronchi to heart trouble. In some persons, the sensation occurs because they dream they are choking; in others, the pulse slows, leading to irregularities of the heartbeat.

EYELID TWITCHES

W. H. writes: What is blepharospasm?

REPLY

Spasm or twitching of the eyelids. The symptom may stem from a local disturbance such as inflammation, poor vision, or muscle imbalance. It also develops in persons who are fatigued or toxic from too much coffee, tea, or tobacco. The most common cause is irritation from a speck of dirt.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

Shoreline Staff Voted Raise But Not Teachers

Classified employees have been given a 4 per cent wage increase while teachers have been offered contracts at present salaries pending outcome of current negotiations, Supt. Charles E. McCully of Shoreline Unified School District, reported yesterday.

The five-step wage scale of the 34 classified employees will rise next school year from the present range of $458—$555 to $497—$577. This will cost the district approximately $7,000 next year, McCully said.

After a closed meeting Wednesday night to discuss salary negotiations, the board voted to offer all existing teachers a contract on the present pay scale, McCully said. However, negotiations are still going on and this is subject to change, he said.

The board discussed finances for next fiscal year. There will probably be very little change from the current $1,121,393 budget, McCully said.

Aaron In Quick Start At Masters, But Not Arnie

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Noted also-ran Tommy Aaron jumped out of the gate a leader in the Masters' first round with Gene Littler and Bert Yancey hot on his trail, but famed charger Arnold Palmer died by his own sword.

"I shot dead for each hole—like I always have—and was penalized for it," fumed Palmer after his 75. "It's not in my blood to hit shots soft and hope they happen to trickle up near the hole."

Aaron tamed Augusta National's diamond-hard greens with a four-under-par 68 and his closest pursuers were one shot off the pace. Grouped at 70 were Dan and R. H. Sikes along with Chi Chi Rodriguez, Charlie Coody and muscular Bob Lunn.

Jack Nicklaus, a three-time winner, stayed close with a 71 along with 1969's leading money winner, Frank Beard. South Africa Gary Player got off slowly with a 74.

"Good-looking shots turned into nothing all day," said four-time champion Palmer. "The ball skidded across the greens and I found myself looking back at the hole from behind the green."

Palmer was in an unexciting tie for 32nd place with the likes of Hsieh Yung-yo of Nationalist China.

"I've never been famous for my short game," he said, "but I didn't hit them badly this time. They looked perfect heading to the green and then bounced out of sight."

Aaron survived a bogey on the tough 18th hole to take the top spot Thursday. The game's most famous bridesmaid birdied three straight holes—the 12th through 14th—on a hot 33 back nine to stand alone after a day.

"Being from Georgia, I've always wanted to win the Masters," said Aaron, who has not captured a U.S. tour event in nine pro years despite being a regular in the $70,000-$90,000 income bracket.

Rodriguez was excited over his first Masters shot since 1966 and the colorful Puerto Rican didn't want to leave the press interview area following his fine opening-round 70.

"I don't get here too often, so I want to make the best of it," he said. "I could have shot a 66 out there today, but I choked a little, thinking about it being the Masters."

Rodriguez has a lot of mouths to feed back at Dorado Beach. He claims to support most of his family.

"I have 13 dependents," he said in broken English. "All of them have 140 I.Q. or better, except me. I'm under 100 . . . and I support them all."

The field was due to be sliced to the low 44 scores and ties after today's second round. The cutoff has never been lower than four-over par 148 and—according to the first day's results—could soar as high as 151.

Everybody Happy When Gurney Wins

I wish the sports world was full of Dan Gurneys.

A veteran Grand Prix and Indianapolis star, Gurney is one of the world's greatest athletes and he wears it well. Like Arnold Palmer or Ernie Banks or the late Rocky Marciano, to name a few genuine champions, Gurney is just a plain good, clean cut All-American guy. And, everyone is happy when he wins. The guy has no sour grapes competitors.

The other night, after Gurney won the Sears Point 150-mile race for Indianapolis cars, Mrs. John Cannon of Montreal, Canada said to Evie Gurney: "You know, when that husband of yours wins, everyone's delighted. Why, even my own children are always cheering for Dan."

"Hmm," hmmed John Cannon, the international road racing star who earlier that day was one of 25 also-rans at Sears Point, "how about THAT?"

Gurney, across the table, flashed an embarrassed grin, blushed, changed subject.

Then Someone Mentioned Indy

We were in the Hillsborough home of Sears Point treasurer John Brawner, discussing a variety of subjects, when someone mentioned Indianapolis. The 39-year-old Gurney, who had been enjoying himself up until then, slapped his head in mock agony and groaned: "Oh, no, is it getting to be that time already?"

Runner-up in the last two Indy 500s, Gurney not only drives but builds Eagle race cars. He has eight under construction at his All-American Racers company in Santa Ana. "First I take care of the customers, then myself," he said, indicating a hectic work schedule in the weeks ahead.

Gurney was giving Indy rookie Cannon some tips on Indianapolis, where to stay, where not to eat, etc. when a writer mentioned that the speedway city was an "epicurean sewer."

Evie Gurney cut in : "Oh, we've found one good place to eat" and her famous hubby couldn't resist cracking: "A good sewer, dear?"

Just then a waitress served our dessert, a chocolate concoction with nuts and marshmallows.

Gurney, tall and trim, said, "Oh, oh, here goes my diet."

The Road May Be Rocky

I interjected: "Don't worry, Dan. Sears Point gave you a smooth ride worth $15,000 today. You shouldn't mind a little rocky road."

He just winced.

Well, I thought it was cute of the Brawners to serve rocky road to one of the world's greatest road racers.

Just as the party was about to break up, I asked Gurney if he'd mind signing some autographs "for my kids."

A half hour later, his hand aching, he turned to me and laughed: "Say, how many children do you have, anyway?"

Would you believe 22? Now, all the kids and a few adults on my block have a very special autograph for their collections.

And on my wall is a picture autographed: "To Jimmy, with best personal regards . . . Dan Gurney."

He thinks Jimmy Gilmartin is my kid. Heh-heh-heh . . .

Where's The A's Power?

KANSAS CITY (AP) — John McNamara, the rookie Oakland Athletics manager, asked the question rhetorically, then answered it himself.

"Is their pitching that good, or have we over-estimated our hitters? Only time will tell. But we think's we've got good hitters."

McNamara was searching for an explanation for the A's hitting drought in losing 2-0 and 3-1 to the Kansas City Royals in their season - opening series which concluded Thursday night. The A's went 21 innings without scoring from the sixth inning of a 6-4 victory Tuesday to the ninth inning Thursday.

"You have to give their pitchers credit," McNamara added, "but we believe we'll hit better than that. Some of our hitters are pressing a little."

Most noticeable of the A's silent bats after a 6-4 victory in Tuesday's opener was that of slugging star Reggie Jackson. He got only one single in 10 times at bat and drove in just one run in the series.

"I think Reggie is trying to find himself," McNamara said. "He's fouling pitches off he should be hitting."

DAY OFF

The Athletics are idle today and play at Minnesota tomorrow.

Bill Butler and Dave Morehead teamed up Thursday night to put the whammy on the A's hitters, limiting them to five hits and blanking them until the ninth inning when Bob Oliver's error opened the way for an unearned run.

Butler, wild but tough when he had to be, pitched six shutout innings, then developed a blister on the index finger of his pitching hand which forced him out of the game. Morehead finished up, getting touched for two hits, including one by Felipe Alou with two out in the ninth that drove in Oakland's only run and snapped the club record shutout string.

FOUR-HITTER

Dick Drago blanked the A's 2-0 on four hits Wednesday night.

The Royals got to loser Chuck Dobson for two runs in the first on Pat Kelly's bunt single, Ed Kirkpatrick's double and a wild pitch, then Jimmy Campanis hit his first American League home run in the fifth.

Hurrah! Tars Win First Game

Led by Dave Obrantz, who scored the winning run after smashing a game — tying double in the eighth inning, College of Marin finally won a baseball game yesterday, 6-5 over Contra Costa Junior College at Kentfield.

Down 5-3 going into the bottom of the eighth, Marin got a foot in the door when Jim Peters, who knocked in two runs in the third, singled to left. First baseman Roger Offenbach moved him to third with a single, taking second on a bad relay to set the stage for Obrantz.

Freshman Mike Locati scored Obrantz from second with a base hit to give the Tars their first win in 10 tries this season.

Mike Terry, who settled down to pitch shutout ball the last six innings got the win. Ken Lazzarini ran his hitting streak to 16 games with a single his last time at bat.

Russians Win University Games

TAMPERE, Finland (AP) — The Soviet Union added a silver medal to its collection Thursday —and wound up with a runaway victory in the sixth World University winter games.

The Russians, who finished second in the final event, the ice hockey tournament, Thursday wound up with 13 gold medals, 16 silver and 8 bronze for a total of 79 points.

Second was the United States with 5 gold, 5 silver and 1 bronze for 26 points.

THE YOUTH MOVEMENT

Giants' Kids Get Ready For Reds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With anxious youngsters supplying hope for success, the San Francisco Giants open a four-game series with the Cincinnati Reds tonight—but you couldn't blame pitcher Ron Bryant for being sorry the Houston Astros left town.

Bryant's effective relief and a youth-inspired five-run, eighth-inning rally Thursday powered the Giants to a 7-4 victory over the Astros, giving San Francisco the opening series by a 2-1 margin.

Bryant, who sputtered in spring training appearances, worked two scoreless innings to pick up the win. It raised his major league record to 5-3, including a perfect 4-0 against the Astros.

"I was keeping the ball low and throwing strikes," Bryant said, explaining his sudden success. "Having to bear down and concentrate has a lot to do with it. You just don't worry that much in the spring."

Rookie third baseman Alan Gallagher continued his timely hitting, collecting a sixth-inning single and the eighth-inning sacrifice fly that scored Willie Mays with the go-ahead run for a 4-3 lead.

Steve Whitaker, a newcomer who collected pinch-hits Tuesday and Wednesday, started Thursday and responded with a two-run single that sent the Giants ahead 6-3 in the eighth.

"The kids are doing a great job — everyone is coming through," said Manager Clyde King.

With Juan Marichal still hospitalized with an allergy reaction, King named Rich Robertson, Gaylord Perry, Mike McCormick and Bryant to pitch against Cincinnati.

Frank Reberger made his first start as a Giant and allowed one earned run in six innings before being lifted for a pinch-batter.

Willie McCovey's single and Dick Dietz's 400-foot homer started the Giants comeback against starter Jim Ray in the fifth. Reliever Jack DiLauro took the loss.

"I'm seeing the ball better," said Dietz of his two homers and five RBI in two games.

Marin Tar Swimmer Sets Mark

College of Marin's swimming team lost two meets this week, but Coach Bob Justice noted some outstanding performances led by Bruce Averill who set a school record in the 200-yard individual medley.

Averill was clocked at 2 minutes, 11.7 seconds Tuesday against American River Junior College of Sacramento, lowering the school record from 2:12.8. It was Averill's lifetime best.

Averill also won the 200 back in 2:14. Other Marin winners were Dave Topance in the 50 free, Greg Myers in the 100 free, Mike Robertson in low board diving and Duncan Lane in high board diving .

American River won the meet, 63-50.

On Wednesday, DeAnza College of Cupertino dunked the Tars 65-47. Averill again was a double winner while Ben Edmonds won the 200 butterfly and Myers the 100 free.

Reds' Pitching Very, Very Tough

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The temptation was to run a benefit—preferably one that offered arms to the pitching poor—when Sparky Anderson accepted the manager's job in Cincinnati.

You know the Reds: good hit, no pitch. To qualify for their pitching staff, all an applicant needed was a usuable arm. Proficiency wasn't terribly important.

Pitching was the one thing the Reds didn't have. The fact that throwing strikes is supposed to be 75 per cent of the game might be the reason that Cincinnati has not won a pennant since 1961.

PURE FICTION

All of this, of course, seems like pure fiction to Anderson who, for the first week of the season, has had all the pitching he could use.

Rookie Wayne Simpson gave the Reds their fourth straight strong hurling job Thursday, shutting out Los Angeles 3-0 on a two-hitter in his major league debut. That came on the heels of a two-hitter by Gary Nolan, a three-hitter by Jim Merritt and a combined seven-hitter by Jim McGlothlin and Clay Carroll.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis thumped Montrael 7-3, Philadelphia tripped Chicago 5-3, San Francisco dropped Houston 7-4, Pittsburgh edged New York 2-1, and Atlanta defeated San Diego 6-1.

A.L. SCORES

In the American League, Baltimore whacked Cleveland 13-1, New York topped Boston 4-3, Minnesota tripped Chicago 6-4 and Kansas City downed Oakland 3-1 in the only games scheduled.

The Cincinnati pitching has been so good in the first four games that the Reds' workhorse reliever, Wayne Granger, who pitched in a record 90 games last year, hasn't stirred from the bullpen yet. And Jim Maloney, ace of the staff, also hasn't thrown a ball in anger yet.

Simpson, a 21-year-old rookie, retired the first 16 batters he faced and was locked in a scoreless duel with Don Sutton when Johnny Bench cracked a seventh inning homer. Then Dave Concepcion, another rookie, doubled two more runs across in the ninth.

TORRE HOMERS

Joe Torre drilled his first homer and added a pair of singles, driving in three runs as the Cards won their second straight over Montreal.

Joe Hague also homered for the Cards and Mike Torrez, with ninth-inning help from Tom Hilgendorf, got the victory.

Deron Johnson clubbed a three-run homer against reliever Phil Regan in the seventh inning as the Phillies whipped Chicago for the second straight time. Johnson's shot wiped out a 3-2 Cubs' lead built against Phillie starter Rick Wise.

Jim Hickman homered for Chicago.

Two Mets' errors on the same play gave the Pirates a pair of unearned runs as Pittsburgh trimmed New York and Dock Ellis outdueled Jerry Koosman.

DOUBLE ERROR

Two walks and Roberto Clemente's infield single started Koosman's downfall in the first inning. Joe Foy threw wild on Clemente's hit, allowing one run to score and the other came in when catcher Jerry Grote dropped the relay at the plate.

Ellis struck out 13, scattering five Mets' hits.

Hank Aaron tagged his 555th career homer and boosted his total hits to 2,961 as the Braves knocked off San Diego in Jim Nash's National League debut.

Aaron had a two-run homer in the first inning and then started a three-run rally in the fourth with a double, his 2,961st hit, tying him with Sam Crawford for 10th place on the alltime list.

Nash allowed seven hits and went the route for the victory.

Lakers' Big Man Paces Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The huge man who came back, Wilt Chamberlain, prepares to lead the Los Angeles Lakers on an invasion of Atlanta after pacing a fantastic reversal which brought victory over upstart Phoenix in their National Basketball Association playoff.

The Suns fell 129-94 Thursday night in the seventh and deciding game of the opening set after leading the series three games to one.

Chamberlain led the Lakers' three-game winning surge and in the finale the 7-foot-2 star scored 30 points and swept away 27 rebounds.

A pleased Coach Joe Mullaney observed: "I felt he was the major factor in turning the series around."

Only one other team, Boston in 1968, had been down 3-1 and captured a playoff series.

Many didn't believe the 33-year-old Chamberlain would be around for these playoffs. He ruptured a tendon in his right knee on Nov. 7, underwent surgery and didn't return to action until March 18 when only three games remained on the regular schedule.

After Los Angeles romped to victory in the finale before 17,519 at the Forum, Phoenix Coach Jerry Colangelo commented:

"Two factors finally beat us in this series—Wilt's fantastic play and our inexperience in playoffs. But I think we had one heck of a season and we'll be back."

The Lakers continue on, meeting the Hawks in Atlanta on Sunday and Wednesday and returning to the Forum next Friday and Sunday.

While the Lakers and Hawks await the start of their final Western series, Milwaukee and New York open their best-of-seven set for the Eastern title Saturday in Madison Square Garden.

Los Angeles roared into a quick and permanent lead in the Phoenix finale with Elgin Baylor scoring a dozen first-quarter points.

Captain Baylor wound up with 25 points and 14 rebounds. Jerry West, who usually has paced the scoring attack, tallied 19 while contributing 15 assists. Rookie Dick Garrett hit 20 points for the winner.

Chamberlain, asked about playing against Walt Bellamy of the Hawks, said, "I feel he is a very underrated center. He is one of the best in the league."

HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

Bruins Triumph; Seals Go Down

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Line is running on time . . . and time is running out on the New York Rangers.

Fred Stanfield, John Bucyk and John Mckenzie, Boston's crackerjack linemates, helped the Bruins bean New York 5-3 Thursday night for a commanding 2-0 lead in their best-of-7 National Hockey League semifinal playoffs.

ONE OF FOUR

The East Division game was one of four semifinals Thursday night. Pittsburgh trimmed Oakland 3-1 and St. Louis spilled Minnesota 2-1 in West Division play and Chicago turned back Detroit 4-2 in the East to take 2-0 leads in their respective series.

Coach Harry Sinden of Boston, generous in praise of the Bucyk-Stanfield-Mckenzie line, crowed: "Stanfield played a whale of a game."

The Rangers had taken a 2-1 lead in the first period and goals by McKenzie and Bucyk in the second stanza triggered Boston to a 3-2 lead.

TOUGH ANGLE

Bucyk's go-ahead goal, hammered in from an almost impossible angle on the left of the New York net, was scored with 46 seconds left in the second period. Stanfield had assists on Bucyk's and McKenzie's goals.

Ken Hodge and Eddie Westfall, who scored Boston's first two goals, nailed it down with one apiece in the final period.

Coach Red Kelly of Pittsburgh was elated with the Penguins' triumph—"This was a big game for us"—but Fred Glover of Oakland was obviously disatisfied with his team's play.

"The first period is all they played," he said, his voice tinged with disappointment.

Glover's goalie, Gary Smith, received two tripping penalties during the bruising contest.

"When a goal tender gets frustrated (because his team's behind) he's got to do something about it—and he's a big man who can do it," said Glover.

Drake Golfers Squeak Past Terra Linda

In other Marin County athletic League golf action Redwood downed San Marin of Novato at Indian Valley, 228 - 237, and Novato, led by Bob Cooper's 40, overwhelmed Marin Catholic, 219-260.

FISH AND GAME

Dog Packs Chase, Kill Marin Deer

I talked to Mel "Moose" Muzinich and Stan Camiccia this week about dogs running deer throughout the Tamalpais Game Refuge. Both of these men are patrolmen for the Marin Municipal Water District and one of their biggest headaches is trying to control or catch dogs that are chasing and killing deer.

At times, five or six dogs will form a pack with a deer hound as the trailer. When this happens, the deer is usually run down and killed. Sometimes the dogs eat the deer; sometimes they run for fun, then, after catching the deer, start a new chase.

Dogs once starting this type of chase usually continue to do this as long as they are permitted. It's a sorrowful sight to see a pack of dogs catch and kill a deer; it is a most blood curdling sound to hear a deer cry when caught by dogs.

Ranchers throughout the county under the agricultural laws are legally within their rights to shoot or kill dogs chasing livestock, etc., on their property.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors a few years ago passed an ordinance which permits patrolmen to shoot packs of dogs running deer in the water company lands and the Tamalpais Game Refuge.

All hands hate this type of duty, but if certain dogs are seen continually day by day in the refuge, chasing deer, this action may be the only remedy. These dogs can't be caught and some of them are really mean.

Muzinich says that some of them try to bite him when he attempts to scare them away from a deer. When this happens they've had it.

The does are now carrying fawns and can't run at all at this time. It's dynamite for dogs to run deer now.

It's easy to tell if your dog is running deer. Usually, your dog will be gone from the neighborhood for a day or so. When he returns, he will be worn to a frazzle, have brush marks on his body, probably some ticks, and he will rest up for a day or so.

Some dogs hunt at night, get home early in the morning, have a good feed, take a good day's rest, then go again at night.

Dogs most likely to run deer are probably hunters such as beagles, hounds, spaniels and pointers, but shepherds, police dogs and mixes of all these will generally run.

The Fish and Game Code also has a section making it illegal to permit or allow dogs to run deer during the closed deer season. So, for the benefit of all concerned, let's try to keep our dogs controlled more in deer areas.

THE STRIPERS are getting tough to catch in San Pablo Bay. Well, it's April and the bass are going up the delta to spawn. Last year at this time the Department of Fish and Game tagged 16,432 bass in the delta areas. This year, starting March 23, the net crews began a new tagging effort up there. They hope to tag more than last year. One thousand of these fish will be tagged with a $5 reward tag. Last year cooperating sportsmen returned more than 1,850 tags. Creel checkers logged 17,742 bass caught by anglers of which 229 were tagged.

From all the data, fisheries biologists estimate that there are about one million legal-sized stripers in the Sacramento, San Joaquin system.

In late May and June, these fish will be heading back to the San Francisco Bay Area. One million legal fish heading for the Golden Gate area! Now that sounds pretty good to me. Some undersized bass will be tagged in this year's program to determine their migration patterns.

New regulations allow anglers to keep undersized bass or any fish that bears a tag. (Ha! I can see your evil minds working!)

SALMON FISHING? Good, if it's not windy or rough. Check with the Sausalito party boat headquarters when you are planning a trip. Or, better yet, stop off down at the Sausalito docks and check the party boat catches as they come in, usually between 3 and 4 p.m.

NICASIO LAKE is clearing. The black bass and bluegill fishing should be picking up. Last Sunday there were about 50 carloads of people out there giving it a go. Boy, this fishing pressure is getting to be something.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Teen Bowling Champ On Hot Streak

By RALPH CHATOIAN

At 17, Wayne Ziegler already is leaving himself very little room for improvement on the bowling lanes.

The Redwood High School senior is currently the best junior bowler in Marin County and he's leaving very little doubt about it. It's hard to argue with his 200 average.

"Since Jan. 23 I've really been bowling," he said. I think I have been averaging better than 215 since then."

Only in his fourth year of bowling, the self-confident Ziegler started out the season with a 184 average in the Redwood Junior League which bowls Fridays at Greenbrae Lanes. Since then his average has ballooned up to an even 200.

GREENBRAE RECORD

Included in his scores since the first of the year are two series of 700 and six 600s, his 762 three-gamer the highest ever rolled at Greenbrae Lanes—and that includes the adults. In the past eight weeks, 19 of his 24 games in the Redwood league have been over 200.

He won this year in the Marin County Junior Bowling Association City Tournament and now wants the Marin Junior Masters title very badly. That tourney is scheduled for Arpil 18-19 at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

"If I win the Masters I'll probably bowl in the adult leagues next year but if I don't I'll be in the juniors again. I want to win the Junior Masters. I've been close before, but I really want it."

EARLY TO BED

At one time he had worked part time at Greenbrae Lanes as mechanic and porter, but now delivers papers for the San Francisco Chronicle. That means he has to get up at 3 a.m., deliver the papers, get home for a couple hours sleep and then head off for school.

"It means I get to bed pretty early," he laughed.

Ziegler started bowling in January of 1967 when he was a freshman at Redwood High. A few months later he was on his back with a broken right leg, suffered on his first trip skiing.

"I haven't been skiing since," he said.

CREDITS TEACHERS

The next year he took up bowling again and decided he was going to improve on his game. As a junior, last year, he was averaging 175 and practicing about three lines a day while working at Greenbrae Lanes. He gives credit to his early teachers, John Coffee and Phil Wallace.

Although he does almost all his bowling at Greenbrae, he says he can score at Country Club. "Last two times I played there I got a 660 and a 630."

He's a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ziegler of 160 Prince Royal Drive, Corte Madera. His father is a sales-engineer for Borg-Warner. An older brother, Craig, is a captain in the Army in Vietnam, and another brother, Glenn, is a sophomore at Redwood.

TOO EARLY

"People have asked me if I want to turn pro and things like that," the young kegler said. "It's much too early for anything like that. Those guys on the tour have been averaging in the 200s for a long time. I've been averaging 200 for a month or so. No, I want to go to college first, and then if I'm bowling good then I'll think about pro bowling. Bowling definitely is not my life's ambition."

Ziegler, who plans to go to College of Marin and then hopefully University of California at Berkeley, said he had considered giving up bowling a couple of years ago. "Then I started practicing and got better so I kept going."

I don't think he'll quit bowling now.

Famed Pie Traynor In Good Condition

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Mercy Hospital reports the condition of 70-year-old baseball Hall of Famer Harold "Pie" Traynor as good this morning.

Traynor, a former Pittsburgh Pirate player and manager who was voted by sports writers as the "best third baseman" ever, was admitted to the hospital Tuesday with an undisclosed ailment.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Real Estate Trusts Not Wise For Small Investor

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'd like to find a mutual fund specializing in real estate. Please name a couple. — B.B.

A. Sorry, I cannot. Mutual funds are legally required to maintain a high degree of liquidity to cover possible redemption of shares, and real estate does not qualify. Furthermore, the open-end sale-and-redemption feature of the mutual fund industry necessitates a daily calculation of the net asset value of fund shares. This could not be done for parcels of real estate or mortgage contracts.

You may have in mind the real-estate investment trust—REIT, for short. There are about 100 of these closed-end investment companies which trade mostly over-the-counter, though a few are listed on national and regional exchanges. The largest of them, Continental Mortgage Investors, trades on both the New York and Boston Exchanges.

The REIT originated in Massachusetts more than 100 years ago among conservative Yankee investors. Over the years as taxes began to bite more deeply into profits the real-estate trust languished while mutual funds proliferated.

In 1960 the Internal Revenue Code redefined more liberally the REIT's income tax liability and new units appeared across the country.

REITs function in two ways. Equity trusts buy land and buildings for rental income and possible capital gains. Mortgage investment trusts negotiate mortgages and other liens against real property. Working capital comes from the issue of new shares and from borrowed funds creating profits from leverage. The construction trades have lately been flocking to the MITs for short-term loans returning as much as 14 per cent.

I agree with the market professionals who consider REITs too risky for the small investor.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Promptly File An Amended Return If A Mistake Found

If, after you have filed your tax return, you find you made a mistake, you should immediately file an amended return. Use Form 1040X. Claim the refund due because of the mistake or pay the additional tax you owe.

If there is any additional tax due for 1969 and the amended return is filed and additional tax paid by April 15, 1970, there will be no penalty or interest.

If you find that you would have done better to itemize your deductions instead of using the standard deduction—you can still amend your return. If you used Form 1040A the standard deduction for 1966, 1967 or 1968, you can still file an amended return and itemize your deductions.

If there is a refund due an amended return will get it for you.

AMENDED PLAN

You can file an amended return at any time and pay an additional tax.

You can file an amended return and claim any additional refunds any time within three years of the due date of the return you wish to amend, or within two years from the time you paid the tax—whichever is the longer period.

Use new Form 1040X to file your amended return.

The last year for which you can file an amended return claiming an additional refund is 1966. This return was due April 15, 1967. An amended return for 1966 would have to be filed by April 15, 1970.

DON'T BE TIMID

There is no reason for you to pay more taxes than the law requires or be timid in taking every deduction permitted by the rules.

Your tax return should contain a full and clear explanation of every item, and you should keep for at least 6 years, all papers, bills, checks, receipts, etc., in connection with your return.

You should keep the copies of your tax returns and the cancelled checks in payment of your tax returns forever.

More returns are being audited and each return is due for a more thorough going over than in past years. The auditors are well trained and know their business, but they are not mind readers.

Threat To Petaluma River Life

By DAVID DIETZ

The future of the idyllic Petaluma River basin is threatened unless steps are taken to preserve and enhance its open space and rid the river itself of pollutants, a Sonoma County study group has warned.

In a report released this week, a citizens' study arm of the Sonoma County Economic Development Board cautioned that the 24-square-mile basin stands precariously in the path of urban sprawl and that the placid river is in a "state of ever-worsening pollution" from dairy, industrial and residential wastes.

In a broad series of recommendations which will be submitted to governing bodies in the region, the group called for improved treatment of sewage discharges into the river, possibly through an area or bay regional plan; protection of sprawling marshlands and creation of recreational areas, including parks, greenbelts and a lake.

The group, which divided itself into four study committees under the coordination of Keith E. Dwyer of the economic development board, grew out of a request last fall by the City of Petaluma and its chamber of commerce for advice on the future of the river basin.

"The residents of Sonoma County and those within the study area live in a land greatly favored by nature," the report enthused. "Because of this they enjoy a quality of life which has become extinct in many parts of this country and the world."

But the group added, "We can be assured that it will become extinct here, almost before we realize it unless we act to preserve it."

Residential and industrial development should be watched closely for "protection of the area's amenities," the report said. "We do not believe," it added, "that increased population and economic growth, per se, contribute to the enjoyment of life by the residents of an area. On the contrary, uncontrolled and indiscriminate growth . . . is much more likely to lead to debasement of the environment . . ."

The group noted that residential development was now slowed by inadequate water and sewerage facilities, but pointed out that 11,120 acres within the basin had been set aside for planned unit development and the present population of 400 could ultimately grow to a whopping 88,960 persons.

The county and the City of Petaluma, the report urged, should adopt a "firm policy" of attracting only industry "which will enhance the environment and not detract from it. . ." Development of industrial parks should be encouraged, the report said, but industrial zoning on the west side of the river should be reduced.

It was noted that 880 acres southeast of Petaluma along the Lakeville Highway had been zoned for industry and expansion of this area to the vicinity

TRUMPETS SOUND—Arrival of West Germany's Chancellor and Mrs. Willy Brandt at the White House today was greeted with gun salutes and trumpet calls, as President and Mrs. Richard Nixon wait to meet their guests. Brandt and Nixon this morning opened two days of formal talks about U.S.-German relations and other European problems. (AP Wirephoto)

Nixon, German Confer On East-West Problems

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Willy Brandt was given a warm welcome to the White House today by President Nixon as the West German chancellor sought assurance that the United States would continue to keep a large force of GIs in Europe.

Both Brandt and Nixon stressed the close relationship between Bonn and Washington as they participated in elaborate ceremonies on the White House lawn preceding the first of two meetings between the two leaders.

Brandt — and other West German officials before him this week — was stressing the importance of the U. S. military presence in Europe as West Germany sought to negotiate tension-easing agreements with its Communist neighbors and Russia.

Nixon told Brandt he hoped their talks about Europe would "contribute to the kind of freedom without which peace is meaningless and the kind of peace we need to achieve that freedom."

Brandt said his first visit to Washington as chancellor (he has been here many times before in other roles) emphasized "the close partnership between the United States and the Federal Republic of Germany."

The chancellor has continued to insist that the Atlantic Alliance is the key to European security and that U. S. forces — totaling over 250,000 — are the key to the viability of the alliance.

In his speech — which he gave in English — at the White House responding to Nixon's welcome, he said the alliance is the basis on which to reduce tensions and to build a structure of peace.

Nixon said that in his talks with Brandt, the two would "bring into harmony our efforts, which are serious but without illusion, to improve East-West tensions."

Part of the purpose of Brandt's visit was to fill in Nixon on his recent ice-breaking meeting — and another yet to come — with East German Premier Willi Stoph.

Brandt said his visit reflected an "expression of the close cooperation between America and Europe."

He added that it was no exaggeration to say that hardly any unresolved problems existed between the United States and West Germany.

The welcome for Brandt was in line with the impressive ceremonies given other dignitaries recently who came to the White House: a 19-gun salute, and blaring trumpets.

Brandt had spent the night at Blair House, the presidential guest house across Pennsylvania Avenue, after a restful two days of trout fishing and relaxing at Nixon's Camp David, Md., retreat.

Nixon To Bypass South For New Court Nominee

WASHINGTON (UPI)—After two successive defeats, President Nixon has ruled out the old Confederacy in his search for a justice of the Supreme Court. Some senators termed the decision both incredible and political.

In a surprise move, Nixon announced Thursday he has instructed Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell to find a nominee outside the South.

"I have reluctantly concluded it is not possible to get confirmation of any man who believes in the strict construction of the constitution, as I do, if they happen to come from the South."

Nixon's reaction to the Senate's rejection of U.S. Circuit Judges Clement F. Haynsworth Jr., of South Carolina and G. Harrold Carswell of Florida drew angry responses from two senators who led the fights against the nominations.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., called Nixon's statement "an insult to the South." He said it was politically motivated and designed to advance Nixon's "Southern strategy."

Bayh said Nixon has "dragged the Supreme Court right down to the bottom echelon of political confrontation" and sought to pit North against South for motives that are "strictly political."

Sen. Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., said "I find it incredible that the President would make such a mistaken and unfortunate statement.

"Those who opposed the nomination, including many distinguished members from the South, will gladly confirm a southerner and a strict constructionist who is qualified.

"It would be an act of great injustice to overlook competent nominees from the South on the utterly false assumption that the senate will not confirm them."

Although a lot of things can happen between now and the November election, some observers saw Nixon's statement as a thinly veiled warning that he

STAND-IN ASTRONAUT WINS RIDE TO MOON

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The space agency gave a go-ahead Friday for launch of Apollo 13 to the moon Saturday with novice astronaut John L. Swigert aboard as a last-minute substitute.

NASA Administrator Thomas O. Paine made the decision after receiving reports on how well Swigert meshed with astronauts James A. Lovell Jr. and Fred W. Haise Jr. in whirlwind practice sessions.

Swigert takes over in the command module pilot's couch for Thomas K. Mattingly II who was exposed to German measles and is not immune to the disease.

The space agency issued a brief statement which said:

"The countdown for the Apollo 13 mission will proceed with a scheduled lift off April 11 at 2:13 p.m. with backup pilot John Swigert replacing Thomas Mattingly."

Smog Board Election Bill Wins One Round

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr., in an attempt to end what he calls an industry-oriented "conspiracy," has won the first round in requiring election of members of the San Francisco Bay Area Air Pollution Control Board.

Brown, D-San Francisco, told the Assembly Local Government Committee Thursday the "nonresponsive nature of the current board" prompted his legislation.

The Air Pollution Control Board administers laws regulating air polluters. It is a 12-member board comprised of a supervisor and city councilman from each of the six counties surrounding San Francisco Bay.

"There has been actually, I suspect, a conspiracy (by the board toward allowing industry to control the decisions that are made," said Brown.

His measure, sent to the Assembly floor on a voice vote, would establish 23 districts each representing an area of about 150,000 to 200,000 population. Voters would elect one board member from each district.

Brown said for three years members of the public asked the present board for a list of the nine worst air polluters in the Bay Area. It finally was delivered.

"It took a long time and a hard uphill fight to get publication of what I call the traitors list," said Brown.

"We are tired of devious means and subtle powers," added Mrs. Katherine Lord of Richmond, a witness in favor of Brown's bill.

The measure was imposed by the board, the County Supervisors Association, the City of San Francisco and the League of California Cities.

Opponents said an elective board would cost more than the present system. They also said elective members would not have as much experience in running local government as the supervisors and councilmen.

A second measure by Brown, also approved on a voice vote and sent to the Assembly floor, would add more positions to the 20-member advisory committee to the board.

Teacher Ethics Code Is Adopted

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The State Board of Education, acting over the opposition from the California Federation of Teachers, unanimously adopted a two-page code of ethics for teachers today.

The code sets guidelines against unprofessional conduct. Among other things, the code urges teachers to separate private opinions from the position of the school in speaking about educational policy.

It forbids teachers from accepting gifts or favors "that might impair or appear to impair professional judgment."

One In Feud Given 10 Days In Jail

A feud between two neighboring Tiburon couples must stop "before someone really gets hurt" a Marin Municipal Court judge insisted today in court before handing out a 10-day jail sentence to one of the combatants.

Although there was general agreement in the courtroom with the judge's sentiments, James Lewis Green, who had earlier been found guilty of battery against his neighbor, Nathaniel Marans, emotionally charged that the proceedings were unfair.

Judge Roth had found Green guilty of wielding a fence post against Marans during a scirmish Nov. 9 which climaxed a two year feud over a tiny strip of land which each claimed he owned.

Green lives at 2300 Vista Del Mar Lane and Marans on adjoining property 231 Spanish Trail Road.

The judge found Marans innocent of wounding Green with a pair of garden clippers, but Green today again charged that he had been injured in the battle and that the wrong pair of clippers had been introduced as evidence.

During the six-day trial in January, Judge Roth learned of a long series of events, which included mangled honeysuckle vines, the strategic placing of huge compost heaps and outdoor lights set to shine into windows.

Judge Roth denied Green of probation after a probation officer said he did not think it would be effective.

The judge agreed to allow Green to a 10-day stay of execution on the sentence while his attorney, Ben Davis of San Francisco, decides whether to appeal the case.

Jobless Tide: Darkest Quarter In A Decade

WASHINGTON (AP)—The nation's unemployment continued rising in March to make the first quarter of 1970 the sharpest three-month jump in joblessness in 10 years, the government said today.

The unemployment rate rose from 4.2 to 4.4 per cent of the civilian labor force, or about 3.7 million Americans out of work, the Labor Department said.

It was the third straight month of rising unemployment totaling nine-tenths of 1 per cent, largest since a 1.1 per cent rise in the last quarter of 1960.

Asst. Commissioner Harold Goldstein of the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the March increase was due largely to an unusually large flood of people into the labor force seeking jobs.

"It's a little hard to understand why we see labor force growth when there is unemployment and a slowing rate of growth in the demand for labor. Nevertheless, there it is," he said.

Noting that most of the jobless rise last month was among women, Goldstein speculated it could mean many women are looking for jobs because of the continuing rise of living costs at the sharpest rate in 20 years.

The big jump in the labor force, particularly among women, also could possibly be because of unemployed husbands or the fear of some women that their husbands might become unemployed, Goldstein said.

He also said some of the month's total rise of 520,000 in the civilian labor force to a total of 85 million could be because of returning servicemen entering the labor market and perhaps some youths, now less vulnerable to the draft, leaving school to go to work.

"You can spin out various theories," he added. "Normally we get a decline in unemployment in March of 300,000," Goldstein said.

The March rate was the highest since August 1965 when it also was 4.4 per cent.

The actual number of jobless persons declined 61,000 but unemployment generally falls even more sharply in March. The Labor Department therefore figured this as a rise of 230,000 on a seasonal basis to a total of 3.7 million unemployed.

The number of unemployed has risen one million since March 1969, when the jobless figures dropped almost to the post-Korean war low.

Tonkin Gulf Policy Repealer Gaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted today to repeal the 1964 Gulf of Tonkin resolution, used by the administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson as the basis for sending more than 500,000 U.S. troops to Vietnam.

A resolution approved unanimously by the committee would also repeal the 1958 Middle East resolution. Both actions, if approved by the House and Senate, would take effect after the current session of Congress ends.

The committee decided to take repeal of the two resolutions from a much broader measure that, among other things, would have also repealed a 1955 Formosa resolution and a 1962 Cuba resolution.

All of the resolutions authorize the executive branch to take necessary action and were passed to meet specific crises at the time.

"We are beginning a process of clearing away the obsolete agreements and resolutions," Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., told reporters. "I hope," he said, "it will cause a re-examination of all of our commitments around the world."

Fulbright called the move a "good faith gesture on the part of the committee."

Opposition arose, Fulbright said, to dealing more specifically with Vietnam, specially from Republican members of the committee who feel that President Nixon's Vietnamization policy is succeeding.

The legal impact of the move is questionable since the Nixon administration has said it does not regard the Tonkin Gulf resolution as the legal basis for U.S. actions in Southeast Asia.

Fulbright said the State Department opposed repeal of the Cuba resolution on the ground that policy is still the same. "We feel it ought to be changed," he said. The matter will be considered again later, Fulbright said.

WIRE NEWS BRIEFS From Everywhere

A Snowball?

BOULDER, Colo. (UPI) —That beautiful dot of light in the sky with a luminous tail and known as Bennett's comet probably is just a "large, dirty snowball made largely of water," University of Colorado scientists said Thursday.

The scientists, calling it all a "rare bit of good luck," said an orbiting satellite studying the atmosphere of the earth just happened to be aimed in the right direction to take a reading on the comet.

A photometer on the Orbiting Geophysical Observatory OGO determined that the comet was made up largely of frozen water, somewhat like a space-going snowball.

The scientists who assessed the satellite's reading—Charles Barth, Gary Thomas and Jeff Pearce—said this marked only the second time that a measurement of atomic hydrogen, an element of water, had been taken from a comet.

Order On Clubs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army is taking direct control of service clubs away from officer and enlisted committees and putting it squarely in the hands of base commanders.

The action is an outgrowth of Senate and Army investigations that turned up evidence of irregularities in the operation of non-commissioned officer clubs.

One senior noncommissioned officer has been charged with bribery and graft and another veteran sergeant is under investigation by the Army.

A new Army order now being published does away with boards of governors of officers and NCO open messes which formerly ran them.

"Instead, this responsibility is planned directly in the hands of the installation commanders," the Army said.

New Rail Law

WASHINGTON (AP) — An imposed settlement intended to avert a nationwide railroad strike threatened for Saturday has been signed into law by President Nixon.

But leaders of the Sheet Metal Workers Union have said they might not be able to restrain their members from wildcat strikes.

Nixon signed the bill Thursday after it sped through the Senate and House Wednesday. It imposes a wage settlement negotiated last December but rejected by the Sheet Metal Workers, one of the four shopcraft unions involved.

The Sheet Metal Workers objected to rules changes insisted on by the railroads which would permit craftsmen to cross jurisdictional lines for "incidental work."

Transcript Date

BOSTON (AP) — Public release of the secret transcript of the testimony and report by Judge James A. Boyle on the inquest into the death of Mary Jo Kopechne is scheduled next Wednesday at Suffolk County Courthouse.

Judge Wilfred J. Paquet, whose Superior Court session has supervision of the papers, directed Wednesday that a state Supreme Court order impounding the documents be lifted at that time.

Paquet acted after the Supreme Court rejected a claim by Sidney R. Lipman, a professional court reporter whose stenographic firm took notes and transcribed the testimony in the January inquest, that he had a proprietary right to sell copies.

Lava Flows

HILO, Hawaii (UPI)—Kilauea volcano sent fountains of lava 25 feet high Thursday, and the flowing lava wiped out a parking lot in Hawaii Volcanos National Park.

The lava, pouring from fissures, filled the Aloi and Alae craters, covered a turn-around area for cars and a river of lava 175 yards wide headed toward the sea on the island of Hawaii.

A ranch, about a mile and a half down the slopes, was not in danger.

Fissures broke into the chain of craters road in the park, and the road was closed to the public.

A woman in Britain who has reached her 65th birthday may expect to live to the age of 80.7 years and a man of 65 may look forward to living until he is 76 years old. These expectations are based on life tables for England and Wales released by the Registrar General in his annual report.

FLIGHT OF REFUGEES—Increased fighting in Cambodia during the last two days has filled the main road leading into South Vietnam with countless refugees—mostly women and children. So far 500 people—mostly racially Vietnamese—have fled the troubled country.

N. Viet Sappers Overrun Beret Camp

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

North Vietnamese sappers blasted their way into a Special Forces outpost 10 miles south of Vietnam's demilitarized zone today, while Cambodian planes attacked Viet Cong forces who had assaulted the town of Prasaut.

The sappers inflicted heavy casualties and damage on the Green Beret camp at Mai Loc, and U.S. tanks and planes had to be rushed in to prevent it from being overrun.

Six Americans and 21 Montagnards were killed, 26 of the mountain tribesmen were missing, and 12 Americans and 8 Montagnards were wounded in the attack.

Farther south, along the Laotian border, South Vietnamese artillery and American planes maintained their round-the-clock bombardment of North Vietnamese troops besieging another Special Forces camp at Dak Seang. But a relieving force of 800 troops was still 500 yards from the besieged camp.

Cambodia air force MIG17 jets bombed and strafed Viet Cong positions outside the town of Prasaut, 20 miles west of the Vietnam border on the road to the threatened provincial capital of Svay Rieng. Government troops at Prasaut withstood a six-hour assault on the town by 800 to 1,000 Viet Cong, the Cambodians said.

The jets swept in to pound the Viet Cong, who established a perimeter two miles outside its fringes.

Six of the Cambodian ground troops were wounded, but none killed said the officials, adding that large numbers of Viet Cong were killed.

The South Vietnamese command said today that its planes have made retaliatory raids against Viet Cong units that fired on South Vietnamese forces from inside Cambodia, but it denied that its forces are conducting operations beyond the frontier.

"South Vietnamese forces have orders to always respect the neutrality, territorial integrity and sovereignty of Cambodia and no Republic of Vietnam forces can conduct operations in Cambodia," a statement said.

The declaration was intended to refute news reports of fighting by South Vietnamese ground and air forces inside Cambodia during the past week. The reports came from official sources.

In Saigon, opposition newspapers and politicians are unleashing verbal attacks on President Nguyen Van Thieu, accusing him and his government of incompetence in dealing with deepening national problems.

The criticisms focus on Thieu's failure to stabilize the South Vietnamese economy, his handling of restive students and disabled veterans and his plans to request special executive powers from the National Assembly.

"Nothing is easier and simpler than saying that there is a Communist hand in a popular struggle," charged one newspaper. "We hope the leaders of this country will not sink into the old rut. They should stop taking the easy way out and labeling the present struggles as Communist, for by doing so they unwittingly place the Communists on the side of the people."

In Laos, Premier Souvanna Phouma once again said U.S. bombing of Communist forces in his country will not stop until the withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops.

"We are ready to cease the bombing if the North Vietnamese withdraw," he told a group of visiting journalists.

Israeli Planes Hit Village, Killing Six

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israeli planes strafed a village in the north Jordan Valley today, killing six civilians and wounding 10, a military spokesman in Amman claimed.

Two children were among the victims of the 20-minute machine gun attack on north Shuneh village by two Mystere jets, the spokesman said. He added that two of the wounded civilians were in critical condition.

The Israeli planes also strafed the nearby village of El Sukkar for 10 minutes, the spokesman said, but no casualties were reported.

The Israeli military command announced that its jets attacked Egyptian military targets in the central and southern sectors of the Suez Canal for 50 minutes today and made it home safely.

The Tel Aviv command also claimed that Arab guerrillas in Lebanon and Jordan had loosed Katyusha rockets on five Israeli settlements, but said only one settler was wounded.

Israeli troops and Arab guerrillas traded mortar and bazooka fire across the Jordan frontier throughout the night, the Israelis said. No damage or casualties were reported.

The rocket attacks shattered a three-month undeclared cease-fire on heavy weapons exchanges across the Jordan River, scene of numerous clashes last year.

The two top commanders of the Soviet fleet in the Black Sea arrived in Cairo without previous announcement and were reported to have met Thursday night with President Gamal Abdel Nasser. Egypt's official Middle East News Agency said the Russians were Adm. Susilov and his deputy, Adm. Ridimirov.

Court Upholds Gun Carrying

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A San Francisco requirement that police officers carry guns at all times, even when off duty, was upheld Thursday by the State District Court of Appeals.

The three-man court unanimously rejected the contention of William J. Stribling and a group of Negro plaintiffs that the practice is dangerous and should be forbidden.

"There is nothing on the face of the regulation which shows that it is intended for anything but the protection of the public, including possible victims of whatever race, and of the officers, too," said the decision written by Justice Preston Devine.

Stribling had cited incidents in which off-duty officers allegedly used their guns to threaten others and, in one case, accidentally wounded a neighbor.

Kirk Is Adamant In School Role

BRADENTON, Fla. (UPI)—Gov. Claude Kirk resumed command of the Manatee County school system with a guard of 80 state troopers today and awaited the federal government's next move to force implementation of a desegregation plan he is ignoring.

Kirk visited his wife and newborn son in Tallahassee early this morning, then flew to Bradenton. At dawn, he marched into the county school administration building and went to the second-floor superintendent's office.

Near Kirk's office was an 80-seat auditorium filled with plainclothes officers—most of them Florida Highway Patrolmen. There were no weapons in sight.

Kirk has defied a federal court order to desegregate Manatee's schools with a cross-busing plan that would force some students to attend school 12 miles from their homes.

Kirk is trying to force the issue before the U.S. Supreme Court.

Kirk told newsmen this morning he was "busy, busy, busy," but added "Everything is moving smoothly. "We're just educating the children like a school system is supposed to."

Kirk insisted he wasn't going to submit to arrest.

"There ain't nobody better put a hand on ol' Claude Jr.," said the millionaire Republican governor. "Whoever wants to arrest the governor must rassle the governor."

A Kirk aide termed as "absolutely ridiculous, ludicrous," a report that federal marshals "will be fired upon" if they try to make arrests at the schools.

Despite pleas from the Nixon administration to "please stop this," Kirk aggressively pushed for a showdown with the federal courts on the issue of forced busing to achieve classroom integration. He took over the Manatee County school system for a second time Wednesday and then he and his aides personally manned the administration building Thursday.

U.S. District Judge Ben Krentzman ordered Kirk to appear at a hearing in Tampa today to show cause why he shouldn't be cited for contempt for defying Krentzman's desegregation order, which requires the busing of students.

Kirk challenged Krentzman's authority to "order the sovereign head of a sovereign state to appear personally," and said he would send former Gov. Millard Caldwell, an ex-state supreme court justice, in his stead.

Kirk's actions have caused frustration among Manatee County school authorities and "confusion" among children, who are uncertain over which school to report to. But much of the citizenry appears to be behind the governor.

"If Claude Kirk tells the voters of Manatee County tomorrow he is running for God, he would get 95 per cent of the vote," said one man.

When Kirk's aides took over the schools Thursday morning, U.S. marshals ordered them under arrest. The aides locked themselves in a room in the administration building where they remained Thursday night. Marshals declared them arrested.

A Justice Department spokesman in Washington said Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell, assistant Atty. Gen. Jerris Leonard and other high administration officials have talked to the governor repeatedly, "imploring him to stop this."

U.S. attorney John Briggs, acting as a friend of the court, said an emissary from Kirk met with him to try to work out a truce. He said the unidentified man called the Bradenton school office where Kirk's men had set up headquarters behind locked doors.

"He was white faced when he turned away from the telephone," Briggs said. The man told Briggs federal marshals "will be fired upon" if they try to make arrests.

Dooley Hoffman, a Kirk aide in Bradenton, said he did not even want to "dignify the charge with a reply. It's absolutely ridiculous, ludicrous."

Briggs said he did not know who made the statement to the emissary.

of Browns Lane was recommended.

Much of the report's 40 pages dealt with preservation of the basin's pastoral environment and encouraged recreational development as the best financial investment.

Revenue could be gained, the group said, through construction of additional boat-launching facilities. And by controlling pollution through improved sewage treatment and monitoring, more fishermen would be encouraged to use the river, substantially increasing the estimated sum of $100,000 spent by anglers on their sport each year.

The group also said a development such as Brannan Island State Park in the San Joaquin Delta, which drew 190,000 visitors in 1967 and whose use continues to grow at a rate of about 10 per cent each year, would be a boon to the business community.

Through use of easements and special purchase plans, the group urged acquisition of Neil's Island as a park with limited boating (as recommended in the Sonoma County Recreational Plan); acquisition of greenbelts adjacent to residential developments; acquisition and development of a park, possibly with a restaurant, riding stables and swimming pool, on the east side of the river from Lakeville area south to Hog Island; creation of a lake, supplied by water from Adobe Creek and other sources, for recreational use; provision for bicycle and hiking trails throughout the area, and preservation of main marsh areas, vital to the area's diverse wildlife.

The report also endorsed development of marinas near the mouth of the river and at large residential developments.

River dredging, pending a plan for disposition of spoils, should be minimized for ecological reasons, the report indicated. It noted that the river had long been used for shipment of commerce, largely by petroleum firms, but added that poor channel depth and width had retarded the growth of such activity. Businesses along the river banks now lean more heavily on truck transit, the report said.

Brother Was Indicted

An article in Thursday's Independent-Journal erred in saying Edward Jones of 81 Lakeside Drive, Corte Madera, had been indicted by a federal grand jury for refusing to step forward for the oath of induction to the Army. It was Edward's brother, Leland H. Jones who had refused, the boy's father reported yesterday.

will take his case to the people —especially in those states where senators who voted against the nominations are up for reelection.

Nineteen Democrats who voted against Carswell will be running. Three of them — Albert Gore of Tennessee, Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas and Quentin N. Burdick of North Dakota —are from states with conservative constituencies.

Southern senators, most of whom fought hard for Haynsworth and Carswell, took Nixon's announcement calmly.

"It's all right with me as long as he gets a good man," said Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La. "I don't give a damn where he comes from."

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said it was more important to get a strict constructionist and balance the court than whether the nominee is from the South.

Two southerners, Sens. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and William B. Spong Jr., D-Va., disagreed with Nixon's conclusion a southerner cannot pass Senate muster or that regionalism led to the twin defeats.

"I think regional aspects were of no importance," Fulbright said. "I could suggest some southerners I am quite sure would pass with little difficulty."

Spong said today on NBC-TV's Today Show that "perhaps there is some southern bias —I hope not —but I believe very firmly" that Carswell would have been confirmed if his qualifications had been comparable to those of Haynsworth. He said he did not believe the Senate would reject a new nominee simply because he was a southern conservative.

Like Fulbright, Spong voted against Carswell —the only southerners besides Gore to do so. Spong conceded that "my mail has been pretty bad" as a result of his action.

Gore said there are "many eminent southern judges, lawyers and legal scholars" who could gain confirmation to the court —such as federal judges William E. Miller of Tennessee and J. P. Coleman of Mississippi.

The other Tennessee senator, Republican freshman Howard H. Baker Jr., sided with Nixon, saying he was convinced there was "some bias" against the South in the Senate and that it probably was sufficient in the close vote on Carswell to make the difference.

Nixon, in a personally-delivered statement with Mitchell at his side, said Haynsworth and Carswell were subjected to "vicious and unwarranted" attacks.

When all the hypocrisy is stripped away, Nixon said, "It is their philosophy and the accident of their birth" that caused their rejection by the Senate.

"The people of the South deserve to be represented," Nixon said and noted that although 25 per cent of the people live in the South only one southerner, Hugo Black, is on the high court.

1859 Blaze Mark Given To Museum

An imprint of an old blaze mark, first carved into a redwood tree in Novato in 1859, was turned over to the Marin County Historical Society this morning by Donald Thomas of the Marin County Department of Public Works.

Thomas, assistant civil engineer, said he carved into a redwood tree on a ridge above Stafford Lake to find the blazed boundary mark, one of the corners of the Old Rancho Corte Madera de Novato, which was surveyed in July 1859. The location of the tree was identified by George Grossi, who owns a large ranch around Stafford Lake.

The bark had grown over the blaze mark about six inches thick since the last time surveyors exposed the mark in 1930.

The slab of bark, with a reverse imprint of the letters "CN-18" was turned over to the historical society for safe keeping.

The county department of public works is surveying the area because the county has purchased 64 acres from Grossi for Stafford Lake Park and has an option to buy 65 more acres.

Woman Reports Attack Attempt

A 36-year-old Mill Valley woman told sheriff's deputies yesterday that a man followed her car across Golden Gate Bridge, twice tried to force her off Highway 101 and finally made her stop on Shoreline Highway and then threatened her at gunpoint.

The woman said that the man waved a gun at her and said he wanted to take her to Mount Tamalpais and rape her.

The woman flagged down a newspaper delivery truck driver who accompanied her to where he had seen two deputy sheriff's cars. The deputies were unable, however, to locate the man who was described as about 25 years old with sandy hair and driving a 1966 Simca.

Teamster Strike Hits Novato's Phone Books

Distribution of Western California Telephone Co.'s directories in Novato has been delayed because of the Teamster strike, according to manager Gordon L. Lee.

The directories are tied up in a warehouse in Santa Monica and the company is trying for a court order to get them out, Lee said. They were scheduled to start distribution yesterday, but the directories did not arrive, he said.

Bomb Hoax Halts Business Briefly

A bomb hoax at the Emporium in Northgate Shopping Center briefly interrupted service in the menswear section of the first floor, police reported today.

On receipt of an anonymous call at 9:15 a.m. that a bomb was to go off at 10:15 a.m., store officials closed the threatened section from 10 a.m. until the time announced for detonation had passed, police reported.

Sewage Plant To Open Doors For Ecology Week

The Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District board last night decided to open the district's treatment plant to the public April 26 as part of National Environmental Teach-in Week, Lelia C. Sayers, district secretary reported today.

The plant will be open from noon to 4:30 p.m. to give the public an explanation of sewage treatment and water pollution.

The board last night also discussed plans for the construction of two force mains this summer and directed J. Warren Nute, district engineer, to prepare plans and specifications so that bids can be called for in June.

Sewer line plans for Roundtree Unit 1, a condominium development in Marinwood, were reviewed, and the board determined that they met district standards.

The board adjourned until 7:30 p.m. April 23.

No Contest To Shooting Count

After her trial had started in Marin Superior Court, a 55-year-old Novato woman yesterday decided to plead no contest to a charge of shooting her husband during a quarrel last July.

Judge Thomas F. Keating set sentencing for Constance Abercrombie for May 25 on the felony charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

She was accused of shooting her husband, Robert, a retired Army major, in the back.

Mrs. Abercrombie was treated for an overdose of pills after the shooting, and her husband was hospitalized with a bullet wound.

COBINA WRIGHT

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Cobina Wright, a society columnist who began her career with the exclusive American coverage of Queen Elizabeth's marriage, died Thursday at Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Miss Wright was hospitalized Easter Sunday following a stroke. Funeral arrangements were pending.

Born Elaine Cobb on an Oregon ranch, she was often described as being "of undetermined age and very determined character."

Miss Wright was a columnist with the Hearst-owned Los Angeles Herald-Examiner.

Her daughter Cobina Jr.'s highly-publicized teen-age romance with Prince Philip led to a close friendship between the two families. She later became the only private American citizen to be invited to his marriage to Queen Elizabeth II, and she received her first bylines for Hearst publications from her coverage of the event.

She first married children's book author Owen Johnson, and after a divorce was wed to millionaire socialite William May Wright. Her fame as a hostess grew in the 1920s as the Wright's entertained friends from "The 400" of society and politics."

Their last great party came on the night of the stock market crash in 1929, which they gave only hours before learning they had lost $4 million.

Liz, Richard Deny Any Split

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — Elizabeth Taylor and husband Richard Burton arrived in this small resort town Thursday night aboard a private jet and denied rumors of a possible divorce.

"Stories about a divorce are completely false," Miss Taylor said. "The rumors were invented by the press."

The Burtons made the flight from Hollywood where they had attended the Oscar ceremonies.

They were accompanied by actor Richard Bruck, actress Elizabeth Williams and a friend identified as Jim Benton aboard the craft owned by Frank Sinatra.

Miss Taylor said she and Burton, "Sons of the Sierras" and here before starting a new picture to be filmed in the area.

Humanities Dean Resigns

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — James R. Wilson has resigned as dean of the School of Humanities at San Francisco State College, saying President S. I. Hayakawa asked him to quit.

Hayakawa said, "I did not ask Dean Wilson's resignation. I did suggest last January that, in view of the troubles at the school of humanities the last four years, he consider stepping aside to allow someone else to assume the burden."

Wilson said Thursday he plans to return to teaching duties on campus Sept. 1.

Joaquin Miller's Daughter Dies

OAKLAND (AP) — Juanita Miller, 90, daughter of poet Joaquin Miller, died Thursday night at the Miller family residence.

Miss Miller, who was married twice, was an early feminist and was known in the 1920s for her Bohemian ways.

Miller, who died in 1913, wrote the poem "Columbus, a collection "Sons of the Sierras" and other works.

New Marathon Race Pitch Before Tiburon

The race director of the Golden Gate Marathon, which backers hope will become known as the West Coast's annual answer to the Boston Marathon, will go before the Tiburon City Council Monday to ask it to reverse itself and grant permission for the race to pass through the Peninsula city

The Memorial Day foot race had been slated to begin at Paradise Beach County Park, wind through Tiburon, Strawberry, Mill Valley, Sausalito and cross the Golden Gate Bridge to the finish line in San Francisco's marina district. The distance must exceed 26 miles and 385 yards to qualify the race as a marathon.

Richard W. Perry said yesterday that plans for the race, sponsored by the Amateur Athletic Union and Runners World Magazine, have been adjusted to answer objections raised at the March 23 city council meeting.

These included traffic and spectator congestion and the length of time the expected 300 to 500 runners would be passing through Tiburon.

Perry said the starting time had been advanced an hour to 8:30 a.m. and the runners should be through the city 45 minutes later.

"We sent a letter Tuesday asking the council to reconsider in view of the fact that the city manager, his assistant and the chief of police have approved the route," Perry said.

The letter also reminded the council that the Marin County Board of Supervisors and all other cities on the route have approved the race. "Belevedere was very enthusiastic about it," Perry said, "and even asked us to notify its schools so the children could watch the runners."

This would not be possible if Perry takes the Tiburon council's suggestion and reroutes the race along Trestle Glen Boulevard to avoid the city.

"We originally were turned down by Sausalito, which was worried about the traffic congestion," Perry said, "but we worked things out with them. I feel we can do the same in Tiburon."

Wayne Finally Reaches Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon had a hard time congratulating John Wayne on winning an Oscar as best actor for his role in "True Grit."

A White House spokesman said the President placed a call to Wayne Wednesday but couldn't reach him. Then Wayne tried to return the White House call but couldn't reach the president.

Nixon was cruising the Potomac aboard a Navy yacht with Atty. Gen. John Mitchell.

When the president returned to the White House he returned Wayne's call. That time the two connected.

The White House spokesman said Wayne was the only Oscar winner the President called, because of Wayne's "long reign in Hollywood in Western and adventure pictures."

Collision Slightly Injures Driver

Two drivers told police they would see their own physicians for treatment of injuries received yesterday in a two-car collision in San Rafael.

The drivers were Brian Charles Slattery, 17, of 316 Knight Drive, San Rafael and Burt Caley Wiley, 36, of 240 Montego Key, Novato, police reported.

The accident occurred at 10:44 a.m. at Fourth and Union streets, according to police.

McCartney's Beatle Split Is Official

LONDON (AP) — Paul McCartney announced today that he's split from the Beatles but said he may be back.

This first open rift in the world's top pop group was announced from Apple, the company which manages Beatle affairs.

Paul, 27-year-old song writer, lead guitar and singer, blamed the break on "personal differences, business differences, musical differences—but most of all because I have a better time with my family."

McCartney is married to an American, Linda Eastman. They have a 7-month-old daughter, Mary, and Linda has another daughter, Heather, by an earlier marriage.

McCartney's statement, issued alongside his first solo album, said he does not know whether the rift is permanent or temporary.

The Beatles as a group have one more LP in the can for release next month. It is doubtful whether they will ever record together again.

Officials at Apple have long resisted any suggestion that Beatledom had reached its end. Then Mavis Smith, the company's spokesman, admitted today that it has been months since McCartney saw John Lennon, his song-writing partner, and the other Beatles, Ringo Starr and George Harrison.

Sonoma State Thaws Funds For Paper; Editor On Pan

By BONNIE BARD

Sonoma State college president Ambros R. Nichols Jr. yesterday thawed the freeze on funds for the controversial student newspaper, Cossack Steppes, as the communications commission put heat on the editor.

After receiving word that Nichols had freed the publication funds, the commission met to hear grievances against editor Stan De Witt, but stopped short of firing him. A motion to do so failed in a 4-4 vote, with one student joining three faculty advisers in favor of firing and four students opposed.

A half-hour before the scheduled meeting, Nichols agreed to release the funds so that the commission could resume responsibility for the newspaper he considered offensive, and could exercise its authority over it.

Students presented petitions with 200 names and repeated grievances aired Tuesday that the militant newspaper did not represent them.

Jeff Teather of Tiburon said the newspaper had violated the college communications code as well as the broader cannons of journalism ethics.

He said he objected to the slogan "smash the state" used under the masthead and said letters criticizing editorial policy had been cut to alter their meaning.

Student Otto Good said he wanted to see a newspaper that would unify the campus rather than polarize it. He said that news from all segments of the college should be included and not just a small portion.

Dr. Mildred Dikeman, commission member, accused De Witt of violating the provisions under which he was appointed by the commission. She said she felt he had deliberately tried to antagonize the State College Board of Trustees with inflammatory columns and obscene language.

De Witt defended his editorial policies and said the slogan "smash the state" was only a figure of speech and likened it to the "bloodbath" statement made by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"Are you concerned that you're provoking them (the trustees)?" Dr. Dikeman asked.

"Im concerned that they're oppressing people," De Witt responded, saying that tuition would be designed to keep black and brown people out of college.

Unsatisfied with De Witt's justification, Dr. Dikeman made a motion to fire the editor and to open the job for applicants.

Joining her in voting to oust De Witt were Terry Sovel, Student Senate Representative; Robert S. Lipman, public information; and Jann Kalbaugh, director of student activities.

The other half of the commission voting to retain De Witt were students T. Jeffrey Hughes, Tony Joyce, Julio Valenzuelo and student body president James Gillette.

After defeating the motion, the commission considered ways of keeping closer control of each edition, but could not agree on a method and adjourned.

Earlier in the day, before funds were released, the board of directors of the associated students considered a lawsuit to force the release.

Gillette said later he still felt the student would have a case in court and could seek an order restraining any college president and the trustees from withdrawing student funds from students.

While most board members voted for an investigation of a lawsuit, there was a split opinion on the value of spending already low student funds in a court battle where success was questionable.

San Francisco Typographical Union Local 21, which has been on strike against the Independent-Journal since Jan. 7, has scheduled an informational picket line for 6:30 to 9 p.m. today at the Emporium in the Northgate Shopping Center.

The union seeks to persuade Northgate stores to stop advertising in the Independent-Journal.

Pioneering Heart Surgery Saves Santa Rosa Builder

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — During a patient's heart attack, doctors say they have performed a bypass operation — the insertion of a transplanted vein as a detour for a blocked coronary artery.

A team of surgeons at Presbyterian Hospital said Charles Smith, 47, a Santa Rosa land developer, most likely would've died without the operation Tuesday. He was in fair condition today and physicians said his prospect is "for a normal, active life."

A cardiologist, Dr. William T. Armstrong Jr., said bypass operations are used commonly on patients who are recovering safely from attacks. He said this was the first case he knew of during a seizure.

Smith was transferred from Santa Rosa last week because of his ailing heart. Two of the three arteries to his heart were blocked and the third was narrowing fast Tuesday when he and his wife agreed to the operation. Doctors told them the risk would be tremendous.

Before such an operation, an X-ray photograph discovers the location of fatty material and clots of blood blocking arteries near the heart.

If an operation is needed, the surgeon removes a short length of vein from the patient's leg and sews it in place at the site of the coronary artery to carry blood to nourish the heart muscle.

Doctors on the team were Dr. J. Donald Hill, a surgeon, and Dr. Charles M. Kelly, an internist from Warreck Hospital in Santa Rosa and Dr. William T. Armstrong Jr., a cardiologist.

Beard Files For Sausalito Recall

Brian W. Beard, Marin City Black Panther, filed his petition of candidacy papers yesterday for the Sausalito School District board's June 2 recall election.

Beard, 25, of 27 Buckelew Street, filed an hour and 40 minutes before the 5 p.m. deadline.

He seeks the board position from which the election proposes recall of David E. Freedheim.

Jerry L. Whitcomb filed earlier for the same position, and Delta Christ has filed for the seat held by Martha Freebairn-Smith, also a recall target.

Beard, who listed his occupation on the papers as a community affairs consultant, could not be reached today for comment on his candidacy.

He is a lifelong resident of Marin County, a graduate of Sausalito schools and Tamalpais High School and attended the College of Marin.

The candidate is a member of the Community Concerns Committee, a group established last year to assure the smooth functioning of Sausalito's Martin Luther King School and was one of the organizers of the Panther's breakfast program for children in the district.

Fires On Bolinas Ridge Ire Chief

An Oregon timber company, which is logging on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge, left several fires burning unattended this week, County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported today.

Bloom said he sent a letter yesterday to C. W. Fairbank, deputy state forester in Santa Rosa, complaining of violations by the firm of Mathews, Humbert and Walker. Both the county fire permit and the air pollution permit expired on April 1, said Bloom.

Bloom said he had to send in county bulldozers and county firemen to the Rghetti Ranch both Tuesday and Wednesday to put out fires that were smoldering on Bolinas Ridge.

On Tuesday, the chief found an open fire spreading toward a grove of redwood trees near the top of Bolinas Ridge. There was no one in attendance, and no fire break to check the flames.

"This fire was definitely started from the controlled burning which the logging company conducted about two or three weeks earlier," said Bloom.

He said he tried several telephone numbers but could not contact the loggers. He sent a bulldozer and two men to confine the fire to a two-acre area.

On Wednesday, he and Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest found several more fires near the top of Bolinas Ridge. A bulldozer, a tank truck, and four county firemen were dispatched to douse the fires.

"The area is extremely dry, and any uncontrolled fires could spread to Marin Municipal Water District lands or private lands adjacent to the Righetti property," said Bloom. He plans to send a bill to the logging firm or to the Righetti estate for the cost of putting out the fires.

Bloom said the cost of fire suppression may run from $750 to $1,000. He asked the county counsel to ask supervisors next Tuesday for approval to bill the loggers and to report on the violations.

Motorcycle Stolen

A red 1970 Yamaha motorcycle with license 984107 was stolen between Sunday and Wednesday from the garage of the owner, Donald D. Graessle at 15 G Street, San Rafael police reported today.

'Builders Park' Survives Neighborhood Complaints

The Terra Linda Recreation and Park District board last night decided to continue operating its experimental "builders park" at Munson Park, despite some protests.

Several of the park's neighbors described it as a "shanty town" and complained of the noise.

Other citizens spoke in favor of the park, bounded by Las Pavadas and Las Gallinas avenues, Manuel T. Freitas Parkway and Hickory Lane, Zonwice Mulhaupt, district general manager, reported.

Donated lumber at the park is used by children to construct forts and other impromptu creations.

The board last night also hired Frances Traina of 68 Duran Drive, Terra Linda, as recreation director at $650 a month. She will start working half-time April 15, three-quarters time May 1, and full-time June 1.

Discussion of the legality of a merger of the district with the Terra Linda Community Services District was postponed until 8 p.m. April 21.

The board also approved continuation of the district's senior citizens program for 1970-71.

Chairman Picked For Foundation

David Price Jones, president of the Novato Civic Foundatiion, last night was elected general chairman of the Citizens Park Bond Committee, according to Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director.

The committee worked on the argument for the June 2 ballot favoring the $2.9 million park bond issue. Jones and Adams will complete the argument and file it Monday with the county clerk, Adams said. That is the last date for filing arguments for or against a measure on the primary election.

The committee decided to create subcommittees, but did not name members. These committees will be finance, publicity, special events, brochure, youth coordination and telephone, Adams said.

Seminary Will Join In National

The library at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry Point, will participate in National Library Week next week with open house, a tea and special exhibits.

The library, located on the second floor of the administration building, will have open house Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., except for Wednesday when it will close at 5 p.m.

The tea in the conference room of the administration building will be from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Sign Problem Blocks Store Remodeling In Fairfax

The Fairfax Design Review Board rejected last night a proposed new store front for Fairfax Hardware, 1824 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

The board felt the whole store front would be used for a sign and would violate a proposed city sign ordinance, according to board secretary Marie Whissell.

The proposed ordinance bans signs over 100 square feet in area or more than one square foot for each four linear feet of store front. The proposal was judged by this standard in case the ordinance is passed. If it fails, the decisian may be appealed.

The board also approved a sign for a Standard Oil of California gas station at 2001 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and decided to meet with the town parks and recreation commission to discuss the proposed city park plan. No date was set for the meeting.

Bid Opening Is Set On Projects

The Gallinas Village Community Services District board last night approved bid specifications for plumbing and irrigation systems for the district's new Adrian Rosal Park.

According to Marguerite F. Clark, board secretary, the board hopes to complete grading and plumbing of the park before summer so it may be used as a playground.

Bids for the plumbing and irrigation work, which is estimated at $3,000, will be opened at an adjourned meeting April 30 at the Santa Venetia Presbyterian Church, she said.

TANZANITE

. . . an exciting story in the romance of beautiful gems.

TANZANITE was discovered at the foot of Mt. Kilimanjaro, Tanzania, in 1967 by an amateur prospector named Manuel d'Sousa. Harrassed by smugglers, until his death in 1969, the output has been diverted and limited. Now the Tanzanian government has stepped into the matter and the future supply of this gem is unpredictable. Masai tribesmen living in Tanzania used to pick up the stones because they liked the rich blue color that gave off sparkles of red and purple. TANZANITE is the first natural gem discovery in fifty years and is shown in very few stores in this country.

Ross Employees Get 7.5 Pct. Cost-Of-Living Pay Increase

Ross Town Council last night granted town employees a belated 7.5 per cent cost-of-living pay raise.

The pay hike, effective April 1, was the raise for the 1969-70 fiscal year, not the coming fiscal year, explained Councilman Roy Farrington Jones.

When the council adopted its budget last August there was no cost-of-living pay increase, but at that time Mayor Frederick S. Allen felt the matter should be reviewed in January.

Last night the mayor proposed the raises saying "we're way overdue," and the cost for the remainder of the fiscal year would be $1,464.

Jones contended that cost-of-living pay raises should be granted at the start of the fiscal year "for the sake of morale."

The pay boost came after a preliminary review of tentative police and fire department budgets for the 1970-71 fiscal year, which included cost of living pay raises.

The proposed police budget carried a 7.5 per cent hike and Fire Chief Charles Pinza asked for a 10 per cent hike for firemen.

Councilman Ralph C. Walker, chairman of the council's finance committee, said in view of the 7.5 per cent hike granted last night, department heads should reconsider their pay requests for the coming fiscal year.

Jones warned of bills before the state legislature which would cause cities financial problems, particularly one setting mandatory retirement for public safety employees at 50.

"We've got to watch Sacramento," said Mayor Allen.

Jones said there also was a bill to take away from cities their share of fines and forfeitures, "which would impose another burden on municipal taxpayers."

Behr Condemns Campus Violence

I-J Special Report

NAPA — Peter H. Behr, candidate for the Republican nomination for state Senate, last night called for immediate expulsion and trial of students "proven guilty" of campus violence.

Behr, speaking at an open house at his Napa campaign headquarters, denounced campus violence as a "festering sore on the face of America."

"By committing themselves to the destruction of property, campus revolutionaires have abused their right to dissent," Behr said.

"California cannot stand wave after wave of militancy; we cannot permit a small band of campus radicals to take over and destroy our educational institutions," he declared.

"Campus militants — if proven guilty — should be expelled from our colleges and brought immediately to trial," Behr said.

San Rafael Fire Budget Hiked To Hire More Men

A fire department operating budget of $874,469 for the 1970-71 fiscal year has been recommended by the San Rafael Fire Commission.

The budget request, submitted by Fire Chief Vance Trivett, represents about a $120,000 increase over the current operating budget.

According to James C. McCown, San Rafael city manager, the additional revenues are proposed for the hiring of two more firemen in July and six more in January.

A breakdown of the proposed budget indicated $797,476 in salaries, $77,533 in materials and supplies, $29,420 in holiday pay and $3,220 for replacement of fire hoses.

The commission also refused Wednesday to support a recommendation to the city council from the firemen's association that the firemen's work week be cut from 63 hours to 60 hours.

Beard Files For Sausalito Recall

Brian W. Beard, Marin City Black Panther, filed his petition of candidacy papers yesterday for the Sausalito School District board's June 2 recall election.

Beard, 25, of 27 Buckelew Street, filed an hour and 40 minutes before the 5 p.m. deadline.

He seeks the board position from which the election proposes recall of David E. Freedheim.

Jerry L. Whitcomb filed earlier for the same position, and Delta Christ has filed for the seat held by Martha Freebairn-Smith, also a recall target.

Beard, who listed his occupation on the papers as a community affairs consultant, could not be reached today for comment on his candidacy.

He is a lifelong resident of Marin County, a graduate of Sausalito schools and Tamalpais High School and attended the College of Marin.

The candidate is a member of the Community Concerns Committee, a group established last year to assure the smooth functioning of Sausalito's Martin Luther King School and was one of the organizers of the Panther's breakfast program for children in the district.

Fires On Bolinas Ridge Ire Chief

An Oregon timber company, which is logging on the Ethel Righetti Ranch on Bolinas Ridge, left several fires burning unattended this week, County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom reported today.

Bloom said he sent a letter yesterday to C. W. Fairbank, deputy state forester in Santa Rosa, complaining of violations by the firm of Mathews, Humbert and Walker. Both the county fire permit and the air pollution permit expired on April 1, said Bloom.

Bloom said he had to send in county bulldozers and county firemen to the Rghetti Ranch both Tuesday and Wednesday to put out fires that were smoldering on Bolinas Ridge.

On Tuesday, the chief found an open fire spreading toward a grove of redwood trees near the top of Bolinas Ridge. There was no one in attendance, and no fire break to check the flames.

"This fire was definitely started from the controlled burning which the logging company conducted about two or three weeks earlier," said Bloom.

He said he tried several telephone numbers but could not contact the loggers. He sent a bulldozer and two men to confine the fire to a two-acre area.

On Wednesday, he and Deputy County Counsel Joseph A. Forest found several more fires near the top of Bolinas Ridge. A bulldozer, a tank truck, and four county firemen were dispatched to douse the fires.

"The area is extremely dry, and any uncontrolled fires could spread to Marin Municipal Water District lands or private lands adjacent to the Righetti property," said Bloom. He plans to send a bill to the logging firm or to the Righetti estate for the cost of putting out the fires.

Bloom said the cost of fire suppression may run from $750 to $1,000. He asked the county counsel to ask supervisors next Tuesday for approval to bill the loggers and to report on the violations.

A red 1970 Yamaha motorcycle with license 984107 was stolen between Sunday and Wednesday from the garage of the owner, Donald D. Graessle at 15 G Street, San Rafael police reported today.

'Builders Park' Survives Neighborhood Complaints

The Terra Linda Recreation and Park District board last night decided to continue operating its experimental "builders park" at Munson Park, despite some protests.

Several of the park's neighbors described it as a "shanty town" and complained of the noise.

Other citizens spoke in favor of the park, bounded by Las Pavadas and Las Gallinas avenues, Manuel T. Freitas Parkway and Hickory Lane, Zonwice Mulhaupt, district general manager, reported.

Donated lumber at the park is used by children to construct forts and other impromptu creations.

The board last night also hired Frances Traina of 68 Duran Drive, Terra Linda, as recreation director at $650 a month. She will start working half-time April 15, three-quarters time May 1, and full-time June 1.

Discussion of the legality of a merger of the district with the Terra Linda Community Services District was postponed until 8 p.m. April 21.

The board also approved continuation of the district's senior citizens program for 1970-71.

Chairman Picked For Foundation

David Price Jones, president of the Novato Civic Foundatiion, last night was elected general chairman of the Citizens Park Bond Committee, according to Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director.

The committee worked on the argument for the June 2 ballot favoring the $2.9 million park bond issue. Jones and Adams will complete the argument and file it Monday with the county clerk, Adams said. That is the last date for filing arguments for or against a measure on the primary election.

The committee decided to create subcommittees, but did not name members. These committees will be finance, publicity, special events, brochure, youth coordination and telephone, Adams said.

Seminary Will Join In National

The library at Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry Point, will participate in National Library Week next week with open house, a tea and special exhibits.

The library, located on the second floor of the administration building, will have open house Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., except for Wednesday when it will close at 5 p.m.

The tea in the conference room of the administration building will be from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

There will be an art exhibit in the library including work of pre-school children from the Seminary nursery school, and an exhibit of rare stones, a collection from around the world by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burdett of Vacaville.

The board felt the whole store front would be used for a sign and would violate a proposed city sign ordinance, according to board secretary Marie Whissell.

The proposed ordinance bans signs over 100 square feet in area or more than one square foot for each four linear feet of store front. The proposal was judged by this standard in case the ordinance is passed. If it fails, the decisian may be appealed.

The board also approved a sign for a Standard Oil of California gas station at 2001 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, and decided to meet with the town parks and recreation commission to discuss the proposed city park plan. No date was set for the meeting.

According to Marguerite F. Clark, board secretary, the board hopes to complete grading and plumbing of the park before summer so it may be used as a playground.

Teachers Enter The Strike Scene

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Continuing strikes by truckers have resulted in a Chicago lockout, layoffs in several Midwestern cities and brought scattered instances of violence.

In other fields there was a teachers' strike in Minneapolis and threats of similar walkouts in three other cities, and a continuing "sick out" by some air traffic controllers.

Five Chicago trucking associations ordered 32,000 drivers locked out today after a sixth carriers' group signed a contract providing pay hikes 50 per cent higher than a tentative national settlement.

Other truckers dissatisfied with the national agreement struck several major Midwestern industrial centers. These combined with other continuing wildcat strikes to force layoffs of 32,000 workers in Cleveland, Detroit and St. Louis.

Violence connected with the strikes broke out in scattered sections of the nation.

Six employes of a Cleveland trucking firm were arrested in Painesville, Ohio, after a bullet struck a rented truck driven by management trainees of a rubber firm transporting tires. In Huron County, four rear tires on a moving truck were shot out, and police investigated reports of tire punctures on rigs parked at a truck stop.

In Gary, Ind., a night watchman was beaten at a freight terminal. Teamsters in the city were picketing the city's three big steel mills. Police said they were puzzled because the terminal was not bucking the picket line.

A Teamsters local at Kansas City ordered pickets removed from several truck terminals but only one terminal was planning to resume operations. Spokesmen for other terminals said that because of tie-ups in other cities, it was not feasible to put the trucks back on the road.

In Washington, D. C., Teamsters Union and trucking industry officials said they were standing by the tentative contract they worked out. It provides a $1.10 an hour wage increase over three years.

In the newest labor development, 3,400 striking Minneapolis school teachers crippled the city's 99-school system and teachers prepared to strike or walk out in Los Angeles, Muskogee, Okla., and Butte, Mont.

In the 653-000-pupil Los Angeles district, the nation's second largest, teachers voted yesterday overwhelmingly to strike Monday over demands for a six per cent wage hike. It would be the district's first major strike. The board of education has offered a five per cent hike.

Meanwhile in Santa Maria, Calif., high school teachers called a walkout to discuss ways to boost the educational quality and their salaries in view of a financial crisis. The faculty association, however, said the move was not a strike, but a "professional day" to air the problems with the public at an all-day meeting.

The Minneapolis teachers struck in defiance of state law and a court order. They demanded increased pay and smaller classes.

Issues in the other prospective teacher strikes ranged from salary demands to desegregation policies.

The 17-day-old air traffic controllers strike has led to layoffs of 1,700 employes of Trans World and United airlines.

The controllers said they are absent due to "sickness" caused by inadequate manpower and obsolete equipment. Their absence continued to cause delays, cancellations and airline loses reported at over $5 million a day.

Postal workers, who ended a strike when they were promised a 14 per cent pay increase, were among the federal employes covered by a 6 per cent raise Congress is expected to pass.

However, some militants in the New York postal union locals have expressed unhappiness at government plans to tie the second 8 per cent segment of their raise to postal reform. They threatened to renew their strike if the entire raise isn't enacted by April 30.

In New York newspaper negotiations, 2 of the 10 unions have issued strike threats, one of them setting this weekend as the strike deadline.

The unions represent 13,000 employes at the city's four major daily newspapers. They have rejected an offer from publishers of a 16.5 per cent raise.

The only labor dispute which appeared to be diminishing was a railroad controversy.

President Nixon signed a bill designed to prevent a nationwide railroad shutdown Saturday when a congressional strike ban ends.

However, in Louisville, Ky., some railroad workers picketed to protest the legislation which imposes a settlement for the remainder of the year. The settlement was worked out by the parties last December, but rejected by one small union.

Ride Pooling Campaign To Open Monday

In an effort to cut down congestion and pollution, a campaign will be launched Monday to urge commuters to form car pools to travel across the Golden Gate Bridge.

The car pool drive, supported by the Golden Gate Bridge District, Pacific Commuters Association in Berkeley and Marin County Consolidated Plan, part of the Marin Ecology Center, will run Monday through Thursday, the latter designated as "Car Pool Day."

The car pooling, according to J. Patrick Goggins, of the ecology center's transportation committee, would be an effective measure to reduce traffic congestion and pollution until long range transit solutions can be implemented.

CO-ED TO HELP

The drive will open at 6 a.m. Monday, Goggins said, with co-eds from the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority House on the Berkeley campus of the University of California passing out questionnaires asking commuters their thoughts on the idea.

The forms will be passed out during morning rush hours through Wednesday, Goggins said. On Thursday, designed "Car Pool Day" it is hoped no one will drive alone across the bridge, he added.

RIDE FINDERS

Stands will be set up Thursday at five Marin shopping centers starting at 6 am.. to help drivers find riders to take into San Francisco, Goggins said. The stands will be at the Northgate, Montecito, Strawberry and Corte Madera shopping centers with another to be at a location to be announced, according to Goggins.

The Marin Ecology Center will award a scroll to the first car pool to be formed as a result of the campaign, Goggins said.

Tiburon Hearing On Downtown Plan

The Tiburon City Council will hold a public hearing on the general plan for downtown Tiburon when it meets Monday at 8 p.m. in the music room of Del Mar School.

The plan calls for a new harbor, an open waterfront area, an executive office park and a lodge conference center, among other recommendations. It suggests de-emphasis of visitors from outside the city.

Also on the agenda is a request by Richard W. Perry that the council grant permission for the first Golden Gate Marathon to pass through Tiburon May 30.

Street Number Drive Opens In Tam Valley

A program to provide visible street numbers in front of homes of Tamalpais Valley residents was given the go-ahead last night by the Tamalpais Volunteer Firemen's Association board, according to secretary David J. Gealey.

Gealey said the program which will begin next week, was initiated by the volunteer firemen because many home numbers are difficult to see, making them hard to locate in case of fire.

Gealey said residents will be able to purchase the reflective numbers at both Tamalpais fire stations at a discount rate and the signs will be installed free by volunteers.

The board agreed to contact all Tamalpais Valley residents to inform them of the program.

The Tamalpais Valley Volunteer Firemen's association board also:

INSURANCE—Asked Bernard Lenhart, a Tamalpais Fire Protection District commissioner to investigate the possibility of insurance for volunteer firemen.

SECOND DRILL—Voted to establish a second weekly drill on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. for members who cannot attend the department's Saturday drills.

INCORPORATION—Heard a report on incorporation procedures by Robert Quinn. Gealey said the association is considering incorporation and seeking tax exempt status.

Zanzibar recently levied a $7,200 tax on anyone who marries an island woman and tries to take her away. The measure is designed to prevent women from leaving, as the island's last census showed more men than women.

College Moving Sewer Sludge After Complaints

A 50-ton pile of treated sewage residue behind Adeline Kent School, which has drawn odor complaints, is being moved away from the school, a College of Marin official said today.

Don Thwaites, supervisor of plant facilities at the college said the pile would be completely moved by Monday.

Kent School officials had complained of the odor and flies attracted by the pile, Thwaites said.

He said the pile, and another by the college's football field, were obtained free from the Ross Valley Sanitary District for use as fertilizer.

The college saves $4,000 to $5,000 a year by using the sludge instead of commercial fertilizer, and has been doing so for the last five or six years, he said.

Thwaites said the sanitary district also saves the cost of having the sludge hauled away.

When it dries out, he said, the odor is less offensive than that of commercial fertilizer.

Student's Faculty Put Panel On Grill Over Nursing Chief's Role

In a ladylike way, students and instructors of College of Marin's registered nursing program held the college trustees' feet to the fire last night.

But the Marin Junior College District board hastily pulled its digits from the heat and moved onto cooler topics.

Both students and faculty submitted letters to the board asking that the new head of the program be classified as an administrator, not a faculty member.

If a faculty salary is offered, "it is very unlikely" a qualified person can be found, the faculty wrote. The faculty recommended the position be assigned the rank of assistant dean and that five health occupation programs be combined.

The salary and rank question led directly to the resignation March 19 of Shirley Conklin, head of the registered nursing program since 1964. Miss Conklin resigned saying her salary had been frozen for two years and her status left in limbo somewhere between administration and faculty, although she was hired as an administrator.

She was hired to head a health services department like that now proposed by the faculty.

The board started to move past the agenda item with no discussion, but a nursing student spoke up, explaining that Miss Conklin had worked with no contract this year, and asking that the students' letter be read.

"Do we want to discuss it?" asked trustee Charles W. Gray in an undertone.

"We should assure the students of our regard for Miss Conklin," said acting chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy. "There is no reason to feel any lessening of support for our registered nursing program."

"I'm just mystified" by questions about the position, Gray said. "Will there be discussion at the appropriate time?"

"I'm sure there will," Mrs. Deedy said.

In its letter, the nursing faculty proposed combining registered nursing, vocational nursing, dental assisting, nurse aide and home health aide programs.

The students letter said that Miss Conklin's position has remained undefined for two and a half years although requests have been sent to administrators and committees for a decision.

"Miss Conklin has created a program in nursing education that remains a model for other associate degree programs throughout the country," the students wrote.

The faculty reaffirmed its "unequivocal support of an individual whom we view as a pioneer in associate degree nursing education" who has brought great prestige to the college, and recommended criteria for hiring a new coordinator.

Neither of the letters was read aloud, and the board moved on without taking action.

The board discussed a study now under way by two consultants from the state community colleges system on regional planning for Sonoma and Marin junior college districts.

A preliminary report is to be ready for the April 23 meeting, Supt.-President John A. Grasham said, and a final report may be ready May 7.

The Marin Junior College Board Also:

EMPLOYEES—Accepted the resignation of Dolores Lackie as principal clerk in the financial aids office and hired Kathryn Y. Campbell to replace her for $567 a month.

EQUIPMENT — Authorized applying for $62,260 in federal matching funds for classroom equipment under the National Defense Education Act.

POLICY—Added a paragraph to district philosophy in the policies and procedures handbook, stating "A recognition of the special role of the community college in providing educational programs, services, and opportunities for disadvantaged and minority groups within the community."

BIDS—Authorized seeking bids for relocating creekside utilities so phase 3A-1 of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project can proceed.

NORTH CAMPUS—Agreed reluctantly to seek bids for a tenant on the north campus site to improve security on the property. The board had wanted to pick someone to live on the property and guard it, but legal advisers indicated that would be illegal. Hiring a full-time guard would be too costly.

DROPOUTS — Received a study showing 7 per cent of regular students dropped out during fall semester last year, 16 per cent of special day students and 12 per cent of special night students. Dropouts were fewer than 1968 in the latter two categories. Tests showed 84 per cent of the regular students withdrawing normally could have been expected to get C grades or better had they stayed. Work and financial demands led 43 per cent of the dropouts from regular school to leave.

AIR CONDITIONER—Accepted a gift of an auto air conditioner from Grasham, to be installed in the car provided him by the district. An auto shop class has asked to install the air conditioner as a class project, Grasham said.

OCCUPATIONAL EDUCATION—Went on record opposing Assembly Bill 570, which would allow use of money now distributed evenly for local vocational programs to be diverted to regional occupational education centers or programs. The bill would not affect the proposed regional program in Marin, which is to be financed by an area-wide property tax.

TESTS—Agreed to charge $5 for administering the general educational developmental test.

Error Delays Approval Of Postal Pay Increase

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Final congressional approval of a pay raise for postal workers and other government workers, retroactive to New Year's week, has been delayed beyond the weekend by a typographical error.

The hangup came when the bill — containing the 6 per cent boost — negotiated with the government after an eight-day strike of several thousand postal workers — was passed by the House Thursday and sent to the Senate with an error that would have deleted increases for aides to members of Congress.

The bill would give postal workers an average increase of about $8.50 a week. Congressional employes would get up to $38 a week extra — all the increases dating back some 15 weeks, to Dec. 27.

The typo in the House-passed bill was corrected by the Senate but by then the House had adjourned for the weekend and will not be able to concur in the Senate correction until Monday.

MRS. MARTHA MITCHELL
'Crucify' Remark

Mrs. Mitchell Hires A Press Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Mrs. Martha Mitchell, wife of the attorney general, has hired a press aide in the midst of her latest controversy, generated by her 2 a.m. telephone call to a homestate newspaper.

She created a major stir Thursday when she telephoned the Arkansas Gazette and urged it to "crucify" Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., for his vote against the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell.

Mrs. Kay Woestendieck, former women's editor of the Houston Post, arrived at the Justice Department Thursday for a briefing from Attorney General John N. Mitchell and to look "at the correspondence file." She went on Mitchell's private payroll today, starting work in their elegant Watergate apartment on the Potomac at 9 a.m.

Blonde—like her bombastic new boss—Mrs. Woestendieck told a reporter, "I want to help her but I'm not clanging a bunch of gates shut. She's not going to quit seeing the press."

But her first unofficial action Thursday was to say Mrs. Mitchell did not wish to discuss the Carswell matter further.

16 Candidates File For Job Held By Leake

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO — Sixteen candidates have filed for the state Board of Equalization Third District seat being vacated by longtime incumbent Paul R. Leake of Yolo County, the secretary of state's office reported today.

Seven of the candidates' filings for the $25,000-a-year job were disclosed for the first time in the state report. They are Harry F. Sublett, West Sacramento businessman, Democrat; Teresa E. Mortara, Placerville housewife, American Independent, and five Republicans.

The GOP candidates are Charles N. Hamilton, Weaverville public accountant; Robert E. Mihalisin, West Sacramento businessman; George R. O'Connor, Red Bluff assessor; E. Paul Rogers, Fairfield public accountant, and Robert H. Smith Sr., Vallejo certified public accountant.

Sabbatical Fuss At College Finally Over

The College of Marin faculty offered last night to pay for next year's sabbatical leaves out of its own pocket, and the Marin Junior College District board agreed.

The board voted 4-1 to approve six proposed sabbaticals, ending a months-long deadlock which has caused at least one instructor to cancel part of his sabbatical plans.

The vote came after Thomas C. Place, president of the Academic Senate, presented results of a faculty referendum in which instructors voted that sabbaticals should be given higher priority in the coming budget than faculty salary step raises.

Sabbaticals would thus be given priority immediately below that of keeping the present faculty level.

The faculty voted by about 60-40 in favor of the plan, Place said, and the senate was unanimously in favor in a vote March 2.

Supt.-President John A. Grasham supported the sabbatical request, as he did at earlier meetings when the board split on whether to approve them.

Acting chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy cast the only vote against the sabbaticals, with Theodore C. Wellman, Harry J. Moore, Charles W. Gray and Donald K. Felt voting for them.

The sabbaticals had been scheduled for discussion again next month, but the five trustees agreed to reconsider last night after Place's presentation.

Gray and Felt were critical of an editorial in the senate's newsletter recommending a faculty strike in favor of sabbaticals, but Place said "I didn't come forward in this spirit. . .you're not under the threat of a strike in this meeting."

"It's their nickel," Felt said, and if the faculty wants to change priorities the board should go ahead.

Mrs. Deedy said her negative vote was only because of fiscal concern, not lack of support for sabbaticals. She questioned whether the board legally could freeze step increases since contracts for next year have to be changed by March 15 if changes are planned.

Gray voted for the leaves, but repeated his earlier objection that the instructors' proposed programs were not spelled out in enough detail to warrant the sabbaticals.

According to the College of Marin Times, James D. Donlon Jr., a business education instructor, had to cancel a planned six-week tour of the Soviet Union because approval of sabbaticals was delayed.

Cornerstone Club Formed By Museum

The Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum in San Rafael is organizing a Cornerstone Club to provide financial support for the museum.

Membership is by contribution of $110, reported Robert Minor, chairman.

A membership contribution will allow a couple to attend a candlelight dinner at 8 p.m. May 16 at Steinhart Aquarium in Golden Gate Park and tour the aquarium afterward.

There will be a cocktail hour in front of the dolphin tanks starting at 6:30 p.m. and members will have a private viewing of feeding time of the dolphins.

Members of the Cornerstone Club will have their name or name of their organization, displayed on a plaque at the museum, and will receive a picture of "George" the owl for home or office, Minor reported.

Residents interested in joining the club can get further information by telephoning the museum.

Materials Stolen

De Martini and Smith Construction Co. of Novato told Petaluma police yesterday that $81 in building materials had been stolen from homes under construction in the Monarch Manor subdivision.

Belrose Troupe Offers Steinbeck

Opening night for the Artists Repertory Company's production of John Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men," has been set for April 24 at the Belrose Theater, San Rafael, the company has announced.

Seats for the opening night, which includes dinner at 7 p.m. at the theater, must be reserved as there will be only 100 available, according to Gregory Norgaard, director of the group.

Reservations may be through the theater or the director, Norgaard said.

The play will also run April 25 and the first two Fridays and Saturdays of May.

Wisteria Flowers And Patrons Return To La Petite Auberge

An old wisteria vine now in bloom, spread above tables well filled with excellent food and wine and happy patrons, and surrounded by quaint brick walls—this is the nightly scene at La Petite Auberge, the little San Rafael French restaurant which has never dropped one degree in popularity since it first opened.

Somehow it seems to continue holding on to that fortunate quality which all restaurants strive for—a sort of independence from any great need to make periodic bids for customers. Consequently it is able to devote its time and energies to pleasing those it has, and keeping them. The magic is that still more customers find their way here and are added to the list of loyal supporters.

The list of dishes served at La Petite Auberge has not varied appreciably over the last few years. But there are enough of them to keep anyone going once a week for more than six months before having to repeat an order. Some of its classic offerings, to my thinking, are the quenelle de sole, the canard l'Orange, the chicken casserole a la Normande, the tournedos Perigourdine, grenadin of filet of beef Bordelais, paupiettes of veal and the noisette of lamb saute Bergere. And if you check these out you will not find all of them at the top of the price list.

Someone once made a statement which I think describes the situation here to a "T"—"If you have a formula for success and it works—don't change it."

Not all—but much of that formula has been in effect here for 11 years. That 11th anniversary, by the way, was just celebrated yesterday.

I'M TOLD that on weekends you should definitely make advance reservations for dinner at the Green Mill in Cotati. It seems that Jules and Tony Fisher have been keeping this place humming ever since their return last September.

FORMER CORTE MADERA RESTAURATEUR Gregory Seubert will get his new place, Noyo River Inn, at Fort Bragg, open next weekend.

I think of it as Gregory's place, but actually there are nine other shareholders in this venture, for it's a big venture—too big for one man to handle. But he's the manager, in addition to being one of the owners.

Grand opening is set for Friday and Saturday nights, April 17 and 18. Look for many of the dishes that made his Gregory's Restaurant in Corte Madera so popular—and others besides. Fort Bragg is known for its sport fishing—so it would be absolute heresy not to have a representative selection of seafood.

There will be an orchestra and dancing both nights. Dinner will be served from 5:30 p.m. The following week Noyo River Inn will also start serving lunches from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays. Sunday dinners will probably be served from 4 p.m. The restaurant is on a seven-days-a-week schedule.

Directions: Highway 20 from Willits meets Coast Highway 1 just south of Fort Bragg. Noyo River Inn is on South Harbor Drive off Highway 20, about one-quarter of a mile from Highway 1. The restaurant overlooks the Noyo Mooring Basin (I previously named this as Noyo River Yacht Harbor).

It's a beautiful trip. The rhododendrons are starting to bloom—and there are plenty of motels around Fort Bragg.

THE GROTTO in San Rafael has discontinued lunches except on Fridays—but there are some benefits from this.

Dinner hours are now from 4 to 11 p.m.—an hour later. On Fridays the restaurant is open straight through from lunch to 11 p.m. And the new arrangement gives Ursula Valan a chance now to visit the wharf in San Francisco during the day and personally pick out the best fish that is available.

Marin Dining And Wining

MUSEE D'ART INTERNATIONAL at Dominic's in San Rafael has made a good "catch" in acquiring both the paintings and person of Mme Renee Theobald, who is considered one of the most important contemporary French painters. She has a powerful and virile style you'd hardly expect from such a dainty and pretty woman.

She was last in the Bay Area in 1963 during a one-man show at the DeYoung Museum in San Francisco. She will be in Marin County Sunday to attend a preview of her show at Musee d'Art from 4 to 7 p.m. and will remain in San Rafael until the opening of her exhibit at the San Francisco Musee d'Art at 531 Sutter Street next Thursday.

I'M TOLD that you'll now find Yolanda Apostoli (sorry—I don't remember her new married name), who was well known in Marin restaurant (and golf) circles a few years ago, at Scoma's. Not Scoma's Glad Hand in Sausalito, but at the Fisherman's Wharf restaurant in San Francisco. And she's doing fine.

STARTING NEXT WEDNESDAY, Pier 15 in San Rafael will introduce its "Happy Hour and a Half" from 5 to 6:30 p.m. with drinks "from the well" at 50 cents—and hors d'oeuvres.

Patio deck on the canal side is nice these days at Pier 15 for lunches and dinners. It can be had by groups for meetings or dinner parties for the price of food and drinks alone, with no extra charge for use of the room. It will accommodate 50 to 75 persons.

DID YOU KNOW that a wine barrel led to the business of the doctor tapping your chest?

Cellarmen traditionally thumped a barrel to find out, by the sound, how much wine it held.

In the 18th Century, one Dr. Leopole Auebbrugger applied the technique to humans—not to determine how much of the grape they had stowed away, but how much liquid the lungs held.

INCIDENTALLY, if you're interested in knowing more about wines, California is a wine state and we have some of the best vintages in the world. Free courses with material provided by the Wine Advisory Board are available from the Wine Institute, 717 Market Street, San Francisco for the asking.

Special courses are also available for hotel, restaurant and retail wine trade personnel, and some 428,000 such members have enrolled for them since their inception in 1943.

I'M HAPPY TO REPORT that the Marin Banjo Band which plays at Cal's Steak House, San Rafael on Wednesday nights, has been going places. The group was filmed last Wednesday night and will be shown on Ed Hart's Bay Region Report tomorrow at 5:30 p.m. on KRON Channel 4.

If you haven't seen the band at Cal's—now's your chance. This is the group made up mostly of Marin County businessmen I mentioned on March 20.

Public Opening Is Sunday For Bahia Development

Bahia, the $100 million planned community in Novato on the Petaluma River, will have its formal opening to the public on Sunday.

A development of the Hofmann Co., Bahia comprises a total land area of 900 acres, of which 84 acres will be devoted to a primary system of parks and interconnecting greenbelts. In all, 2,250 townhouses and conventional single-family homes are planned for construction over the next seven years. Homes are being designed by C. Lister and Payne.

The project also includes docks, slips, launching facilities and protected waterways, with separate areas for sailing, fishing, water skiing and for large boats. Other proposed facilities include schools, commercial sites and a large clubhouse.

Bahia, located on Bahia Drive, is reached from Atherton avenue and Bugeia Lane in No-

Status Of Bayside Schools Due Review

An accreditation team from the Western Association of Schools and Colleges will visit San Quentin Prison next week to review the accreditation of Bayview schools.

The elementary, high and vocational schools are conducted within the prison by the Marin County superintendent of schools office. They are the only accredited schools within a prison in California.

The association first accredited Bayview schools in 1965 for three years. Accreditation was renewed in 1968 for two years. This time, the county office is hoping for full five-year accreditation, according to Daryl A. Hopkins, Bayview schools principal.

The six-member team is chaired by Lindley S. Allen, director of adult education in Mountain View and Los Altos. It will visit the prison schools Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, giving a report at a meeting in the prison administration building at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Primary reasons for limiting accreditation to two years in 1968 revolved around inadequacy of instructional facilities. The county superintendent's office has no control over these as they are provided by the state Department of Corrections, Hopkins noted.

Ross Seeking Second Fireman

The Town of Ross is seeking a fireman to fill out its two-man department since Fire Chief Charles Pinza will retire this fall upon reaching the mandatory retirement age of 65.

The fireman hired ultimately will serve as assistant chief, reported Mayor Frederick S. Allen.

Asst. Chief Thomas Casson is scheduled to become chief when Pinza retires.

The deadline for applications for the job is May 1, and the starting salary will be $660 a month, the mayor reported.

Army Recruits Nine Marinites In March

Vail of 586 Throckmorton Avenue, Mill Valley; Lee E. Perdelwitz Jr. of 31 Apollo Road, Tiburon; Dennis H. Jensen of 425 First Street, San Rafael; Thomas L. and James R. The production will be conducted by Winifred Baker and will feature solos by Gwen Curatillo, Mildred Owen, Edward Johnson and James Tippey.

Marinites Win Big In Contest

Marin County students took the lion's share of awards in the preliminary round of the fire prevention poster contest sponsored by the Redwood Region Conservation Council.

In competition with students from Napa and San Francisco counties, Marin County winners were:

ORTHO® Weed-B-Gon in an Automatic Dilution Sprayer makes a lot more sense than trying to weed a lawn by yourself. No messing around or mixing with water. 48 hours after application dandelions and other annoying broad-leaf lawn weeds start shriveling. Roots and all. While your lawn goes on growing as if nothing had happened.

Now for a limited time you can buy both the Automatic Dilution Weed-B-Gon Sprayer and a pint of ORTHO Weed-B-Gon (enough to get rid of broad-leaf weeds in 4800 square feet of lawn) for only $3.98, a savings of $1.20.

It's a good deal. For both you and your lawn.

Opening lead — ◇ Q

A SAFE RUFF

South took the first trick with the ace of diamonds and saw that he could safely ruff one spade in dummy and discard one spade on the king of diamonds. There was no need to think, so South led a spade.

East took the ace of spades and returned a trump. South won, cashed the king of spades, discarded a spade on the king of diamonds, ruffed a diamond to reach his hand, and then ruffed his last spade with dummy's high trump.

But now dummy's last six cards were all clubs. Declarer had to lead the ace and then the king of clubs. West ruffed the second club, and South shook his head dolefully. Life can be very sad.

PLAN AHEAD

If South plans ahead he can see that he will land in dummy with nothing but clubs. A much safer plan is to set up the clubs instead of trying to ruff a spade.

At the second trick South should lead a club to the king and then should discard a club on the king of diamonds. This enables declarer to ruff the second round of clubs without risking a ruff by an opponent.

RUFFS CLUB

South leads a heart to the ten, ruffs another low club and draws trumps. Finally declarer leads a spade and is sure of getting to dummy with a high spade to cash the rest of the good clubs.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 10 8 7 3
♥ - 7 6 3
♦ Q J 10 9 4
♣ - 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER, Bid tow spades.

You count three points in high cards and three points for the singleton (accompanied by four or more trumps). This is enough for a simple raise of partner's suit.

Collegians Prepare For Peace March

Activity against the Vietnam war will resume on the College of Marin campus with a peace march starting on the campus Wednesday to rpoceed to the Selective Service office in San Rafael.

The Executive Council of the associated students voted Tuesday to recognize the march on Wednesday to proceed to the rium Day. The marchers will be addressed outside the draft office by moratorium speakers.

Plans for campus activities on April 22, billed as Earth Day or National Ecology Teach-In Day, also were discussed. Speakers from environmental study groups will discuss population control, pollution and conservation of San Francisco Bay. Organic foods will be displayed by a Larkspur communal family, the Messiah World Crusade.

A cooperative crafts festival was also proposed for the first week in May.

The council approved a request by the Black Students Union for recognition as an official campus organization after presentation of a petition by 30 BSU members.

The council heard a plea by James Heig, faculty adviser to the Mariner, college literary magazine, for support from student funds, but took no action until hearing a precise financial statement on the magazine's needs. Heig said $400 to $500 is needed.

Thomas C. Place, president of the Academic Senate, told the council that 50 or more student memberships on student-faculty committees have been unfilled for three or four years, and attributed lack of participation to misinformation about the positions available.

The council appointed Lucy Ospina as sophomore women's representative.

By PAT BALMES

Marin Child Development Center's teaching of preschoolers, who have learning and behavior difficulties that lead to trouble when they start school, will be explained to professional groups who work with children at a series of luncheons.

Beginning with the pediatricians' luncheon last Friday hosted by Drs. Lee Smith and Hulda Thelander, MCDC's new auxiliary is cooking successive Friday luncheons with a program and tour of the center for psychologists, psychiatrists, social workers, nursery school directors, lawyers and heads of social service clubs.

FOUNDERS OF the new auxiliary are Mrs. Richard E. Hyde Jr. of Belvedere, president; Mrs. Hank Bruce of Belvedere, secretary; and Mrs. Carlisle Becker of Tiburon, treasurer.

MCDC meets four afternoons a week in the building of the Tiburon Peninsula Nursery School in Strawberry. Sitting in its sunny play yard among children on swings and in the sandbox, principal Anne Hicks explained their purpose "to develop behavior which will make it possible for these young children to achieve learning skills and acceptable social attitudes and increase their ability to tolerate frustrating situations."

Children are accepted only through referral by a physician, although initial application may originate through a school, social agency or professional person, according to the principal.

The 30 pre-schoolers, from three to seven years old, have various problems of early development including those related to minimal neurological disfunction. Her pupils run the spectrum from a few very seriously disturbed children, through the children who may be hyper-active, distractable, those with short-attention spans, the impulsive, those having speech, language or perceptual problems, poor coordination, poor ability to relate to parents or other adults.

"Our interest is also in helping those with marginal learning, speech or behavioral problems because, without the early help, they could become much more severe as they enter public school," says the principal, who holds a master's degree in education of exceptional children.

Thirty-one of the 37 graduates now attend conventional public or private schools; 20 in regular classes and 11 in classes for educationally handicapped.

MRS. RICHARD HYDE

"OUR STAFF works to give the child a feeling of his own worth at this time in his life. Some think they're failures; not what their parents or others expect them to be. We plan experience that will teach them how to play with spontaneous pleasure, to enjoy success and to relate to adults and other children with affect and warmth. Our concern is to get them to accept themselves. We build in successes. When they feel accepted, their self-esteem goes up," says the principal.

Before the establishment of MCDC in 1964 Marin had no facility to deal with early problems in learning and behavior, according to Mrs. Hicks. "Very valuable time would have been wasted if these problems were not dealt with before they enter school."

Beverly Bastian is executive director and founder. James Donovan, M.D., a psychiatrist, is medical director. Anne Hicks is principal. Carol Walker is vice principal and teacher-therapist. Other teacher-therapists are Viola Bajor, Janet Daijogo, Georgianna Anerson. All have graduate study in special education. Grace Almon is speech and language therapist. Mary Vezie is occupational therapist. Audrey Dreyfus is psychiatric-social worker. There is also a staff of paid teacher-aids and volunteers who assist in the many small classes bringing the teacher-pupil ratio to about 1 to 3.

"WE HAVE respect for the child's dignity," says Mrs. Hicks. "We are very conscious of the need to encourage children to express their feelings in a positive way. And the staff is very honest with the children. We need to express our feelings, too. We want to build a child-teacher relationship where the child feels, 'I know I can count on her'," says Mrs. Hicks.

Courtship Of Stalin's Daughter

By JEAN SHARLEY TAYLOR

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva was married on an Arizona afternoon whose fragrances of blooming orange trees and roses reminded her, she said, of the Black Sea summers of her yesterdays.

She had never seen a desert like ours, nor a more beguiling sun. Since coming on March 18, sitting daily by the Taliesin West swimming pool in the foothills of the McDowell Mountains, northeast of Phoenix, she has become tanned and relaxed, in the manner of a contented winter visitor.

At the time of our talk, she wore her long, reddish-brown hair in the current, status pony; white earrings; a silk gray-brown abstract-print shirtwaist; mid-heel pumps.

A week earlier, on Easter Day, Mrs. Frank Lloyd Wright invited 150 friends, as she annually does, to share a terrace breakfast of Russian Easter bread and pascha cheese and to sit in her glass-and-stone-walled living room to hear festal music sung and played by the members of the Taliesin staff.

Svetlana Alliluyeva sat on a window seat two feet to the side of John Amarantides, who directed the musicians, and no one, gazing at the chorister faces and the visitor on the right, recognized her.

At breakfast, she ate strawberries and broke colored Easter eggs in peaceful anonymity, encircled by Wright family friends who protected her identity.

Marin Women

THE DECISION that she and William Wesley Peters would marry was made at Eastertime, she said, and once decided, neither cared about details. Mr. Peters is the brother of Mrs. S. I. Hayakawa of Mill Valley.

Svetlana Alliluyeva wanted a simple religious service and beyond that "it would be pleasant to have whatever Wes wants." During the flurry about blood tests, the mariage license, the service and ring, she smiled radiantly and said, "It really doesn't matter."

One thing did matter to her: The number 7.

In "Only One Year," printed in 1969 by Harper & Row, she wrote about her anguished, impulse decision in New Delhi, India, to seek refuge in the American Embassy rather than to return to Moscow the next day.

She asked the doorman for the taxi company's telephone number. "It was 75-777," she said in Phoenix, "and I flew with a U.S. embassy official from New Delhi to Rome on March 7, 1967."

She is not a superstitious woman, but the importance of these two events—her escape from Russia and her marriage Tuesday — are linked. And sevens, she said, have been good through her life.

So she would be married only on the 7th, 17th, or 27th. Her first choice was April 17. The shift to April 7 was made only last Friday. And the marriage license was picked up, by special arrangement, at 7 p.m. Monday.

"It's a good thing I'm still 57," said Peters, laughing.

"I feel 17," said Svetlana.

THE INVITATION from Mrs. Wright's daughter, Iovanna, to visit Taliesin was timely and carried no burdens. The two had corresponded for several months and Svetlana Alliluyeva was impressed with the two books written by Mrs. Wright which Iovanna sent.

An immediate bond was the name Svetlana. That also was the name of Mrs. Wright's elder daughter and Peters' first wife, killed with their son, 2, in a 1946 car crash. But there was, as well, an imponderable spiritual tie, the feeling that all of them should be together.

So Svetlana Alliluyeva came in March and found both Peters, who had remained a widower for 24 years, and a family.

"It is a miracle," she said, "and it was supposed to be."

Look For Fabric Information

NEW YORK (UPI)—When buying a dress, do you just look for something in the latest style that fits well? If you do, you're out of date. Fashion and fit are important, of course, but you can—and should—expect much more in buying any garment.

Who manufactured the garment? What is the fiber content of the fabric? What fabric finishes have been used? How should you care for the garment? The answers to these questions are the key to what you can expect from the garment, according to consumer experts at an appliance company. The answers should be on tags on the garment.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Bringing Husbands Back In Line Won't Win Back Their Love

DEAR HELEN:

"Disgusted Wife's" idea of a national march to bring husbands back into line is much too impersonal. If a wronged wife wants to picket the house of her husband's girl friend with a sign "This woman is breaking up a marriage" okay, but this too only gets even. It doesn't get back the man.

Love between a man and woman is a personal thing. You don't demand it. You don't say, "You owe me your loyalty." You win it and keep it by, first, choosing the right mate and, second, showing him you know he's right.

I goofed up on the second several years ago. I became a housewife and mother first, a wife only when I had the time, and a real woman almost never. So my husband strayed, helped along by a sweet young thing who turned his head.

I didn't picket or march. I took stock. I faced myself squarely and saw that, had I been in his shoes, I might have looked elsewhere for companionship.

We talked it out. It isn't easy, putting aside the hurt, but when you know that your man is basically good, just human, you can.

Now our marriage is stronger than ever. Unlike the woman who described her fears and miseries every time the door bell rings or the mail comes thinking it will be news of a new infidelity, I'm now secure in my love and — SURE OF MY MAN

DEAR HELEN:

I am 43, my husband is 46. Lately I've noticed a lady, who is married and has teen-aged children, passing by our house in her car and looking at the window. My husband has taken to standing by this window. I get a strange feeling that there is something between these two.

He takes me out and treats me well, but I have this trouble with being jealous. I get vibrations that they are having an affair. Does this sound dumb? — R.C.

DEAR R.:

Yes!

Check those vibrations down to an over-active imagination and try a little trust. Also some common sense. If a woman was having an affair with a married man, she wouldn't need to drive past his house; in fact, that's the last place you'd find her.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

We were happy until two months ago. Then my grandmother became very ill. I went down to Virginia to see her and, after I returned home, I called every day to see how she was.

That month our phone bill came to $104. My husband hit the ceiling. Before that he was very pleased that I was pregnant, and now he says we can't afford the baby.

We both work. I'm going to pay the bill with the money I make. Up until now he has been a perfect husband. Does this show a hidden side of him I should worry about? — SHOCKED AND HURT

DEAR S AND H:

Even a perfect husband has a right to blow up at a $104 phone bill. He'll simmer down — and someday you'll even laugh about this — but meanwhile lay in a stock of stationery and stamps. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

NEW YORK (UPI)—Whether you choose solvent-thinned or water-thinned paints, follow the manufacturer's directions. French Painter, Theobold To Be Honored At Reception

By MOLLY MARIN

A champagne reception Sunday afternoon at Musee d'Art International in San Rafael will honor the French painter, Renee Theobald.

Madame Theobald will be staying at the San Rafael home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Crocker until the opening of her one-woman-show at the San Francisco Musee d'Art on Thursday.

Considered one of the most important contemporary French painters, Theobald has had exhibits in Brussels, New York, Houston, Paris, Palm Beach, Dallas and at the de-Young Museum in San Francisco in 1963, at which time she made many friends in the Bay Area.

She lives in Paris with her mathematician husband and five daughters, combining a housewife-mother life with the schedule of a full-time artist.

VICKI EVANS, who will become the bride of Dr. William Crutcher on June 20 in Ross, is being honored Saturday at a luncheon and shower to be given by Mrs. Howard Maibach at her Kent Woodlands home.

The future bride, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Evans of Kentfield, will also be honored at a shower next Friday evening, being given by her aunt, Mrs. William P. Murray of San Rafael, and on April 18 Mrs. Russell Westover Jr. of San Rafael will honor Vicki at a luncheon and shower at the Meadow Club.

THREE MARIN Country Club Estates families in Novato were among those attending the opening day baseball game at Candlestick Park. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dinsmore invited the Gordon Walkers and the A. G. Lindauers to be their guests at the game. Mrs. Walker fried chickens for their lunch, and Selina Lindauer furnished snacks. Following the game, they all returned to the Dinsmore home after stopping at Fisherman's Wharf to pick up cracked crab and French bread, which they all enjoyed while watching the Academy Awards presentation on television.

Child Hides Her Home In Shame

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

"This is OK," said 8-year-old Kelly as she started to open the car door. "You can just let me out here on the corner."

"Oh no," I assured her. "It's almost dark. I'd feel better if I took you all the way home."

"But it's really all right," she objected. "I just have to go a few houses down the block. I'll run."

"No, Kelly. I'll take you home. Which is your house?"

Reluctantly she directed me to her house. I watched as she slowly climbed the back stairs of their apartment above a grocery store.

After taking the rest of the girls home (we had gone hiking) and tucking my own children into bed, I thought about Kelly and saw myself as a little girl:

"It's OK," I had said to my friend's mother, who had driven us to and from an after-school activity. "You can let me off here at the corner." I was ashamed to have them drive down the street lined with long gray barracks which was the housing project we lived in.

People who have always lived in comfortable houses think little of what it means. For them, it is just a part of their being that is taken for granted. But for many other Americans, especially black Americans, to live in a real house, your own house, is a big thing.

My earliest recollection of a house was that we had none. That is, we lived with relatives. When we did move out on our own, it was into a kitchenette apartment of a converted house. We kids called it the "mouse house" for obvious reasons.

Next we moved into a three-room apartment in a housing project. This was more to our liking than the mouse house, but, alas, it had only one door!

Luck must have been going our way, for shortly our name reached the top of the waiting list, and we were able to move into a two-bedroom apartment in the same housing development. And it had a bonus — two doors, front and back!

Conditions caused us to move again, this time across town to a three-bedroom apartment in the barracks of still another housing project. Long lines of gray barracks; building A, B, and C and so on. How I hated housing projects!

When the government ordered the demolition of our colony of barracks, we were on the move again. We somehow stumbled across a raggedy old house that the owner was anxious to get rid of. We purchased it for three times its value: we had little choice, and the realtor was slick.

Anyway, we liked it. It was a real house, with two doors and a yard. The termites had almost completed their stay on the property, but there were no wall-to-wall people to go through to get to the front door. Yes, we liked it. It was a house, and it was ours.

That was years ago, and we children have grown up and moved on. But I think of those days as I think of little Kelly. I feel pain for her because I know the kind of things that are important to children at different times in their lives.

Hang in there Kelly and grow. One day your priorities will change and your ability to affect your environment will increase. Things have got to change.

Hang on.

ART REVIEW

Marin Society Annual Is Heavy With Restraint; Some Flashes

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Sometimes the biggest is the best. At least in the Marin Society of Artists' crafts, graphics and sculpture show through April 26, Carol Herschleb's big ceramic three letter word is not only the largest but also the most arresting piece in the room.

"MOM," as this award winner states its title to be, is also the farthest out of anything in this graceful, but definitely conservative show. But if there is nothing to get emotional about at the Ross Art and Garden Center gallery, there is still a great deal to enjoy, including other ceramics' award winning items by Helen Peeke and Chris Wagener.

The most satisfying section belongs to ceramics. With the exception of Miss Herschleb and a few others, most artists work in ways which are quite staid. Even so, they vary interestingly, the basic geometry found within the traditional pot form. Rectangles, circles, cylinders and cones are bent, roughened, smoothed and thinned with surfaces that might be ornately decorated or plain, and with finishes which might be raw or elegantly glazed.

There is a healthy variety of jewelry and metalwork as well, including rings, pins and award pieces such as Frieda Burkhart's gold and quartz pendant and Lida Dear's wrought and cast silver box.

Kamma Zethraus was another winner with a brown, black, grey and natural striped rug. And while weaving usually gives a show of this sort its zest and color the quiet hues in her rug are the only ones used in any of the several weavings shown.

The graphics have the same sort of reserve. Most are as subdued as Anne Jenkins's sensitive drypoint and aquatint of a child riding piggyback or Barbara Evans's grim etching of death. Only a few such as Betty Cleaveland's silkscreen and collage design have much emphasis on color.

Of other crafts such as furniture and carved wood, there is a disappointing lack and what happened to the sculptors is something else. Sculpture does include Farhad Moezzi's sleek metal work but to call it bare bone is monumental understatement.

Overall, this is a strangely limited and lopsided show but one that has a great deal of dignity. It might be said that when it is good it approaches elegance. When it is not—the work just isn't there.

Capital Voter Drive Slated

Petitions calling for a constitutional amendment granting congressional representation to residents of Washington, D. C., will be circulated by the League of Women Voters of Central Marin during the week of April 16-22.

League members will gather signatures on April 18 at the Northgate Mall in San Rafael and the Cooperative Shopping Center in Corte Madera.

Petitions collected throughout the country will be presented to Congress during the league's national convention in Washington in May.

Such an amendment would require approval by two thirds of both houses and ratification by three fourths of the states.

MOTION PICTURE GUIDE

The Marin Motion Picture and Television Council provides these ratings of movies now being shown in Marin County. The council's findings are from the California and National Parent-Teacher Association magazines and from Parents' Magazine. More complete reviews may be obtained by calling the San Rafael Library.

FAMILY:

"Goodbye, Mr. Chips" — Beautifully stages musical version of James Hilton's novel about a lonely schoolmaster who falls in love with a music hall star, and her influence on the students and the professor.

"In Search of the Castaways" — Reissue of Disneys' fantasy, adapted from a Jules Verne novel about a round-the-world search for a missing sea captain, by his children. Excellent cast.

ADULTS AND TEENS:

"Anne of the 1000 Days" — Magnificently staged and cast, historical drama of lust and political intrigue which encompasses the 1,000 days of the courtship, marriage, trial and beheading of Anne Boleyn. An elegant pageant presented with new perspective.

"Cactus Flower" — Middle-aged playboy dentist drafts his nurse to masquerade as his estranged wife and rescue him from a complicated situation with his current mistress.

"House of Cards" — Confused plot about French Colonials, exiled from Algeria, planning to conquer France and regain Algeria.

"Sons of Kate Elder" — Better than average western with an element of mystery and suspense and much humor in dialogue and characterizations.

"Tell Them Willie Boy is Hers" — A profound allegory of white-Indian history can be found in this deceptively simple story of an Indian, chased and killed by a posse in California, 1909. Unnecessary nudity inserted. Beautiful photography.

"Alice's Restaurant" — Thought provoking, true story. Folksinger Arlo Guthrie describes a commune that welcomes the wandering hippies who sing, dance, make love and smoke pot in an uncommitted life that is both sad and funny. Some of the language and actions are in poor taste.

"Magic Christian" — Rarely funny satire on an old theme, that all men can be corrupted by money. Almost all episodes are distasteful.

"They Shoot Horses Don't They" — Dance marathons of depression years are vividly recreated in this powerful, unusual drama in a study of humanity that is symbolic of life's struggles. Ending is macabre and shocking.

ADULTS ONLY

"Bedazzled" — Sophisticated, pungent English satire based on Faust legend leaves few present day situations unscathed. Sequences vary from farcical fun to biting irony, with lines that are funny and often boldly irreverent.

"Bob and Carol and Ted and Alice" — An irreverent social satire, slick in its trimmings, has a sharp bite in its characters, dialogue and frank appraisal of modern marriage and morals. After a week-end of "confrontation therapy" one couple convince their best friends to swap mates. Comedy will seem funny to some, jaundiced to others.

"Midnight Cowboy" — Offbeat, hardhitting story of a male prostitute and a crippled hustler who meet in New York. Sordidness is tempered by skill and compassion, told in an uncompromising way.

"Putney Swope" — Devastating satire about ad agency taken over by militant blacks led by Putney Swope. After promising opening, humor sinks to tasteless level as foul language and nudity are substituted for wit.

"Three Into Two Won't Go" — Heartaches of a middle-aged couple's childless marriage are explored in this drama when one of the husbands' pick-up dates goes to his home and tells the wife she is pregnant. Nudity and explicit sex.

"Zabriskie Point" — Director of this film makes a vague, confused statement on what is bugging our youth on American culture. Story filled with symbolic metaphors, especially during a sexual encounter in the barren, dusty desert.

KRON's Role On Coverage Of Dominos

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If the Chronicle Publishing Co. sought to manage news policies of its television station KRON-TV, it was not very good at it.

At least that was the testimony Thursday of Herbert P. Buell, the newspaper's editorial promotion manager.

He said during the 1968 newspaper strike in San Francisco he suggested KRON cover the domino tourney annually sponsored by the San Francisco Chronicle for charity.

Buell said the suggestion was made personally to Harold P. See, president of KRON television, and to KRON newsmen.

"But nobody showed up" at the tournaments' 9 a.m. opening, Buell said. "I called every half hour." Buell said he became "out of sorts and angry" and told the KRON newsroom: "Don't you know this is Mr. Charles Hhieriot's domino tournament?" Thieriot is publisher of the Chronicle.

He said a cameraman arrived shortly before noon and explained he had overslept. This led to a "heated" conversation with the KRON newsroom, he said, but he denied he threatened anyone's job.

Buell said KRON-TV ran several one-minute spots about the tournament before it started and one three-minute feature and a 30-second news report on the late news show the day of the event.

School Looted

Three tricycles worth a total of $67 were stolen between 8 a.m. Tuesday and 4 p.m. Wednesday from the rear yard of Alpha Schools, 333 Woodland Avenue, San Rafael police reported today. Numerous acts of unspecified vandalism in recent weeks at the school were also reported, police said.

LITTLE DINOSAUR OR A LOT OF SOUP BONES?

They're too dry for soup and no self-respecting mongrel would bury them for a rainy day, but these old bones are the biggest thing to hit Twelveoak Hill Drive in Terra Linda since the housing development. The ungainly creature being fitted for a pelvic bone by Kevin Manley (left), 13, is a rare post-Darwinian herbivore now extinct on the Lucas Valley hillside where the bones were found. It's a cow that (left to right) Ben Cruz, 13, Roger Manley, 14, and Michael Brown, 14, are helping Kevin wire together on the ping pong table in Brown's garage.

SUPERINTENDENT CANDIDATES

Tenure, Text Books Highlight Forum

Differences regarding teacher tenure, textbook selection and busing highlighted a state superintendent of public instruction candidates' forum last night at Tamalpais High School.

The 200 persons attending the event heard from seven of the nine candidates for state superintendent — five in person and two in written statements.

Present were Dwayne T. Canon, Mrs. Olive Fallon, Willard Harper, Harvey Hurtt, and Wilson C. Riles. Incumbent Max Rafferty and Julian Nava sent statements responding to questions to which the candidates were asked to speak. There was no response from Saxon Elliot and Sylvia Tucker, also aspirants for the state superintendency.

The tenure question was raised from the floor. Responses varied widely.

Hurtt, whose platform calls for free abortions, sex and consumer education in the schools, and "an end to censorship," declared that tenure should be automatic when a teacher is hired. When National Education Association and American Federation of Teachers merge, he said, "there won't be any problem."

Riles contended the tenure laws should be revised to provide a means for determining whether a teacher is effective. "The payoff is in what the children learn," he said. "If teachers are not doing their job, get rid of 'em." He said he had heard of teachers being fired for failure to discipline, for their political views, "or even for being a little overweight — but I have not heard of many teachers being dismissed because they were incompetent."

Canon said tenure should be replaced by due process in the dismissal of teachers. The present tenure system "stifles the innovation and creativity of teachers," he contended.

Mrs. Fallon, on the other hand, said, "Tenure is the only professional thing the teacher has" and should be retained.

The textbook question, also raised from the floor, brought an outburst from Harper about the American government text adopted by the state. He read extracts from it to show that it presents only the "hawk" view of the Vietnam war. "This is brainwashing, the way this book is written," he declared. "We should rewrite our history and sociology texts to present both sides."

Riles said the present textbook selection process is too cumbersome, but suggested it "is partly the fault of you people" if unsatisfactory texts are adopted, because they are placed in libraries throughout the state for examination before being selected.

Canon suggested that parent advisory councils in each school district should have a voice in selection of texts. He urged replacing the single text adoption with multiple adoption, and using paperbooks.

"The teacher is supposedly the expert," said Hurtt. "The community should trust him to pick his own textbooks."

Busing came up in response to one of the prepared questions : "What would you do to improve minority education."

Nava, in his written statement, said that "unlike Wilson Riles, I believe we must end de facto segregation" by busing. He also urged offering incentives to teachers in depressed areas.

Rafferty's statement said: "Minority education in California has improved almost beyond recognition in the last decade." He has spoken frequently against compulsory busing.

"You can't improve minority education unless you have integration, and you can't have integration unless you have busing," contended Hurtt.

Riles said the important thing for the children of minority groups is not where they attend school, but that they have "Teachers who believe that they can learn."

Mrs. Fallon did not feel busing for a racial mix is necessary. "Create grade level tests of knowledge," she urged. "Children always respond to a challenoge."

Harper said the important thing "is to put 20 children in a first grade classroom, not 30 or 40 children." The billions spent "to kill, maim and assassinate little yellow people in Vietnam" should be used to improve the schools, "buy buses, bus the children and have integration," he declared.

On financing schools, all agreed that there is too much load on the local property taxpayer. Nava, in his statement, said that "unlike Mr. Riles, I do not support Governor Reagan's tax program." He urged more taxes on oil and insurance.

Rafferty's statement urged shifting the load to "the much broader components of statewide taxpayers."

Canon said part of the problem is misallocation of state tax funds voted for education.

Riles said the state superintendent, school leaders, parents, taxpayer associations, chambers of commerce should get together to draw up a program of what is needed for financing the schools, then "lay it before the legislature and the governor." A bigger share must come from the state, he said.

Mrs. Fallon also agreed the state should pay a greater share, but added: "We need to audit our schools."

Harper agreed quite closely with Nava.

Hurtt said, "We aren't going to solve any problems on a state level." Schools must be financed by the federal government, he held.

The candidates' forum was sponsored by the Mill Valley Parent-Teacher Association Council and Mill Valley Branch, American Association of University Women. John K. Robinson, a Mill Valley School District trustee, served as moderator.

Of the nine candidates for the office, Rafferty is the incumbent and a former district superintendent; Canon, Elliott, and Dr. Tucker, college professors; Mrs. Fallon, Harper, and Hurtt, teachers; Nava, a Los Angeles Board of Education member and former teacher, and Riles, deputy state superintendent now on leave.

Water Safety Course Offered

A water safety instructor course for persons 17 or older and sponsored by the Marin Chapter of the American Red Cross will be given April 20 to May 21.

The classes will be held on Mondays and Thursdays from 7 to 10 p.m. at the Novato High School swimming pool.

Persons eligible to take the course must have a senior life saving certificate issued during the past three years. Information on registration may be obtained at the Red Cross office at 712 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael.

Traffic Jam Cause

The car fire that backed up traffic on the Highway 101 viaduct above Fourth Street in San Rafael at 10 a.m. yesterday was caused by a blow out, according to Fire Chief Vance Trivett. The fire destroyed the auto of Laura Rutledge of Eureka, Humboldt County.

Annexation Of Creek Is Allowed

Bel Marin Keys Community Services District will be allowed to annex Novato Creek so that the district can dredge and maintain the creek.

The annexation request won unanimous approval of the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission last night at Civic Center.

Novato Creek forms the northern boundary of the services district, but the boundary now stops at the south bank. The annexation will extend the district to the north bank, adding a total of about 125 acres.

The Marin Local Agency Formation Commission also:

GALLINAS SANITARY—Approved annexation of 1.4-acre parcel owned by Margaret Judson at 189 Los Ranchitos Road to the Las Gallinas Valley Sanitary District.

PLEASANT VALLEY—Approved annexation of 16.5 acres of open land behind Pleasant Valley on Center Road to the City of Novato.

WILSON AVENUE—Rejected by 3-to-2 vote a request by the City of Novato for annexation of 3.7 acres of land at the corner of Wilson Avenue and Vineyard Road. Chairman Hugh G. Marchant, Peter R. Arrigoni Jr. and Jan Paul Dyk voted to reject, suggesting that the city include adjoining property and apply for a larger annexation. Louis H. Baar and Neil R. Brixon favored accepting the annexation as requested.

FAIRHILLS—Approved the annexation to the San Rafael Sanitation District of a two-acre parcel owned by Charles Grandi at the end of Glenside Way in the Fairhills area of San Rafael.

COMMENDATION — Expressed appreciation to Dyk of Sausalito, who will leave the commission because he is stepping off the Sausalito City Council. Dyk has been a member of LAFC since it was first established in 1963.

Riles Detours Mainstream Tour For Students Session

A candidate for state office did an unusual thing yesterday. He appeared voluntarily to field difficult questions from a group that didn't have a vote in it.

Wilson C. Riles, running for state superintendent of public instruction, spoke for 40 minutes with Redwood High School students before moving on to two evening appearances in Marin. Popping the questions was a panel of five students and an audience of approximately 100 more.

It started inauspiciously when student Joe Enzensperger called school "about the only place you can discuss things" and therefore the place that revolution will have to start.

"We aren't agreed today on what we should be doing" with the schools, Riles said. "If the people agree the schools are the place for revolution, then we're together."

"You mean please all the people all the time?" asked Kathy Congreve.

"You can't do that," Riles said.

What do you do with the opposition, Miss Congreve asked.

"You're assuming that taxpayers are the enemy," Riles said.

"They're different—they pay the taxes and we don't," she answered.

"We're all agreed that education is important," Riles said. He said each generation must undersatnd the other's experience in "honest give and take."

He said there is confusion over the schools' role today, but said education's first purpose should be to "teach young people how to think for themselves" to give them "options and choices to know what to do with their lives."

Education should make people flexible, he said. "I don't want a rigid system that puts you in a box."

He said the community will have to accept the kind of teachers who can impart that sort of learning.

"They don't," objected Nick Suntzeff, citing the cases of Herbert Marcuse and Angela Davis. "The community hates them," he said.

Riles said he agreed with the law which barred firing Miss Davis because of her admitted Communist beliefs and said teachers should be judged by their classroom behavior. "I don't think teachers should be allowed to indoctrinate either way," he said. He said parents fear the Angela Davises "because they don't think you can think for yourselves."

Riles said he would have voted against tuition in the state university system, but now that tuition is here we must make sure no student is denied entrance because his parents lack money to send him to college.

Asked about getting children from inferior schools into college, Riles said he would try to see that every child in the state got "quality education" and said the state should carry most of the load, instead of local taxpayers.

By plugging present tax loopholes such support might not raise taxes at all, he said.

One girl objected this might mean sending "our money" to Richmond or elsewhere with no say over how it was spent.

"Let's say the Southern Pacific runs through your district," Riles said, paying taxes on its property. "Is that 'our money'? That's the money I'm talking about."

He said busing is one way to achieve integration, and said people must be convinced that integration is good for all children, not just black or other minority group children. Instead of getting black children into superior white schools, he suggested getting minorities "to learn how to get good schools for themselves."

Riles, deputy to Max Rafferty, said he came up through civil service ranks, starting four years before Rafferty came into office. When he became deputy and had to work directly with Rafferty, he said, "I found he wasn't interested in education . . . but in politics and running for office.

"So I ran because I know first hand what an ineffective person he is . . . I was there before Max Rafferty came and I expect to be there when he leaves in January."

Oil Slick In From Pacific?

While the origin of yesterday's thin coat of oil that slicked San Francisco Bay remains a mystery, there was a report today that it may have traveled down the coast before entering the bay.

Marin County Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni Jr., told the Independent-Journal that he saw what appeared to be a mass of muddy water Tuesday morning near Stinson Beach.

He noticed the muddy mass near Rocky Point, just as he was driving along Highway 1.

"That must have been the oil slick," he said. "It was headed toward the Golden Gate."

"If so," he added, "the oil originated outside the Golden Gate, and not within the bay."

The Coast Guard, however, reported the slick may have come from sludge at the bottom of Richardson Bay that had been stilled up by a low tide.

Because of wind and tide conditions, the Coast Guard ruled out the possibility of it coming from a tanker or other ship in the bay.

The slick was noticed yesterday at 8 a.m. by a radio station's traffic helicopter, which said the slick stretched from the Golden Gate Bridge to downtown Sausalito.

HST Portrait Finally Finished

WASHINGTON (AP) — A portrait of Harry S. Truman which took two decades to finish has been unveiled at the National Portrait Gallery in the presence of many of his onetime Cabinet members and former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

The life portrait was started by Greta Epton of New York while Truman was in the White House and was intended for display there. She stopped work when she learned its size, 30 by 38 inches, would be too small for the White House gallery of presidents.

John W. Snyder, Truman's secretary of the treasury, learned of the unfinished portrait recently and Miss Epton was persuaded by 60 former Truman associates in government to apply the finishing touches.

Sammy Davis In New Venture

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — entertainer Sammy Davis Jr. and Berry Gordy Jr., head of Detroit's Motown Record Corp., have announced the formation of a new music firm.

Davis said Thursday the project will include an enterprise to be called Ecology Records, for which he will record exclusively.

He added that the company hopes eventually to produce movies and TV shows.

Motorcycle Stolen

Lyle Howdyshell, 36 Laurel Avenue, Petaluma, told police yesterday that his 1966 Honda motorcycle had been stolen from his garage Wednesday or yesterday. The bronze motorcycle had license plate 469-700.

Novato School Tax Rate Not High By Comparison

Novatans pay a Novato Unified School District tax rate of $5.345 per $100 assessed valuation.

That sounds like a high rate for a school district.

It is not, however, high in comparison with other districts in Marin — although none of them assesses a rate approaching $5.345.

THIS SEEMING ANOMALY arises from the fact that Novato has a unifed school district, meaning that one tax rate supports both elementary and high schools. Most Marinites pay two rates — one for elementary school district and one for high school district.

With the two rates added together, taxpayers in Dixie School District pay $6.29 per $100 assessed valuation; in Reed, $6.025; in Lagunitas, $5.785; in Larkspur, $5.74; in San Anselmo, $5.70; in Ross, $5.695; in Sausalito, $5.645; in Kentfield, $5.62; in San Rafael, $5.57; in Mill Valley, $5.39 — all higher than the Novato rate.

NEXT TUESDAY, Novatans will vote on whether to give the district board authority to increase the general purpose rate (that part which is limited by vote) by up to 85 cents, for a four-year period.

This could mean that sometime within the next four years the total tax rate for Novato Unified School District would rise to about $6.20 — almost as much as the total rate now being paid in Dixie district.

Novato's situation is somewhat similar to Dixie's in that both have low assessed valuation behind each child in school. Thus, a dollar on the tax rate raises less money per child than in most districts.

Novato's situation is further complicated by its heavy dependence on federal funds because of the large number of students from Hamilton Air Force Base and its satellite housing.

Such funds, under Public Law 874, put $922,000 into the district's coffers for this year. But the compromise education aid bill that followed President Nixon's veto of the initial bill for the new fiscal year carries less money. The Novato district stands to lose slightly more than $200,000 in such funds for fiscal 1971, according to Asst. Supt. Ralph Giovaniello.

For this year, the district dipped deeply into its reserve fund. With the loss of federal revenue for next year, that cannot be repeated. Increase in assessed valuation is not expected to make up the difference.

APPROVAL OF the increase in the general purpose tax ceiling will not mean an immediate 85-cent hike in the rate. Trustees of the district hope to boost the rate by no more than 25 cents for next fiscal year. The 85-cent increase may be needed within four years, however, they figure.

Nobody likes to vote to tax himself more. But, as in the Dixie district, there is not much choice for the Novato voter. If the rate is held at the present level, cuts in the school operations appear impossible to avoid.

Novato School District's economy record is good. There seems little reason to doubt that the board will refrain from levying any more of the authorized 85-cent increase than it feels is necessary.

Approval of the increase, while unpalatable, appears wise.

Mill Valley, The Sounding Board

Mill Valley seems to have constituted itself a "sounding board community."

In its municipal election two years ago, along with choosing city councilmen, it ran a referendum on whether the United States should get out of the Vietnam war. (Mill Valley voters said it should, by 1,863 to 1,433).

Next Tuesday, along with electing city councilmen, it will run a referendum on whether the voting age should be lowered to 18 years.

Such "straw votes" have no legal effect. But they are interesting — and far more accurate readings of the public pulse than the polls of which so many Americans are so fond.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Move To Oust Schrade Dies; Now Maybe Senate Can Work

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — While there continues to be an undercurrent of dissatisfaction in the state Senate over the leadership of Sen. Jack Schrade, R-San Diego, it appears to be diminishing as time goes by and indications are that the 1970 session will complete itself without further change.

This is despite the efforts of Sen. Clark M. Bradley, R-Santa Clara, to upset the applecart again and either restore Sen. Howard M. Way, R-Tulare, or place some other Republican in the leadership post of president pro tempore of the Senate.

Senators who are in a position to know indicate that Bradley finally has reached the end as far as mustering up votes to oust Schrade is concerned.

FIRST BRADLEY announced he would nominate every Republican senator in the upper house to succeed Schrade.

When he found that some of his Republican colleagues would not appreciate such a nomination, he pulled in his horns.

Schrade is not perturbed over the threat to unseat him. In fact, he is pleased to have the matter settled. He indicated he would welcome a showdown to get the senate back on its job of legislation.

The upper house has been in session more than three months, and so far, has not taken up any measure.

BRADLEY STARTED the counter-revolution movement when the Sacramento County Grand Jury investigated Schrade, and found no legal ground to return any indictment for receipt of certain campaign expenses.

He felt the Senate's prestige was endangered. However, the Bradley opposition does not have the votes to act and never did have, so Schrade will stay in office for the rest of the 1970 session.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

There's a man in the world who is never turned down, wherever he chances to stray; he gets the glad hand in the populous town, and out where the farmers make hay; he's greeted with pleasure on deserts of sand, and deep in the aisles of the woods; wherever he goes there's the welcoming hand — he's the Man Who Delivers the Goods. — Walt Mason.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Trustee's Remark Angers Parent

As a Reed School parent and former teacher from Wisconsin I feel morally obligated to comment on the article in the Independent-Journal of April 1, page 25, referring to grading by letters in the Reed District of Public Schools.

Mr. (Kenneth G.) Wells' smug comment about now having what most "taxpaying" parents want; i.e.: letter grades, makes me feel that we've really stepped back 50 years in Education. Does the fact that you pay taxes entitle you to be a judge of the trend of Education, Mr. Wells? Are we going to let the taxpaying parents run our schools or the educators? We might as well go back to outdoor plumbing and forget all the scientific progress we've made.

Perhaps Mr. Wells is insecure because he never had a college education — or if he did, was it the Class of 1890?

Letter grades are meaningless and as obsolete as the horse and buggy. They encourage children not to learn and develope (sic) at their own potential, but to compete with the other guy — or is that what all you parents had in mind?

Not Anti-Planning; Against One Plan

It is unfortunate that the headline of April 2 referred to our slate (Woodrow V. Capurro, Arthur W. Smith, Sarah Nome) as being "against planning." We are not against planning per se; unfortunately, planning as practiced in San Anselmo has seen the following results to name only a few:

1. A park was planned, thousands of dollars spent, a fountain inserted — and the whole torn down in favor of another plan.

2. A row of apartments passed by our planning commission fell down the hillside for one of the county's major disasters.

3. When Sir Francis Drake Boulevard was widened the difference in grade was not planned for. . .

4. The Hub (planned and built for a quarter of a million dollars) had to have one bulkhead moved back at extra expense after it was installed. . .

San Anselmo has a shelf full of plans (including an excellent one for storm drainage) all paid for and never used. Our slate feels that spending $114,000 is far too much for a plan calling for (among other things) a "land use survey" to identify "blighted" areas in San Anselmo. . .We feel this plan is Procrustean; that is, the bed is built and the arms and legs of the citizens are cut off to fit it! A darn uncomfortable plan!

Hub Improvement Won By Split Vote

Many thanks for the fine editorial entitled "The Hub Untangled At Last" which appeared in the April 4 issue of the Independent-Journal. I think that the signalization of the Hub intersection is a resounding success and should prove to the critics of the Hub realignment just how wrong they were. For the benefit of the uninformed, the realignment and signalization of the Hub intersection was approved by a 3-2 vote of the San Anselmo City Council and I think we all owe a vote of thanks to Councilmen Reed, Anderson and Ragan for having the courage and foresight to vote for the Hub improvement project.

Violence Will Right No Wrong

Two things appearing in your issue of 3 April deserve very special commendation and a wide readership — your excellent and timely editorial, "U. S. Supreme Court Acts To Save Judicial Order," and Prof. Ross K. Toole's righteously indignant letter to his brother, "Since When Have Children Ruled This Country?" I thank you for both!

It is hight time for both of these pronunciamentoes; that is, if we want to save this country and its essential institutions from destruction. . .

Fortunately, the attorneys and defendants who have sought to overthrow the judicial order are so small in number that the task of adequately fettering them presents no great problem. . .

Not so, however, this band of arrogantly destructive youth. For although constituting only a tiny few compared to all youth, it is sufficiently numerous and organized to wreak great havoc, as the mounting record of its malefactions and their consequences abundantly shows . . .

Why have they done these things? The answer is short and simple: because we have let them! Under the absurdly silly and puerile ideology that this segement of modern youth knows more than its elders, we collectively — parents, teachers, professors, university and college presidents, judges and other law officials, preachers, TV and radio broadcasters, newspaper and magazine editors and publishers, and government officials from those high in Washington on down to community levels, all have abdicated their authority and shirked their responsibility. . . Nay more. Some of us, in some instances — by either acts of commission or ommission — have actually encouraged them in their vicious and criminal conduct. . .

Burning down a bank because capitalism has made mistakes will not rectify those mistakes or bring a better order. Smashing windows, planting bombs, destroying property created by hard labor, occupying buildings and disrupting orderly processes of education or legislation, will not right a single wrong, erase a single injustice, extirpate a single prejudice or deprivation.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

At a Montana dude ranch, a rich socialite from the East mounted a pony for the first time in her life and was promplty tossed into a pile of straw at one end of the corral. "How dare you give me a pony that bucks?" she cried angrily, as she struggled to her feet.

A cowboy who had watched the performance with keen relish drawled, "Shucks, lady, that wasn't no buck. That pony just coughed."

THE DRUMMONDS

It's Time For Liberals To Call Halt To Left-Wing Fascism

By ROSCOE and GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

WASHINGTON—The violent war against American society, by those who say the system must be destroyed before anything can be made better, is escalating.

The number of bombings of government buildings and city skyscrapers, risking the lives of thousands, has gone up sharply.

The real peril to the nation is not that this monstrous violence will fail to be brought under control. It will be.

The greater peril is that it will become sufficiently widespread to provoke a massive backlash from the majority of Americans who will say, in effect: "If this is what comes from all we're doing about poverty and racial justice, it's time to stop."

THAT WOULD BE the greatest mistake of all. That would be playing right into the hands of the bomb-planters. That is exactly what they want. They want to intimidate and infuriate and frustrate the great majority of people who want to use peaceful means to achieve social progress. This is what the violent seek most—to immobilize the American system so that they can then say to the injured and the aggrieved: "See, it doesn't work; join us and we'll tear it down."

The violent-prone comprise only a small, reckless, heedless, misguided minority. In the view of Michael Harrington, a socialist dedicated to the democratic process, this resort to terror reflects the "impatient outrage of a young person who has had it easy and got his own way in family matters and now is going to impose his will upon the whole society."

The only way they can succeed is by causing the country and the Congress to react with such hostility to their violence as to stop the promising social and economic reforms now in the making.

Those who may be tempted to react that way will unwittingly be making common cause with the violence.

WE DO NOT minimize the need to put the full force of the law against terror and violence. It must be done, but while it is being done, nothing can do more to further the goal of such violence than to immobilize the good work in which the President and Congress are now engaged as it affects poverty, schools, race, equal rights and pollution of the environment.

It would help immeasurably if the political liberals in the media and in politics could come to see how important it is for them to speak out against violence on the left.

It is equally important that the political moderates in both parties show that the tactic of violence will not halt social reform. It is more needed now than ever.

NO ONE has spoken out more clearly against the tendency of political liberals to condone or remain silent with respect to violence on the left—though they would never tolerate such violence on the right—than ABC's Howard K. Smith. He says to his fellow liberals:

"I wonder if the Chicago Seven, with no changes in behavior, were members of the American Nazi Party, there would be so much sympathy for them. . ."

"I wonder if the Panthers disrupting the New York court were white right-wingers instead of black left-wingers there would not be summary actions against their disruptions."

And, he asked, if at the Chicago Democratic convention young people had taken down the American flag and put up the Nazi flag instead of the Viet Cong flag, "Would the journalist then have sympathized with them and called them our children?"

All should ponder Howard Smith's final question: "I wonder if we writers over the past few years had condemned left-wing fascism as sternly as I think we would condemn right-wing fascism. . . I wonder if we would be plagued with the present epidemic of senseless bombings."

It is not too late for the liberals to repair their mistake.

GOP Turns Attention To Building Organization

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Republican national party organization is asking its corps of campaign workers to follow advice attributed to Abraham Lincoln in 1840:

"Make a perfect list of all the voters and ascertain with certainty for whom they will vote."

The GOP is not asking for perfection. It is asking county chairmen and precinct captains to classify 80 per cent of the voting age residents by name and party preference, then getting at least 80 per cent of the probable Republican voters registered.

LINCOLN'S ADVICE and much more is contained in 6,000 campaign manuals being prepared and circulated by the national party organization to county chairmen and vice chairmen in all 50 states. A separate manual goes to party leaders in the precincts.

This "Mission 70's" project indicates that attention to the nuts and bolts of campaign organization did not vanish from the GOP national headquarters with the retirement a year ago of Chairman Ray C. Bliss.

His successor, Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland, serves as a spokeman for the Nixon administration. But he also budgeted $250,000 this year for building the party organization at the local and state level.

Richard Richards, Utah Republican chairman and director of the party's campaign division, and William Low, director of the party development division, are running the program. With four field agents, they are carrying it to statewide and smaller meetings of county chairmen. State GOP leaders also attend.

THE OPERATIONS plan will be presentey to state and county chairmen of 27 states by the end of April and of all 50 states by about July 1. One objective is to enable county chairmen with limited political experience to get an early start.

A county chairman who follows the book will set up a candidate recruitment committee to check qualifications of candidates and answer such questions as: "Is the prospect of high moral character, including no criminal or major traffic convictions?"

He will set priorities for target offices and submit a progress report and final report on candidates to the Republican state headquarters.

The chairmen will see that all precincts have chairmen, too, and calculate the requirements for volunteers — who man telephones, canvass voters, drive cars, babysit and do other work in registration drives and getting out the vote. More reports go to state headquarters.

VOTE GOALS are set for precincts and counties, with special attention reserved for those with Republican strength above the average.

A state chairman may reply that some of the counties must reach higher goals to insure victory for a statewide candidate.

Other sections of the manual deal with such political organization problems as budgets, fund raising, publicity and absentee voting.

"The average U. S. precinct had 221 unregistered voters in 1968," the manual says. "The President carried the average, precinct by three votes.

"The correct way to tap this source of political power is an organized, selective registraiton drive that concentrates on Republicans, not a random, door-to-door drive that registers as many Democrats as Republicans."

Republican leaders do not expect to create a new, modernized political structure this year. But they are hoping to build one in this decade.

Nude Prosecutions Hit Roadblock; Lawyers Lose Some Business

A case against three nude sunbathers was dismissed this week in Marin Municipal Court when the principal witness, Mrs. Eleanor Borden, who lives above a private beach next to Muir Beach, said she couldn't remember the arrest incident.

It had been reported earlier that Mrs. Borden, who has been the star witness in almost all the nudie cases, had lost her appetite for going to court. Now the district attorney's office is stuck with asking her about each case as it comes up for trial.

This particular case sounded like a fun one, too. The attorney for one of the defendants claimed last week in court that he should be tried separately from the other two, since he "was a mile down the beach from them."

Furthermore, the attorney said, his client would not reveive a fair trial if teamed with the others, since they are both officers of the Sexual Freedom League.

MARIN ATTORNEYS who specialize in divorce cases are discovering with horror that more and more people are going to court to obtain dissolution of their marriages without enlisting the services of lawyers.

If a couple has no dispute over property or child custody, it is a simple matter to fill out the form required under the new California divorce law. Since even some attorneys check the wrong boxes on the form, a lay person can probably do just as well.

The dissolutions if not contested are granted in court in often less than five minutes after brief testimony by one partner that "irreconcilable differences" exist in the marriage.

Upon learning that many persons are acting as their own attorneys in divorce actions, a prominent lawyer said, "Are they filling their own teeth, too? If they can be lawyers, why not dentists?"

Such logic probably will not prevail, however, and the trend toward skipping legal fees in divorces probably will grow.

THE RUNNING BATTLE at the Civic Center against marijuana plants continues. After it was discovered that some pot was growing lushly in a planter box outside the district attorney's office, the gardening crew was alerted to keep a sharp eye out for illegal plants among the proper ones.

Since the gardeners were not too sure what marijuana looks like, a drug abuse bureau agent met with them recently to inform them how to recognize it. The gardeners were still not sure they could tell grass from tomato plants, but they were told, "We don't want any tomato plants, either. Pull up anything that looks like that."

Pot smokers apparently have been dropping marijuana seeds into the planter boxes, where frequent watering, fertilization and the dome skylights make the ideal growing conditions.

House Moves Afoot Seek Douglas Ouster

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., said Thursday legislation probably would be introduced next week calling for a bipartisan investigation of Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas. Such a move could lead to impeachment proceedings.

A final decision has not been made, said Wyman. He is drafting a plan for creation of a special congressional committee to investigate the jurist's published views on youth and revolution, obscenity and former association with a foundation which had Las Vegas gambling ties.

Such a committee, Wyman said, would be required to report its findings within 90 days and could result in the first move toward impeachment proceedings.

Wyman is trying to enlist the active support of House GOP leader Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., whose staff has been investigating the possibility of impeachment since last November. Wyman also is seeking cosponsors.

Wyman, Rep. William L. Scott, R-Va., who also said he wants an impeachment effort, met with Ford Thursday to discuss the effort. Further meetings will be held over the weekend, Wyman said, since several parliamentary problems must be worked out.

BIAS ON BENCH?

All parties disclaim anything personal against the 71-year-old jurist. Wyman claims a central issue is whether Douglas' private liberal views affect his objectivity as a sitting justice.

Recent opposition to Douglas started during debate on the ill-fated Supreme Court nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. Wyman and others say that connection is coincidental. Also, all deny any relationship between the Douglas investigation and Wednesday's Senate rejection of Judge G. Harrold Carswell's nomination to the high bench.

The creation of a select investigating committee would be an effective way to bypass the House Judiciary Committee which ordinarily would schedule hearings on an impeachment resolution. The move's sponsors believe that Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., would be instrumental in burying Douglas impeachment plan set to the judiciary group.

DEMO PLANS

At least one Democrat, Rep. John R. Rarick, D-La., is threatening an impeachment effort. Under the constitution, the House votes an indictment and the Senate conducts an impeachment trial.

The Senate, which has heard 10 impeachment cases in history, has removed three officials from office—all U. S. District Court justice. No Supreme Court justice has been brought to trial.

Douglas survived a 1953 impeachment attempt brought by former Rep. W. M. (Don) Wheeler, D-Ga., who was angered at Douglas' temporary stay of execution of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg. The judiciary committee buried the impeachment resolution after one hearing.

New Telephone Directories Due

Delivery of Marin's 123,500 1970 telephone directories will begin tomorrow and end Wednesday, a spokesman for the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. has announced.

In the new directory, Novato listings will be in a separate section.

This year's book which has a photograph of Mission San Rafael on the cover, also has a map of Marin on the back cover.

An additional ton of paper was used this year in the printing of the directory, the telephone spokesman said.

Nuclear Power Plant On Santa Cruz Coast?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Pacific Gas & Electric Co. announced Thursday it hopes to build a nuclear power plant on the coast 12 miles north of Santa Cruz.

PG&E said it has a purchase option on 7,000 acres of land now owned by the Coast Dairies & Land Co. It said engineering, geological and ecological studies were being undertaken.

The company said it would begin consultations with the various government units involved.

The site is west of Highway 1 and north of the town of Davenport. No timetable has been set for construction.

PG&E said that it will employ environmental experts to "insure spaces and other uses" at the site."

PG&E already has a nuclear plant under construction on the coast in San Luis Obispo County and has acquired sites in Solano County, Mendocino County and Monterey County for proposed plants.

Michael McCloskey, executive director of the Sierra Club, said his organization would oppose any nuclear plant proposed for the Santa Cruz area. "The coastline is too precious a resource to be gobbled up by these proliferating plants," he said.

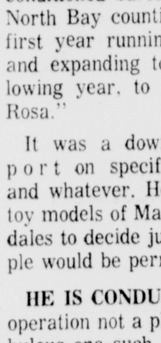
COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

While County Fiddles, Buses Roll, Thanks To Others' Efforts



Fusselman

On Sept. 12 this column's heading: "Realities Vs. Expensive Dreaming In Two Approaches To Transit". In the preceding Wednesday's I-J Paul Peterzell had written a full and comprehensive account of the proposal made by Golden Gate Bridge Dist. Mgr. Dale W. Luehrnig to the district directors. This column went on:

"He proposed launching by mid-1970 a fleet of air-conditioned buses to serve the North Bay counties — 152 the first year running to Novato, and expanding to 186 the following year, to run to Santa Rosa."

It was a down-to-earth report on specifics—financing and whatever. He didn't build toy models of Marin's hills and dales to decide just where people would be permitted to live.

HE IS CONDUCTING a live operation not a phantom or nebulous one such as both Planning Director Paul Zucker and Marin Transit Mgr. Seymour Kashin have been playing around with.

Zucker's model, he said, was to be used to examine the transporation system and the land use system.

He also told the group of city and county officials before whom he was appearing that what he was developing was a working tool, not an answer they can make decisions on. Of course as long as the long green is forthcoming he will be making tools not giving answers.

Observe: In addition to his regular budget (a fat one) for advanced planning, he received for "balanced transportation", in 1968-69 $32,173 and in '69-70 $58,331. Then there was to come from the state $24,400 — a total of $111,904 to play around with.

In addition to this $111,904, the Marin Transit District has taxed you to the tune of $262,545. This looks very much like a total for fiddling around with the transit problem of $374,449.

WELL, WHAT DO you have for this? The wind of oratory is long since gone. The manager of the MCTD is just about to disappear over the horizon. The planning director has put behind him all planning and is trying to get even with the chairman and the board by running aginst the chairman. Still there is nothing operated by the county for the folks to ride on—neither inter-county nor intra-county.

In contrast the Golden Gate Bridge District's manager is going ahead with long haul and a ferry service, while a group of alert young men have organized and are operating the Marin Transit Systems, with their office in Marin City.

My friends, I tell you they should have the support and co-operation or the public and public officials. When they ask for endorsement by the county on an application for federal funds to carry on with, they most certainly are entitled to that endorsement, notwithstanding Alan Bruce, who incidentally has no legal place in the transit district and should not be advising the district directors in any way, shape or form. He is still at it with that "I'm going to run this county and don't you ever forget it". What a pain!

The fellows from Marin City have the buses rolling, with even a new Mercedes-Benz deluxe job. . . .They are for endorsement by the county on an application for federal funds to carry on with, they most certainly are entitled to co-operation of the public and public officals. When they ask should have the support and formed both as to the potential and the finance phase. They have done this by their own efforts.s.s. This is a reas service and should be supported.

I have known Ted Barron, the president, and his family for quite some years. They are all right, good citizens with plenty on the ball.

Health Guidelines Voted For Schools

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Board of Education today urged California schools to begin a comprehensive program of health education including such topics as drugs, mental health, environment and consumer health.

The advisory "Framework for Health Instruction in California Public Schools" was adopted Thursday by the board despite objections by some parents to a section on family life.

Althea McFadyen, representing a group called "Sacramento County Families United," labeled the sections "a thinly disguised rehash" of sex education.

"Problems of contraception and sex drives are inappropriate for adolescents," Mrs. McFadyen told the board.

Drawn up by educators at San Fernando Valley State College at the request of the board, the guidelines can be used by local districts setting up curricula on health instruction for elementary and high schools.

Board members agreed they might amend the guidelines at their May meeting.

Two changes were made in the guidelines. A section defining health partly as "social well-being" was deleted in favor of the phrase "moral well-being." The board also added a section defining "moral improvement" as a main purpose of the public school.

The guidelines were adopted on a motion by The Rev. Donn Moomaw, Gov. Ronald Reagan's personal minister. Moomaw called the proposal a "most forward-looking document."

Board member Eugene Ragle, a Roseville broadcaster, favored postponing consideration of the guidelines for a month.

In response to criticisms from James A. Gilbert, national chairman of a group called "Concerned Citizens for Better Government," Ragle called for deletion of a section on safety in "firearms regulations."

Gilbert called the section part of "a continual effort to disarm the citizens of the United States."

Rafferty also agreed that the section should be deleted:

"Firearms have little to do with health," he said.

But the board left the section intact.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Barbiturates A Mixed Blessing; Overdoses Cause Many Troubles

Barbiturates are a mixed blessing. These drugs that quiet and put to sleep millions every night must be used properly.

But, the tiny, "so easy to take" sleep-producers have toxic, habituating, and even addictive properties when they are abused.

Estimates show that, annually, 15,000 suicidal individuals are hospitalized for acute barbiturate intoxication and 1,000 die from barbiturate poisoning.

THE BARBITURATES are classified according to chemical structure and duration of action. Barbital and phenobarbital are long-acting (6 or more hours). Amytal and Nembutal are examples of those of intermediate duration (3 to 6 hours). Seconal (secobarbital) lasts less than 3 hours and is classified as short-acting.

All of these products are taken orally or rectally. A fourth type, thiopental, is given intravenously as an anesthetic and is ultrashort-acting.

SHORT-ACTING compounds are destroyed by the liver whereas the long-acting products are metabolized so slowly by this organ that they are eliminated mainly via the kidneys. This is an important consideration when treating a person who tries to commit suicide with sleeping pills.

Methods that increase the urinary output are of value in treating poisoning due to long-acting barbiturates.

Diuretics and alkaline fluids are given intravenously to stimulate the kidneys.

THE ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY also is used to remove barbiturates from the blood. It is, however, an expensive method and the equipment is not always available.

Vigorous supportive therapy and good nursing care remain the best remedies for barbiturate poisoning. Overdosage usually is followed by coma, loss of reflexes, insensitivity to pain, and a depression of respiration and circulation.

The throat and windpipe are kept open to provide an airway to the lungs. The patient is watched carefully and each complication is treated as it develops. He is turned every two hours to avoid pneumonia.

THE ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT used in coronary care units also helps to keep the heart going.

CHICKEN BREASTED

A reader writes: What is meant by chicken breast? I have a friend who was told that she has this defect and no one seems to be able to explain what it is.

REPLY

Chicken breast is an abnormality in which the breastbone (sternum) protrudes like the keel on a ship. No treatment is necessary unless the defect is interfering with the workings of the heart or lungs.

CHOKING IN SLEEP

S. P. writes: What would cause a person to choke in his sleep?

REPLY

There are several possibilities, varying from a plug of mucus in the bronchi to heart trouble. In some persons, the sensation occurs because they dream they are choking; in others, the pulse slows, leading to irregularities of the heartbeat.

EYELID TWITCHES

W. H. writes: What is blepharospasm?

REPLY

Spasm or twitching of the eyelids. The symptom may stem from a local disturbance such as inflammation, poor vision, or muscle imbalance. It also develops in persons who are fatigued or toxic from too much coffee, tea, or tobacco. The most common cause is irritation from a speck of dirt.

The estimated cost of the municipal improvement as set forth in Measure (D) (Main Fire Station) is the sum of $625,000 and the amount of the indebtedness proposed to be incurred for said municipal improvement is the sum of $625,000.

Section 2. The Council does hereby submit to the qualified electors of the City at said special municipal bond election said measures, and each of them, set forth in Section 1 of this ordinance, and designates and refers to said measures as the measures to be set forth on the ballots hereinafter prescribed for use at said election.

(a) Said special municipal bond election shall be held and conducted, and the votes thereof canvassed, and the returns thereof made, and the result thereof ascertained and determined, as herein provided; and in all particulars not prescribed by this ordinance, said election shall be held as provided by law.

(b) All persons qualified to vote at municipal elections in the City upon the date of the election herein provided for shall be qualified to vote upon the measures submitted at said special municipal bond election.

(c) The polls at the polling places hereinafter designated shall be opened at 7:00 o'clock A.M. of said day of election and shall be kept open continuously thereafter until 8:00 o'clock P.M. of said day of election, when the polls shall be closed (except as provided in Section 14436 of the Elections Code), and the election officers shall thereupon proceed to canvass the ballots cast thereat.

(d) Said special municipal bond election hereby called shall be and is hereby consolidated with the State of California Direct Primary Election to be held in the City on June 2, 1970, all as required by and pursuant to law; and the election precincts, polling places and officers of election within the City for said special municipal bond election hereby called shall be the same as those selected and designated by the Board of Supervisors of Marin County for said primary election and set forth or to be set forth in the notice of election officers and polling places for said primary election published or to be published by the County Clerk of said County, as required by law, to which notice reference is hereby specifically made for a designation of the precincts, polling places, and election officers of the special municipal bond election hereby called. Only qualified voters of the City shall be permitted to vote at said special municipal bond election. The Board of Supervisors of said County is authorized to canvass, or cause to be canvassed, the returns of said special municipal bond election with respect to the votes cast in the City and to certify the results to the Council.

(e) On the ballots to be used at said primary election and said special municipal bond election hereby consolidated therewith, in addition to all other matters required by law to be printed thereon, shall appear the measures, and each of them, set forth in Section 1 hereof. Each voter may vote on any or all of said measures. Each voter to vote for any measure hereby submitted and for incurring said bonded indebtedness shall stamp a cross (+) in the blank space opposite the word "YES" on the ballot to the right of said measure, and to vote against any measure and against incurring said indebtedness shall stamp a cross (+) in the blank space opposite the word "NO" on the ballot to the right of said measure, except that if and to the extent that Votomatic ballot cards are used at said elections, each voter to vote for any measure hereby submitted and for incurring said bonded indebtedness shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "YES" to the right of said measure, and to vote against any measure and against incurring said indebtedness shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "NO" to the right of said measure. On absent voter ballots the cross (+) may be marked with pen or pencil, except that if and to the extent that data vote ballot cards are provided for absent voters, each absent voter shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "YES" to the right of each measure or in the hole after the word "NO" to the right of each measure. Absent voter ballots setting forth said measures, and each of them shall be issued to qualified electors residing within the City entitled thereto, in the manner provided by law, and such absent voter ballots shall likewise be canvassed, or caused to be canvassed, by the Board of Supervisors of said County.

(f) At the next regular meeting of the Council occurring after the returns of said special municipal bond election have been canvassed, or caused to be canvassed, by the Board of Supervisors of said County, and the certification of the results thereof to the Council, or at a special meeting called thereafter for such purpose, the Council shall cause to be spread upon its minutes a statement of the results of said special municipal bond election as ascertained by said canvass.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

Shoreline Staff Voted Raise But Not Teachers

Classified employees have been given a 4 per cent wage increase while teachers have been offered contracts at present salaries pending outcome of current negotiations, Supt. Charles E. McCully of Shoreline Unified School District, reported yesterday.

The five-step wage scale of the 34 classified employees will rise next school year from the present range of $458—$555 to $497—$577. This will cost the district approximately $7,000 next year, McCully said.

After a closed meeting Wednesday night to discuss salary negotiations, the board voted to offer all existing teachers a contract on the present pay scale, McCully said. However, negotiations are still going on and this is subject to change, he said.

The board discussed finances for next fiscal year. There will probably be very little change from the current $1,121,393 budget, McCully said.

Two Petaluma Stores Have Broken Windows

Two Petaluma businesses have reported broken windows, police reported yesterday.

R and E automotive repair, 426 Petaluma Boulevard North, reported a plate glass window valued at $175 had been shot out Tuesday night with a BB gun. Ness's grocery, 1004 B Street, reported a brick had been tossed through a front window causing $30 damage.

Health Guidelines Voted For Schools

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The state Board of Education today urged California schools to begin a comprehensive program of health education including such topics as drugs, mental health, environment and consumer health.

The advisory "Framework for Health Instruction in California Public Schools" was adopted Thursday by the board despite objections by some parents to a section on family life.

Althea McFadyen, representing a group called "Sacramento County Families United," labeled the sections "a thinly disguised rehash" of sex education.

"Problems of contraception and sex drives are inappropriate for adolescents," Mrs. McFadyen told the board.

Drawn up by educators at San Fernando Valley State College at the request of the board, the guidelines can be used by local districts setting up curricula on health instruction for elementary and high schools.

Board members agreed they might amend the guidelines at their May meeting.

Two changes were made in the guidelines. A section defining health partly as "social well-being" was deleted in favor of the phrase "moral well-being." The board also added a section defining "moral improvement" as a main purpose of the public school.

The guidelines were adopted on a motion by The Rev. Donn Moomaw, Gov. Ronald Reagan's personal minister. Moomaw called the proposal a "most forward-looking document."

Board member Eugene Ragle, a Roseville broadcaster, favored postponing consideration of the guidelines for a month.

In response to criticisms from James A. Gilbert, national chairman of a group called "Concerned Citizens for Better Government," Ragle called for deletion of a section on safety in "firearms regulations."

Gilbert called the section part of "a continual effort to disarm the citizens of the United States."

Rafferty also agreed that the section should be deleted:

"Firearms have little to do with health," he said.

But the board left the section intact.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Barbiturates A Mixed Blessing; Overdoses Cause Many Troubles

Barbiturates are a mixed blessing. These drugs that quiet and put to sleep millions every night must be used properly.

But, the tiny, "so easy to take" sleep-producers have toxic, habituating, and even addictive properties when they are abused.

Estimates show that, annually, 15,000 suicidal individuals are hospitalized for acute barbiturate intoxication and 1,000 die from barbiturate poisoning.

THE BARBITURATES are classified according to chemical structure and duration of action. Barbital and phenobarbital are long-acting (6 or more hours). Amytal and Nembutal are examples of those of intermediate duration (3 to 6 hours). Seconal (secobarbital) lasts less than 3 hours and is classified as short-acting.

All of these products are taken orally or rectally. A fourth type, thiopental, is given intravenously as an anesthetic and is ultrashort-acting.

SHORT-ACTING compounds are destroyed by the liver whereas the long-acting products are metabolized so slowly by this organ that they are eliminated mainly via the kidneys. This is an important consideration when treating a person who tries to commit suicide with sleeping pills.

Methods that increase the urinary output are of value in treating poisoning due to long-acting barbiturates.

Diuretics and alkaline fluids are given intravenously to stimulate the kidneys.

THE ARTIFICIAL KIDNEY also is used to remove barbiturates from the blood. It is, however, an expensive method and the equipment is not always available.

Vigorous supportive therapy and good nursing care remain the best remedies for barbiturate poisoning. Overdosage usually is followed by coma, loss of reflexes, insensitivity to pain, and a depression of respiration and circulation.

The throat and windpipe are kept open to provide an airway to the lungs. The patient is watched carefully and each complication is treated as it develops. He is turned every two hours to avoid pneumonia.

THE ELECTRONIC EQUIPMENT used in coronary care units also helps to keep the heart going.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by amil if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

CHICKEN BREASTED

A reader writes: What is meant by chicken breast? I have a friend who was told that she has this defect and no one seems to be able to explain what it is.

REPLY

Chicken breast is an abnormality in which the breastbone (sternum) protrudes like the keel on a ship. No treatment is necessary unless the defect is interfering with the workings of the heart or lungs.

CHOKING IN SLEEP

S. P. writes: What would cause a person to choke in his sleep?

REPLY

There are several possibilities, varying from a plug of mucus in the bronchi to heart trouble. In some persons, the sensation occurs because they dream they are choking; in others, the pulse slows, leading to irregularities of the heartbeat.

EYELID TWITCHES

W. H. writes: What is blepharospasm?

REPLY

Spasm or twitching of the eyelids. The symptom may stem from a local disturbance such as inflammation, poor vision, or muscle imbalance. It also develops in persons who are fatigued or toxic from too much coffee, tea, or tobacco. The most common cause is irritation from a speck of dirt.

The Council does hereby submit to the qualified electors of the City at said special municipal bond election said measures, and each of them, set forth in Section 1 of this ordinance, and designates and refers to said measures as the measures to be set forth on the ballots hereinafter prescribed for use at said election.

(a) Said special municipal bond election shall be held and conducted, and the votes thereof canvassed, and the returns thereof made, and the result thereof ascertained and determined, as herein provided; and in all particulars not prescribed by this ordinance, said election shall be held as provided by law.

(b) All persons qualified to vote at municipal elections in the City upon the date of the election herein provided for shall be qualified to vote upon the measures submitted at said special municipal bond election.

(d) Said special municipal bond election hereby called shall be and is hereby consolidated with the State of California Direct Primary Election to be held in the City on June 2, 1970, all as required by and pursuant to law; and the election precincts, polling places and officers of election within the City for said special municipal bond election hereby called shall be the same as those selected and designated by the Board of Supervisors of Marin County for said primary election and set forth or to be set forth in the notice of election officers and polling places for said primary election published or to be published by the County Clerk of said County, as required by law, to which notice reference is hereby specifically made for a designation of the precincts, polling places, and election officers of the special municipal bond election hereby called. Only qualified voters of the City shall be permitted to vote at said special municipal bond election. The Board of Supervisors of said County is authorized to canvass, or cause to be canvassed, the returns of said special municipal bond election with respect to the votes cast in the City and to certify the results to the Council.

(e) On the ballots to be used at said primary election and said special municipal bond election hereby consolidated therewith, in addition to all other matters required by law to be printed thereon, shall appear the measures, and each of them, set forth in Section 1 hereof. Each voter may vote on any or all of said measures. Each voter to vote for any measure hereby submitted and for incurring said bonded indebtedness shall stamp a cross (+) in the blank space opposite the word "YES" on the ballot to the right of said measure, and to vote against any measure and against incurring said indebtedness shall stamp a cross (+) in the blank space opposite the word "NO" on the ballot to the right of said measure, except that if and to the extent that Votomatic ballot cards are used at said elections, each voter to vote for any measure hereby submitted and for incurring said bonded indebtedness shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "YES" to the right of said measure, and to vote against any measure and against incurring said indebtedness shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "NO" to the right of said measure. On absent voter ballots the cross (+) may be marked with pen or pencil, except that if and to the extent that data vote ballot cards are provided for absent voters, each absent voter shall punch the ballot card in the hole after the word "YES" to the right of each measure or in the hole after the word "NO" to the right of each measure. Absent voter ballots setting forth said measures, and each of them shall be issued to qualified electors residing within the City entitled thereto, in the manner provided by law, and such absent voter ballots shall likewise be canvassed, or caused to be canvassed, by the Board of Supervisors of said County.

(f) At the next regular meeting of the Council occurring after the returns of said special municipal bond election have been canvassed, or caused to be canvassed, by the Board of Supervisors of said County, and the certification of the results thereof to the Council, or at a special meeting called thereafter for such purpose, the Council shall cause to be spread upon its minutes a statement of the results of said special municipal bond election as ascertained by said canvass.

Section 3. The Council proposes to issue and sell bonds of the City for the objects and purposes, but not exceeding the amount, specified in said respective measures if two thirds of the qualified electors voting on each separate measure at said special municipal bond election shall vote in favor of each of said measures; provided, however, that the votes cast for and against each of said respective measures shall be counted separately and, when two-thirds of the qualified electors voting on any one of said measures vote in favor thereof, such measure shall be deemed adopted and bonds of the City in the aggregate amount specified in the measure or measures which carried by the affirmative vote of two-thirds of the qualified electors of the City voting on said measure or measures at said election shall thereby be authorized to be issued and sold for the objects and purposes specified in said measure or measures which received such affirmative two-thirds vote.

Said bonds shall be negotiable in form and of the character known as serial, and shall bear interest at a rate not to exceed seven percent (7) per annum, payable semiannually (except that interest for the first year after the date of said bonds may be made payable at or before the end of said year). Provision is hereby made for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds as follows: At the time of making the general tax levy after incurring the bonded indebtedness, and annually thereafter until the bonds are paid or until there is a sum in the treasury set apart for that purpose sufficient to meet all payments of principal and interest on the bonds as they become due, the Council shall levy and collect a tax sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and such part of the principal as will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied at the next general tax levy will be available; provided, however, that if said bonds are authorized to be issued at said election, and it is expected that all or any part of said bonds will be sold at such time that the principal of or interest on such bonds will become due before the proceeds of a tax levied after such sale would be available to pay such principal or interest, the Council, at the time of fixing the annual tax levy, may levy a tax in an amount clearly sufficient to pay that portion of the principal of and interest on said bonds which it is expected will become due before the proceeds of the next succeeding tax levy will be available. If the earliest maturity of the bonds is more than one year after the date of issuance, the Council shall levy and collect annually a tax sufficient to pay the interest as it falls due and to constitute a sinking fund for the payment of the principal on or before maturity. Such taxes shall be levied and collected as other City taxes and shall be in addition to all other taxes and shall be used only for payment of the bonds and the interest thereon.

Section 4. The City Clerk of the City is hereby directed (a) to publish this ordinance once in full in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published in the City, at least three days before its adoption, and (b), upon the passage and adoption of this ordinance, to publish the same once a day for at least seven (7) days in the Independent-Journal, which is a newspaper of general circulation published at least six (6) days a week in the City, and such publication shall constitute notice of said election. No other notice of the election hereby called need be given.

Section 5. This ordinance shall be forthwith entered upon the minutes of the Council and in the Ordinance Book of the City. This ordinance, being an ordinance calling and ordering an election, shall take effect from and after its final passage and approval.

Shoreline Staff Voted Raise But Not Teachers

Classified employees have been given a 4 per cent wage increase while teachers have been offered contracts at present salaries pending outcome of current negotiations, Supt. Charles E. McCully of Shoreline Unified School District, reported yesterday.

The five-step wage scale of the 34 classified employees will rise next school year from the present range of $458—$555 to $497—$577. This will cost the district approximately $7,000 next year, McCully said.

After a closed meeting Wednesday night to discuss salary negotiations, the board voted to offer all existing teachers a contract on the present pay scale, McCully said. However, negotiations are still going on and this is subject to change, he said.

The board discussed finances for next fiscal year. There will probably be very little change from the current $1,121,393 budget, McCully said.

Two Petaluma Stores Have Broken Windows

Two Petaluma businesses have reported broken windows, police reported yesterday.

R and E automotive repair, 426 Petaluma Boulevard North, reported a plate glass window valued at $175 had been shot out Tuesday night with a BB gun. Ness's grocery, 1004 B Street, reported a brick had been tossed through a front window causing $30 damage.

Aaron In Quick Start At Masters, But Not Arnie

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Noted also-ran Tommy Aaron jumped out of the gate a leader in the Masters' first round with Gene Littler and Bert Yancey hot on his trail, but famed charger Arnold Palmer died by his own sword.

"I shot dead for each hole—like I always have—and was penalized for it," fumed Palmer after his 75. "It's not in my blood to hit shots soft and hope they happen to trickle up near the hole."

Aaron tamed Augusta National's diamond-hard greens with a four-under-par 68 and his closest pursuers were one shot off the pace. Grouped at 70 were Dan and R. H. Sikes along with Chi Chi Rodriguez, Charlie Coody and muscular Bob Lunn.

Jack Nicklaus, a three-time winner, stayed close with a 71 along with 1969's leading money winner, Frank Beard. South Africa Gary Player got off slowly with a 74.

"Good-looking shots turned into nothing all day," said four-time champion Palmer. "The ball skidded across the greens and I found myself looking back at the hole from behind the green."

Palmer was in an unexciting tie for 32nd place with the likes of Hsieh Yung-yo of Nationalist China.

"I've never been famous for my short game," he said, "but I didn't hit them badly this time. They looked perfect heading to the green and then bounced out of sight."

Aaron survived a bogey on the tough 18th hole to take the top spot Thursday. The game's most famous bridesmaid birdied three straight holes—the 12th through 14th—on a hot 33 back nine to stand alone after a day.

"Being from Georgia, I've always wanted to win the Masters," said Aaron, who has not captured a U.S. tour event in nine pro years despite being a regular in the $70,000-$90,000 income bracket.

Rodriguez was excited over his first Masters shot since 1966 and the colorful Puerto Rican didn't want to leave the press interview area following his fine opening-round 70.

"I don't get here too often, so I want to make the best of it," he said. "I could have shot a 66 out there today, but I choked a little, thinking about it being the Masters."

Rodriguez has a lot of mouths to feed back at Dorado Beach. He claims to support most of his family.

"I have 13 dependents," he said in broken English. "All of them have 140 I.Q. or better, except me. I'm under 100 . . . and I support them all."

The field was due to be sliced to the low 44 scores and ties after today's second round. The cutoff has never been lower than four-over par 148 and—according to the first day's results—could soar as high as 151.

Everybody Happy When Gurney Wins

I wish the sports world was full of Dan Gurneys.

A veteran Grand Prix and Indianapolis star, Gurney is one of the world's greatest athletes and he wears it well. Like Arnold Palmer or Ernie Banks or the late Rocky Marciano, to name a few genuine champions, Gurney is just a plain good, clean cut All-American guy. And, everyone is happy when he wins. The guy has no sour grapes competitiors.

The other night, after Gurney won the Sears Point 150-mile race for Indianapolis cars, Mrs. John Cannon of Montreal, Canada said to Evie Gurney: "You know, when that husband of yours wins, everyone's delighted. Why, even my own children are always cheering for Dan."

"Hmm," hmmed John Cannon, the international road racing star who earlier that day was one of 25 also-rans at Sears Point, "how about THAT?"

Gurney, across the table, flashed an embarrassed grin, blushed, changed subject.

Then Someone Mentioned Indy

We were in the Hillsborough home of Sears Point treasurer John Brawner, discussing a variety of subjects, when someone mentioned Indianapolis. The 39-year-old Gurney, who had been enjoying himself up until then, slapped his head in mock agony and groaned: "Oh, no, is it getting to be that time already?"

Runner-up in the last two Indy 500s, Gurney not only drives but builds Eagle race cars. He has eight under construction at his All-American Racers company in Santa Ana. "First I take care of the customers, then myself," he said, indicating a hectic work schedule in the weeks ahead.

Gurney was giving Indy rookie Cannon some tips on Indianapolis, where to stay, where not to eat, etc. when a writer mentioned that the speedway city was an "epicurean sewer."

Evie Gurney cut in : "Oh, we've found one good place to eat" and her famous hubby couldn't resist cracking: "A good sewer, dear?"

Just then a waitress served our dessert, a chocolate concoction with nuts and marshmallows.

Gurney, tall and trim, said, "Oh, oh, here goes my diet."

The Road May Be Rocky

I interjected: "Don't worry, Dan. Sears Point gave you a smooth ride worth $15,000 today. You shouldn't mind a little rocky road."

He just winced.

Well, I thought it was cute of the Brawners to serve rocky road to one of the world's greatest road racers.

Just as the party was about to break up, I asked Gurney if he'd mind signing some autographs "for my kids."

A half hour later, his hand aching, he turned to me and laughed: "Say, how many children do you have, anyway?"

Would you believe 22? Now, all the kids and a few adults on my block have a very special autograph for their collections.

And on my wall is a picture autographed: "To Jimmy, with best personal regards . . . Dan Gurney."

He thinks Jimmy Gilmartin is my kid. Heh-heh-heh . . .

SOHNER TREE SERVICE softball team of San Anselmo is desperately in need of a couple of Class A pitchers. If you think you can make some pretty good underhanded deals, contact Manager Art Donati of Corte Madera

Where's The A's Power?

KANSAS CITY (AP) — John McNamara, the rookie Oakland Athletics manager, asked the question rhetorically, then answered it himself.

"Is their pitching that good, or have we over-estimated our hitters? Only time will tell. But we think's we've got good hitters."

McNamara was searching for an explanation for the A's hitting drought in losing 2-0 and 3-1 to the Kansas City Royals in their season - opening series which concluded Thursday night. The A's went 21 innings without scoring from the sixth inning of a 6-4 victory Tuesday to the ninth inning Thursday.

"You have to give their pitchers credit," McNamara added, "but we believe we'll hit better than that. Some of our hitters are pressing a little."

Most noticeable of the A's silent bats after a 6-4 victory in Tuesday's opener was that of slugging star Reggie Jackson. He got only one single in 10 times at bat and drove in just one run in the series.

"I think Reggie is trying to find himself," McNamara said. "He's fouling pitches off he should be hitting."

DAY OFF

The Athletics are idle today and play at Minnesota tomorrow.

Bill Butler and Dave Morehead teamed up Thursday night to put the whammy on the A's hitters, limiting them to five hits and blanking them until the ninth inning when Bob Oliver's error opened the way for an unearned run.

Butler, wild but tough when he had to be, pitched six shutout innings, then developed a blister on the index finger of his pitching hand which forced him out of the game. Morehead finished up, getting touched for two hits, including one by Felipe Alou with two out in the ninth that drove in Oakland's only run and snapped the club record shutout string.

FOUR-HITTER

Dick Drago blanked the A's 2-0 on four hits Wednesday night.

The Royals got to loser Chuck Dobson for two runs in the first on Pat Kelly's bunt single, Ed Kirkpatrick's double and a wild pitch, then Jimmy Campanis hit his first American League home run in the fifth.

Hurrah! Tars Win First Game

Led by Dave Obrantz, who scored the winning run after smashing a game — tying double in the eighth inning, College of Marin finally won a baseball game yesterday, 6-5 over Contra Costa Junior College at Kentfield.

Down 5-3 going into the bottom of the eighth, Marin got a foot in the door when Jim Peters, who knocked in two runs in the third, singled to left. First baseman Roger Offenbach moved him to third with a single, taking second on a bad relay to set the stage for Obrantz.

Freshman Mike Locati scored Obrantz from second with a base hit to give the Tars their first win in 10 tries this season.

Mike Terry, who settled down to pitch shutout ball the last six innings got the win. Ken Lazzarini ran his hitting streak to 16 games with a single his last time at bat.

THE YOUTH MOVEMENT

Giants' Kids Get Ready For Reds

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—With anxious youngsters supplying hope for success, the San Francisco Giants open a four-game series with the Cincinnati Reds tonight—but you couldn't blame pitcher Ron Bryant for being sorry the Houston Astros left town.

Bryant's effective relief and a youth-inspired five-run, eighth-inning rally Thursday powered the Giants to a 7-4 victory over the Astros, giving San Francisco the opening series by a 2-1 margin.

Bryant, who sputtered in spring training appearances, worked two scoreless innings to pick up the win. It raised his major league record to 5-3, including a perfect 4-0 against the Astros.

"I was keeping the ball low and throwing strikes," Bryant said, explaining his sudden success. "Having to bear down and concentrate has a lot to do with it. You just don't worry that much in the spring."

Rookie third baseman Alan Gallagher continued his timely hitting, collecting a sixth-inning single and the eighth-inning sacrifice fly that scored Willie Mays with the go-ahead run for a 4-3 lead.

Steve Whitaker, a newcomer who collected pinch-hits Tuesday and Wednesday, started Thursday and responded with a two-run single that sent the Giants ahead 6-3 in the eighth.

"The kids are doing a great job — everyone is coming through," said Manager Clyde King.

With Juan Marichal still hospitalized with an allergy reaction, King named Rich Robertson, Gaylord Perry, Mike McCormick and Bryant to pitch against Cincinnati.

Frank Reberger made his first start as a Giant and allowed one earned run in six innings before being lifted for a pinch-batter.

Willie McCovey's single and Dick Dietz's 400-foot homer started the Giants comeback against starter Jim Ray in the fifth. Reliever Jack DiLauro took the loss.

"I'm seeing the ball better," said Dietz of his two homers and five RBI in two games.

Marin Tar Swimmer Sets Mark

College of Marin's swimming team lost two meets this week, but Coach Bob Justice noted some outstanding performances led by Bruce Averill who set a school record in the 200-yard individual medley.

Averill was clocked at 2 minutes, 11.7 seconds Tuesday against American River Junior College of Sacramento, lowering the school record from 2:12.8. It was Averill's lifetime best.

Averill also won the 200 back in 2:14. Other Marin winners were Dave Topance in the 50 free, Greg Myers in the 100 free, Mike Robertson in low board diving and Duncan Lane in high board diving .

American River won the meet, 63-50.

On Wednesday, DeAnza College of Cupertino dunked the Tars 65-47. Averill again was a double winner while Ben Edmonds won the 200 butterfly and Myers the 100 free.

554 Yards Passing

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The National Football League record for the most yards gained passing in a single game is held by Norm Van Brocklin. As quarterback for the Los Angeles Rams in 1951, he passed for 554 yards against the New York Yanks, hitting 27 of 41 aerials attempted.

Reds' Pitching Very, Very Tough

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The temptation was to run a benefit—preferably one that offered arms to the pitching poor—when Sparky Anderson accepted the manager's job in Cincinnati.

You know the Reds: good hit, no pitch. To qualify for their pitching staff, all an applicant needed was a usuable arm. Proficiency wasn't terribly important.

Pitching was the one thing the Reds didn't have. The fact that throwing strikes is supposed to be 75 per cent of the game might be the reason that Cincinnati has not won a pennant since 1961.

PURE FICTION

All of this, of course, seems like pure fiction to Anderson who, for the first week of the season, has had all the pitching he could use.

Rookie Wayne Simpson gave the Reds their fourth straight strong hurling job Thursday, shutting out Los Angeles 3-0 on a two-hitter in his major league debut. That came on the heels of a two-hitter by Gary Nolan, a three-hitter by Jim Merritt and a combined seven-hitter by Jim McGlothlin and Clay Carroll.

Elsewhere in the National League, St. Louis thumped Montrael 7-3, Philadelphia tripped Chicago 5-3, San Francisco dropped Houston 7-4, Pittsburgh edged New York 2-1, and Atlanta defeated San Diego 6-1.

A.L. SCORES

In the American League, Baltimore whacked Cleveland 13-1, New York topped Boston 4-3, Minnesota tripped Chicago 6-4 and Kansas City downed Oakland 3-1 in the only games scheduled.

The Cincinnati pitching has been so good in the first four games that the Reds' workhorse reliever, Wayne Granger, who pitched in a record 90 games last year, hasn't stirred from the bullpen yet. And Jim Maloney, ace of the staff, also hasn't thrown a ball in anger yet.

Simpson, a 21-year-old rookie, retired the first 16 batters he faced and was locked in a scoreless duel with Don Sutton when Johnny Bench cracked a seventh inning homer. Then Dave Concepcion, another rookie, doubled two more runs across in the ninth.

TORRE HOMERS

Joe Torre drilled his first homer and added a pair of singles, driving in three runs as the Cards won their second straight over Montreal.

Joe Hague also homered for the Cards and Mike Torrez, with ninth-inning help from Tom Hilgendorf, got the victory.

Deron Johnson clubbed a three-run homer against reliever Phil Regan in the seventh inning as the Phillies whipped Chicago for the second straight time. Johnson's shot wiped out a 3-2 Cubs' lead built against Phillie starter Rick Wise.

Jim Hickman homered for Chicago.

Two Mets' errors on the same play gave the Pirates a pair of unearned runs as Pittsburgh trimmed New York and Dock Ellis outdueled Jerry Koosman.

DOUBLE ERROR

Two walks and Roberto Clemente's infield single started Koosman's downfall in the first inning. Joe Foy threw wild on Clemente's hit, allowing one run to score and the other came in when catcher Jerry Grote dropped the relay at the plate.

Ellis struck out 13, scattering five Mets' hits.

Hank Aaron tagged his 555th career homer and boosted his total hits to 2,961 as the Braves knocked off San Diego in Jim Nash's National League debut.

Aaron had a two-run homer in the first inning and then started a three-run rally in the fourth with a double, his 2,961st hit, tying him with Sam Crawford for 10th place on the alltime list.

Nash allowed seven hits and went the route for the victory.

Lakers' Big Man Paces Win

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The huge man who came back, Wilt Chamberlain, prepares to lead the Los Angeles Lakers on an invasion of Atlanta after pacing a fantastic reversal which brought victory over upstart Phoenix in their National Basketball Association playoff.

The Suns fell 129-94 Thursday night in the seventh and deciding game of the opening set after leading the series three games to one.

Chamberlain led the Lakers' three-game winning surge and in the finale the 7-foot-2 star scored 30 points and swept away 27 rebounds.

A pleased Coach Joe Mullaney observed: "I felt he was the major factor in turning the series around."

Only one other team, Boston in 1968, had been down 3-1 and captured a playoff series.

Many didn't believe the 33-year-old Chamberlain would be around for these playoffs. He ruptured a tendon in his right knee on Nov. 7, underwent surgery and didn't return to action until March 18 when only three games remained on the regular schedule.

After Los Angeles romped to victory in the finale before 17,519 at the Forum, Phoenix Coach Jerry Colangelo commented:

"Two factors finally beat us in this series—Wilt's fantastic play and our inexperience in playoffs. But I think we had one heck of a season and we'll be back."

The Lakers continue on, meeting the Hawks in Atlanta on Sunday and Wednesday and returning to the Forum next Friday and Sunday.

While the Lakers and Hawks await the start of their final Western series, Milwaukee and New York open their best-of-seven set for the Eastern title Saturday in Madison Square Garden.

Los Angeles roared into a quick and permanent lead in the Phoenix finale with Elgin Baylor scoring a dozen first-quarter points.

Captain Baylor wound up with 25 points and 14 rebounds. Jerry West, who usually has paced the scoring attack, tallied 19 while contributing 15 assists. Rookie Dick Garrett hit 20 points for the winner.

Chamberlain, asked about playing against Walt Bellamy of the Hawks, said, "I feel he is a very underrated center. He is one of the best in the league."

HOCKEY PLAYOFFS

Bruins Triumph; Seals Go Down

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Boston Line is running on time . . . and time is running out on the New York Rangers.

Fred Stanfield, John Bucyk and John Mckenzie, Boston's crackerjack linemates, helped the Bruins bean New York 5-3 Thursday night for a commanding 2-0 lead in their best-of-7 National Hockey League semifinal playoffs.

ONE OF FOUR

The East Division game was one of four semifinals Thursday night. Pittsburgh trimmed Oakland 3-1 and St. Louis spilled Minnesota 2-1 in West Division play and Chicago turned back Detroit 4-2 in the East to take 2-0 leads in their respective series.

Coach Harry Sinden of Boston, generous in praise of the Bucyk-Stanfield-Mckenzie line, crowed: "Stanfield played a whale of a game."

The Rangers had taken a 2-1 lead in the first period and goals by McKenzie and Bucyk in the second stanza triggered Boston to a 3-2 lead.

TOUGH ANGLE

Bucyk's go-ahead goal, hammered in from an almost impossible angle on the left of the New York net, was scored with 46 seconds left in the second period. Stanfield had assists on Bucyk's and McKenzie's goals.

Ken Hodge and Eddie Westfall, who scored Boston's first two goals, nailed it down with one apiece in the final period.

Coach Red Kelly of Pittsburgh was elated with the Penguins' triumph—"This was a big game for us"—but Fred Glover of Oakland was obviously disatisfied with his team's play.

"The first period is all they played," he said, his voice tinged with disappointment.

Glover's goalie, Gary Smith, received two tripping penalties during the bruising contest.

"When a goal tender gets frustrated (because his team's behind) he's got to do something about it—and he's a big man who can do it," said Glover.

Dog Packs Chase, Kill Marin Deer

I talked to Mel "Moose" Muzinich and Stan Camiccia this week about dogs running deer throughout the Tamalpais Game Refuge. Both of these men are patrolmen for the Marin Municipal Water District and one of their biggest headaches is trying to control or catch dogs that are chasing and killing deer.

At times, five or six dogs will form a pack with a deer hound as the trailer. When this happens, the deer is usually run down and killed. Sometimes the dogs eat the deer; sometimes they run for fun, then, after catching the deer, start a new chase.

Dogs once starting this type of chase usually continue to do this as long as they are permitted. It's a sorrowful sight to see a pack of dogs catch and kill a deer; it is a most blood curdling sound to hear a deer cry when caught by dogs.

Ranchers throughout the county under the agricultural laws are legally within their rights to shoot or kill dogs chasing livestock, etc., on their property.

The Marin County Board of Supervisors a few years ago passed an ordinance which permits patrolmen to shoot packs of dogs running deer in the water company lands and the Tamalpais Game Refuge.

All hands hate this type of duty, but if certain dogs are seen continually day by day in the refuge, chasing deer, this action may be the only remedy. These dogs can't be caught and some of them are really mean.

Muzinich says that some of them try to bite him when he attempts to scare them away from a deer. When this happens they've had it.

The does are now carrying fawns and can't run at all at this time. It's dynamite for dogs to run deer now.

It's easy to tell if your dog is running deer. Usually, your dog will be gone from the neighborhood for a day or so. When he returns, he will be worn to a frazzle, have brush marks on his body, probably some ticks, and he will rest up for a day or so.

Some dogs hunt at night, get home early in the morning, have a good feed, take a good day's rest, then go again at night.

Dogs most likely to run deer are probably hunters such as beagles, hounds, spaniels and pointers, but shepherds, police dogs and mixes of all these will generally run.

The Fish and Game Code also has a section making it illegal to permit or allow dogs to run deer during the closed deer season. So, for the benefit of all concerned, let's try to keep our dogs controlled more in deer areas.

THE STRIPERS are getting tough to catch in San Pablo Bay. Well, it's April and the bass are going up the delta to spawn. Last year at this time the Department of Fish and Game tagged 16,432 bass in the delta areas. This year, starting March 23, the net crews began a new tagging effort up there. They hope to tag more than last year. One thousand of these fish will be tagged with a $5 reward tag. Last year cooperating sportsmen returned more than 1,850 tags. Creel checkers logged 17,742 bass caught by anglers of which 229 were tagged.

From all the data, fisheries biologists estimate that there are about one million legal-sized stripers in the Sacramento, San Joaquin system.

In late May and June, these fish will be heading back to the San Francisco Bay Area. One million legal fish heading for the Golden Gate area! Now that sounds pretty good to me. Some undersized bass will be tagged in this year's program to determine their migration patterns.

New regulations allow anglers to keep undersized bass or any fish that bears a tag. (Ha! I can see your evil minds working!)

SALMON FISHING? Good, if it's not windy or rough. Check with the Sausalito party boat headquarters when you are planning a trip. Or, better yet, stop off down at the Sausalito docks and check the party boat catches as they come in, usually between 3 and 4 p.m.

NICASIO LAKE is clearing. The black bass and bluegill fishing should be picking up. Last Sunday there were about 50 carloads of people out there giving it a go. Boy, this fishing pressure is getting to be something.

THE SPORTING GENTRY

Teen Bowling Champ On Hot Streak

By RALPH CHATOIAN

At 17, Wayne Ziegler already is leaving himself very little room for improvement on the bowling lanes.

The Redwood High School senior is currently the best junior bowler in Marin County and he's leaving very little doubt about it. It's hard to argue with his 200 average.

"Since Jan. 23 I've really been bowling," he said. I think I have been averaging better than 215 since then."

Only in his fourth year of bowling, the self-confident Ziegler started out the season with a 184 average in the Redwood Junior League which bowls Fridays at Greenbrae Lanes. Since then his average has ballooned up to an even 200.

GREENBRAE RECORD

Included in his scores since the first of the year are two series of 700 and six 600s, his 762 three-gamer the highest ever rolled at Greenbrae Lanes—and that includes the adults. In the past eight weeks, 19 of his 24 games in the Redwood league have been over 200.

He won this year in the Marin County Junior Bowling Association City Tournament and now wants the Marin Junior Masters title very badly. That tourney is scheduled for Arpil 18-19 at Country Club Bowl in San Rafael.

"If I win the Masters I'll probably bowl in the adult leagues next year but if I don't I'll be in the juniors again. I want to win the Junior Masters. I've been close before, but I really want it."

EARLY TO BED

At one time he had worked part time at Greenbrae Lanes as mechanic and porter, but now delivers papers for the San Francisco Chronicle. That means he has to get up at 3 a.m., deliver the papers, get home for a couple hours sleep and then head off for school.

"It means I get to bed pretty early," he laughed.

Ziegler started bowling in January of 1967 when he was a freshman at Redwood High. A few months later he was on his back with a broken right leg, suffered on his first trip skiing.

"I haven't been skiing since," he said.

CREDITS TEACHERS

The next year he took up bowling again and decided he was going to improve on his game. As a junior, last year, he was averaging 175 and practicing about three lines a day while working at Greenbrae Lanes. He gives credit to his early teachers, John Coffee and Phil Wallace.

Although he does almost all his bowling at Greenbrae, he says he can score at Country Club. "Last two times I played there I got a 660 and a 630."

He's a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ziegler of 160 Prince Royal Drive, Corte Madera. His father is a sales-engineer for Borg-Warner. An older brother, Craig, is a captain in the Army in Vietnam, and another brother, Glenn, is a sophomore at Redwood.

TOO EARLY

"People have asked me if I want to turn pro and things like that," the young kegler said. "It's much too early for anything like that. Those guys on the tour have been averaging in the 200s for a long time. I've been averaging 200 for a month or so. No, I want to go to college first, and then if I'm bowling good then I'll think about pro bowling. Bowling definitely is not my life's ambition."

Ziegler, who plans to go to College of Marin and then hopefully University of California at Berkeley, said he had considered giving up bowling a couple of years ago. "Then I started practicing and got better so I kept going."

I don't think he'll quit bowling now.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Real Estate Trusts Not Wise For Small Investor

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I'd like to find a mutual fund specializing in real estate. Please name a couple. — B.B.

A. Sorry, I cannot. Mutual funds are legally required to maintain a high degree of liquidity to cover possible redemption of shares, and real estate does not qualify. Furthermore, the open-end sale-and-redemption feature of the mutual fund industry necessitates a daily calculation of the net asset value of fund shares. This could not be done for parcels of real estate or mortgage contracts.

You may have in mind the real-estate investment trust—REIT, for short. There are about 100 of these closed-end investment companies which trade mostly over-the-counter, though a few are listed on national and regional exchanges. The largest of them, Continental Mortgage Investors, trades on both the New York and Boston Exchanges.

The REIT originated in Massachusetts more than 100 years ago among conservative Yankee investors. Over the years as taxes began to bite more deeply into profits the real-estate trust languished while mutual funds proliferated.

In 1960 the Internal Revenue Code redefined more liberally the REIT's income tax liability and new units appeared across the country.

REITs function in two ways. Equity trusts buy land and buildings for rental income and possible capital gains. Mortgage investment trusts negotiate mortgages and other liens against real property. Working capital comes from the issue of new shares and from borrowed funds creating profits from leverage. The construction trades have lately been flocking to the MITs for short-term loans returning as much as 14 per cent.

I agree with the market professionals who consider REITs too risky for the small investor.

Wall Street In Decline Near Close

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market, down moderately, held at about its lows for the day in slow trading this afternoon.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 0.72 at 791.78 at 2 p.m. an hour before the close of trading.

Declines widened their margin over advances to more than 350 among issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange.

Some glamors improved, however, following IBM's announcement of a $2.02 a share profit in the first quarter, up 20 cents from the same period a year ago.

IBM was trading at 334¼, up 8½.

Other prices on the Big Board included Flying Tigers, down 1 at 22⅝; Smith International, off 1½ at 23¼; American Telephone, off 1 at 50⅞; and Telex, down 3⅛ at 126⅞.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

Promptly File An Amended Return If A Mistake Found

If, after you have filed your tax return, you find you made a mistake, you should immediately file an amended return. Use Form 1040X. Claim the refund due because of the mistake or pay the additional tax you owe.

If there is any additional tax due for 1969 and the amended return is filed and additional tax paid by April 15, 1970, there will be no penalty or interest.

If you find that you would have done better to itemize your deductions instead of using the standard deduction—you can still amend your return. If you used Form 1040A the standard deduction for 1966, 1967 or 1968, you can still file an amended return and itemize your deductions.

If there is a refund due an amended return will get it for you.

AMENDED PLAN

You can file an amended return at any time and pay an additional tax.

You can file an amended return and claim any additional refunds any time within three years of the due date of the return you wish to amend, or within two years from the time you paid the tax—whichever is the longer period.

Use new Form 1040X to file your amended return.

The last year for which you can file an amended return claiming an additional refund is 1966. This return was due April 15, 1967. An amended return for 1966 would have to be filed by April 15, 1970.

DON'T BE TIMID

There is no reason for you to pay more taxes than the law requires or be timid in taking every deduction permitted by the rules.

Your tax return should contain a full and clear explanation of every item, and you should keep for at least 6 years, all papers, bills, checks, receipts, etc., in connection with your return.

You should keep the copies of your tax returns and the cancelled checks in payment of your tax returns forever.

More returns are being audited and each return is due for a more thorough going over than in past years. The auditors are well trained and know their business, but they are not mind readers.
